Preamble.

WHEREAS certain persons have formed themselves into a Company at Paris for the transaction of Banking business under the name of the "Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris:" and whereas the said Company is constituted and established under and by virtue of various Imperial decrees of the French Government, Notarial Acts, and Articles of Agreement, whereby it is provided (amongst other things) that the said Company may continue to exist and carry on business for a term of thirty years from the 18th day of March 1857, that the shareholders of the Company shall be responsible only to the amount of their shares respectively, that the rights and liabilities attached to each share shall follow its transmission into whatever hands it may pass, and that the Company may establish, on its own responsibility, and with the authority of the Minister of Finance Agencies in France and in French or Foreign Colonies, such Agencies to be organized and conducted in the same manner as the Comptoir D'Escompte itself: and whereas Agencies of the said Company have been recently established in Calcutta and in Bombay: and whereas on the 30th day of April 1862, a Convention was concluded and signed at Paris between Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the Emperor of the French, comprising the following Articles, that is to say,—"1*st.* The High contracting parties declare that they mutually grant to all Companies and other Associations, commercial, industrial, or financial, constituted and authorized in conformity with the laws in force in either of the two countries, the power of exercising all their rights and of appearing before the Tribunals, whether for the purpose of bringing an action or for defending the same, throughout the dominions and possessions of the other Power, subject to the sole condition of conforming to the Laws of such dominions and possessions. 2*nd.*—It is agreed that the stipulations of the preceding Article shall apply as well to Companies and Associations constituted and authorized previously to the signature of the present Convention as to those which may subsequently be so constituted and authorized. 3*rd.*—The present Convention is concluded without limit as to duration. Either of the High Powers shall however be at liberty to terminate it by giving to the other a year's previous notice. The two High Powers moreover reserve to themselves the power to introduce into the Convention, by common consent, any modifications which experience may show to be desirable:" and whereas it is desirable that effect should be given to the said Convention so far as the Comptoir D'Escompte and its Agencies now or hereafter established are concerned: It is enacted as follows :—

Memorial made the day of by the Chief Manager of the Agencies in British India of the Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris, pursuant to Act of 1864 of the Governor-General of India in Council, intituled "An Act to enable the Comptoir D'Escompte, &c.," (as in foregoing), setting forth particulars of change or changes as prescribed by Section VIII of the said Act.

or

I, C. D., Chief Manager of the Agencies in British India of the Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris, do solemnly and sincerely declare, to the best of my knowledge and belief, that the above written Memorial is true in all respects.

(Signed) C. D.

Declared before me, &c., (as before).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

On April 30th 1862, a Convention was signed between Her Majesty and the Emperor of the French, from which the following articles are extracted:—

"1*st*.—The High contracting parties declare that "they mutually grant to all Companies and other "Associations commercial, industrial, or financial, con-"stituted and authorized in conformity with the Laws "in force in either of the two countries, the power of "exercising all their rights, and of appearing before "the tribunals, whether for the purpose of bringing "an action or for defending the same, throughout the "dominions and possessions of the other power, sub-"ject to the sole condition of conforming to the Laws "of such dominions and possessions.

"2*nd*.—It is agreed that the stipulations of the "preceding Article shall apply as well to Companies "and Associations constituted and authorized pre-"viously to the signature of the present Convention "as to those which may subsequently be so constitut-"ed and authorized.

"3*rd*.—The present Convention is concluded with-"out limit as to duration. Either of the High "Powers shall, however, be at liberty to terminate it "by giving to the other a year's previous notice. The "two High Powers moreover reserve to themselves "the power to introduce into the Convention, by "common consent, any modifications which experi-"ence may show to be desirable."

The Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris, a French Joint Stock Company formed to conduct Banking and Discount operations on an extensive scale, has established Agencies at Calcutta and Bombay, and has applied to the Government of India to be admitted to the privileges guaranteed by the Convention. The liability of the shareholders in the Comptoir D'Escompte is limited to the amount of their shares, and the special rights and liabilities attaching to each share follow its transmission into whatever hands it may pass.

The absolute assimilation of the Joint Stock Companies of the two countries, in respect of legal position, would be a legislative undertaking of great difficulty, particularly where the Companies to be assimilated are Companies in which the liability of the shareholders is limited, but not limited in exactly the same way. It is understood that a general measure to carry out the Convention is likely to be passed in England, and if so, it seems desirable that it should be at once extended to India. Meanwhile the best course to follow in this country seems to be to pass a separate Bill for each French Joint Stock Association which may apply, conferring on it such powers as appear to have been primarily contemplated by the negotiators of the Convention.

The present Bill assumes that there will be a Chief Manager of the Agencies of the Comptoir in India, and provides for his enrolling among the records of the High Court a Memorial containing certain particulars respecting the constitution of the Company and the character of the Agencies established in this country. A fresh Memorial of any change in these respects is to be enrolled within twelve months after such change.

The Comptoir D'Escompte is to sue and be sued in the name of its Chief Manager. Execution on any decree obtained against the Comptoir may issue against any property belonging to it in India, and creditors suing the Chief Manager are to have all the powers of attaching the property of the Company in India which are conferred on plaintiffs in ordinary suits by the Code of Civil Procedure. If a claim against the Comptoir D'Escompte be not thus satisfied, the claimant will have to prosecute his further demand under French law in virtue of the privileges guaranteed to him by His Imperial Majesty in the Convention.

ORDERS by the LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, Punjab Provinces.

Police Department.—The 28th July 1863.—Notification.—No. 547.—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General having resolved that the Thuggee Department shall be abolished as a special agency in British Territory, and that the duties of the Department shall be transferred to the Police in British Territories, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor has issued the necessary instructions to the Police Department

But His Honor cannot give effect to the orders of the Supreme Government closing the operations of the Tuggee Department as a special agency in the Punjab without placing on record his high appreciation of the services rendered by the Officers of that Department in hunting down and eradicating a class of offenders whose atrocities were the terror of the country in the time of Sikh rule, and caused alarm to the public safety even during the early days of British supremacy in the Punjab.

Since the commencement of the operations of the Thuggee Department in the Punjab 1,243 cases of murder by Thugs have been recorded. The number of associates in crime denounced by Approvers is 1,839. Of this number 729 have been arrested and sentenced to imprisonment or death. The remainder have been released on security, or have died.

Nearly all the most notorious Thugs, leaders of bands or influential men, have been brought to justice, and the few who are still at large will be hunted down by the regular Police; for, although the special Thuggee agency is abolished, it is not to be supposed that the efforts of Government to put down this crime will be one whit relaxed.

For the very satisfactory results thus enumerated the Lieutenant-Governor ascribes great praise to the unwearied exertions of the several Officers who have so energetically presided over the Department.

The late Mr. H. Brereton, C. S., was the first to attempt to cope systematically with the crime of Thuggee and Dacoitee in the Punjab. He was followed by Colonels Sleeman, Graham, Hervey, R. Lawrence, and Major McAndrew. To the valuable services rendered by these Officers and their Subordinates the Punjab Province is indebted for its riddance of the worst class of murderers, and for the present general safety from systematic violent crime.

Cheap Tramway for Kutcha Road.

Memorandum by CAPTAIN E. THOMPSON, dated 16th May 1683.

A CHEAP and durable Tramway may be constructed in the following manner on the sides of metalled roads, or on any kutcha road which is liable to much damage from heavy cart traffic.

2. Two trenches about fourteen inches wide and the same in depth, and distant from each other three feet eight inches from centre to centre, are to be cut on the road on which it is proposed to construct a Tramway. Carefully level the bottom of the trench and spread on it a layer two inches deep of dry sand.

3. Take the common flooring tile 12 × 12 × 3 choosing well burned tiles only, excluding all yellow ones, and place them on edge in the trench as closely together as possible, tapping them with a wooden mallet so as to give them a firm hold on the sand.

4. Fill in the sides only with pounded earth, ramming it well down so as to give a firm bearing to the sides of the bricks. Then take dry sand and pour it into the crevices between the bricks until they are quite filled up. Pouring water in with the sand greatly facilitates its descent between the bricks.

5. It is essential to the success of the Tramway that sand be used for the bottom and between the bricks; that the bricks be firmly bedded in the sand and that the crevices be well filled in.

6. When the bricks are laid and the sides and crevices filled in, it is of great advantage to flood the whole upper surface with water from an adjacent well or tank.

7. The earth should then be embanked as shewn in the plan, leaving about an inch of loose earth on the top surface of the bricks.

8. The Tramway, when complete, appears like a common country cart track, and the bricks are not seen. The bullocks walk on the bricks and the wheels follow their footsteps. The slight coating of earth and dust which covers the surface of the bricks amply protects them from wear, and if the bricks are laid down exactly as described, and the earthwork is kept in decent repair, the wear and tear is almost nothing.

9. A short length of this Tramway in Seetapore has been exposed to the whole of the heavy cart traffic between Lucknow, Seetapore, and Shahjehanpore, both to and fro, and in eight months wear it has sustained no damage.

10. The draught is nearly as light as over metalled roads.

11. The cost is about 4 annas a yard for bricks for a single line of two rails, and the labour of laying them down is small.

Preamble.

WHEREAS certain persons have formed themselves into a Company at Paris for the transaction of Banking business under the name of the "Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris:" and whereas the said Company is constituted and established under and by virtue of various Imperial decrees of the French Government, Notarial Acts, and Articles of Agreement, whereby it is provided (amongst other things) that the said Company may continue to exist and carry on business for a term of thirty years from the 18th day of March 1857, that the shareholders of the Company shall be responsible only to the amount of their shares respectively, that the rights and liabilities attached to each share shall follow its transmission into whatever hands it may pass, and that the Company may establish, on its own responsibility, and with the authority of the Minister of Finance Agencies in France and in French or Foreign Colonies, such Agencies to be organized and conducted in the same manner as the Comptoir D'Escompte itself: and whereas Agencies of the said Company have been recently established in Calcutta and in Bombay: and whereas on the 30th day of April 1862, a Convention was concluded and signed at Paris between Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the Emperor of the French, comprising the following Articles, that is to say,—"1*st.* The High contracting parties declare that they mutually grant to all Companies and other Associations, commercial, industrial, or financial, constituted and authorized in conformity with the laws in force in either of the two countries, the power of exercising all their rights and of appearing before the Tribunals, whether for the purpose of bringing an action or for defending the same, throughout the dominions and possessions of the other Power, subject to the sole condition of conforming to the Laws of such dominions and possessions. 2*nd.*—It is agreed that the stipulations of the preceding Article shall apply as well to Companies and Associations constituted and authorized previously to the signature of the present Convention as to those which may subsequently be so constituted and authorized. 3*rd.*—The present Convention is concluded without limit as to duration. Either of the High Powers shall however be at liberty to terminate it by giving to the other a year's previous notice. The two High Powers moreover reserve to themselves the power to introduce into the Convention, by common consent, any modifications which experience may show to be desirable:" and whereas it is desirable that effect should be given to the said Convention so far as the Comptoir D'Escompte and its Agencies now or hereafter established are concerned: It is enacted as follows:—

or

I, C. D., Chief Manager of the Agencies in British India of the Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris, do solemnly and sincerely declare, to the best of my knowledge and belief, that the above written Memorial is true in all respects.

(Signed) C. D.

Declared before me, &c., (as before).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ON April 30th 1862, a Convention was signed between Her Majesty and the Emperor of the French, from which the following articles are extracted:—

"1*st*.—The High contracting parties declare that "they mutually grant to all Companies and other "Associations commercial, industrial, or financial, con-"stituted and authorized in conformity with the Laws "in force in either of the two countries, the power of "exercising all their rights, and of appearing before "the tribunals, whether for the purpose of bringing "an action or for defending the same, throughout the "dominions and possessions of the other power, sub-"ject to the sole condition of conforming to the Laws "of such dominions and possessions.

"2*nd*.—It is agreed that the stipulations of the "preceding Article shall apply as well to Companies "and Associations constituted and authorized pre-"viously to the signature of the present Convention "as to those which may subsequently be so constitut-"ed and authorized.

"3*rd*.—The present Convention is concluded with-"out limit as to duration. Either of the High "Powers shall, however, be at liberty to terminate it "by giving to the other a year's previous notice. The "two High Powers moreover reserve to themselves "the power to introduce into the Convention, by "common consent, any modifications which experi-"ence may show to be desirable."

The Comptoir D'Escompte of Paris, a French Joint Stock Company formed to conduct Banking and Discount operations on an extensive scale, has established Agencies at Calcutta and Bombay, and has applied to the Government of India to be admitted to the privileges guaranteed by the Convention. The liability of the shareholders in the Comptoir D'Escompte is limited to the amount of their shares, and the special rights and liabilities attaching to each share follow its transmission into whatever hands it may pass.

The absolute assimilation of the Joint Stock Companies of the two countries, in respect of legal position, would be a legislative undertaking of great difficulty, particularly where the Companies to be assimilated are Companies in which the liability of the shareholders is limited, but not limited in exactly the same way. It is understood that a general measure to carry out the Convention is likely to be passed in England, and if so, it seems desirable that it should be at once extended to India. Meanwhile the best course to follow in this country seems to be to pass a separate Bill for each French Joint Stock Association which may apply, conferring on it such powers as appear to have been primarily contemplated by the negotiators of the Convention.

The present Bill assumes that there will be a Chief Manager of the Agencies of the Comptoir in India, and provides for his enrolling among the records of the High Court a Memorial containing certain particulars respecting the constitution of the Company and the character of the Agencies established in this country. A fresh Memorial of any change in these respects is to be enrolled within twelve months after such change.

The Comptoir D'Escompte is to sue and be sued in the name of its Chief Manager. Execution on any decree obtained against the Comptoir may issue against any property belonging to it in India, and creditors suing the Chief Manager are to have all the powers of attaching the property of the Company in India which are conferred on plaintiffs in ordinary suits by the Code of Civil Procedure. If a claim against the Comptoir D'Escompte be not thus satisfied, the claimant will have to prosecute his further demand under French law in virtue of the privileges guaranteed to him by His Imperial Majesty in the Convention.

Government of Bengal.

Cultivation of the Quiniferous Cinchona in British Sikhim.

From T. ANDERSON, ESQ., M. D., Superintendent of the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and in charge of the cultivation of Cinchona in Bengal, to the HON'BLE A. EDEN, Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 36, dated the 8th May 1863.)

WITH reference to my letter No. 13, dated 9th September* 1862, reporting that I had made an infusion of the leaves of Cinchona Succirubra, and that the preparation had been successfully used in the Civil Hospital at Darjeeling in the cure of intermittent fever, I have now the honor to submit a specimen of a tincture made in September 1862 from leaves which had fallen spontaneously from the plants of Cinchona Succirubra at Darjeeling, and a packet containing dried leaves from plants of the same species of Cinchona. These leaves fell spontaneously from plants which have been cultivated in the open air in the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, for the last seventeen months. I have the honor to request that these specimens may be forwarded to England through the India House with the view of their being tested chemically for the presence of Alkaloids, or, more probably, for Kinovic Acid. Should this discovery (made first at Darjeeling in September 1862) of the presence of febrifuge properties in the leaves of Cinchona Succirubra be confirmed by careful chemical analysis, the use of infusions or decoctions of the dried or fresh leaves might be made at a very early date of the cultivation. In the meantime I do not propose to make any alteration on the method of cultivation pursued at Darjeeling. If the discovery of the febrifuge properties of the leaves is borne out by chemical analysis no time will be lost in modifying the details of the cultivation so as to make the discovery of practical value.

From T. ANDERSON, ESQ., M D., Superintendent of the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 47, dated the 3rd August 1863.)

I HAVE the honor to submit the first Annual Report on the experimental cultivation of the Quiniferous Cinchona in British Sikhim for the year 1862-63.

First Annual Report on the experimental cultivation of the Quiniferous Cinchona in British Sikhim from 1st April 1862 to 30th April 1863, by T. ANDERSON, ESQ., M. D., Officiating Superintendent of the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta.

THE progress of the cultivation of the Cinchona at Darjeeling under my direction was fully reported to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal on the 6th August 1862, and the Report was published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette.

That Report contained the history of the experiment from the dispatch of the plants from Calcutta on the 24th March 1862 until the 1st August. In that Report, I stated that the experiment might be considered as having commenced on the 1st of June, as, from unavoidable delays in a district where carriage of all kinds was most difficult to procure, where skilled labor was scarce and extravagantly expensive, and where even the ordinary processes of gardening were quite unknown, I was obliged to keep the Cinchona plants confined for two months in Wardian cases, some of them having been already subjected to five months of this confinement. The total number of plants with which the experiment was commenced on the 1st June was 211. On the 1st of August, the number had increased to 1,611 of all kinds, of which, however, it is deserving of note that 1,300 were newly raised seedlings of Cinchona Pahudiana. In the end of August, Mr. Stubbs, the European Gardener, who had accompanied the plants from Calcutta in March, suffered so much from continued illness of a serious nature that I directed Mr. A. T. Jaffrey, who had just been appointed Assistant Gardener of the Botanic Gardens in Calcutta, to proceed at once to Darjeeling to receive charge of the cultivation from Mr. Stubbs, whom I intended, on his recovery, to recommend for appointment to the charge of planting the avenue of Mahogany and other trees along the Ganges and Darjeeling Road. Mr. Stubbs, however, died on the 26th September at Kursiong, where he had gone for change of air. Mr. Jaffrey received charge of the experiment on the 13th September. I again submitted a Report on the 12th November, in which it was shewn that the total number of plants in the Nursery was 2,286, of which, however, 1,921 belonged to the doubtfully Quiniferous species, C. Pahudiana, so largely cultivated by the Dutch in Java, leaving only 365 plants as the stock of the undoubtedly valuable species of Cinchona. I made a visit of inspection to the Cinchona Nursery at Darjeeling in January. I left Calcutta on the 18th January and returned to Calcutta on the 1st February. I then saw that my fears, that the height of Sinchal above the sea, and the cold of the winter would seriously affect the condition of the plants, had been confirmed. Though there had been few deaths (not more than fifty of all species), yet the situation was so unfavorable that almost no cuttings or layers had been made since November. This was partly owing also to an untoward accident having happened to the flue in one of the two small propagating pits. The upper part of the flue immediately over the furnace had fallen in suddenly, causing the house to be filled with hot air and smoke, and doing great damage to the plants before the fire could be extinguished and the plants removed to the other propagating house.

In January, I had also an interview with Captain Fitzgerald, the Executive Engineer, under whose directions the road leading to the permanent site of the Cinchona Nursery was being made. He informed me that the difficulties he had met with in the opening out of this road were so great that the buildings and clearing of the forest could not be commenced until the road was finished, and were not likely to be completed until April 1864 at the soonest. On learning this, I immediately endeavoured to obtain temporary occupation of a site, with a dwelling house for the European Gardener, at an elevation of 6,000 feet above the sea, and 2,500 lower than the temporary buildings at Sinchal. After I left Darjeeling, I procured the occupation for one year of a garden and dwelling house at Lebong, a warm, well-sheltered spur below Darjeeling, at an elevation of 6,000 feet above the sea. The plants and all the stores were removed from the temporary buildings at Sinchal to this site in the first week of April. Although the distance was seven miles, the arrangements were so carefully made by Mr. Jaffrey, who personally superintended the removal of the plants, that only one plant of Cinchona Succirubra was slightly damaged. The number of plants brought from Sinchal to Lebong on the 1st April were as follows :—

Return of Cinchona Plants in the Nurseries at Darjeeling on the 31*st March* 1863.

When the highly unfavorable circumstances under which the plants were placed are remembered, along with the fact that the propagation of C. Pahudiana had been entirely discontinued, the progress shewn in this Report is satisfactory enough; for the best species, those which it is my object to increase as rapidly as consistent with the healthy condition of the plant, had been increased from 365 on the 31st October, to 592 on the 31st March. On the 1st April, 327 plants belonging to the following species of Cinchona were added to the stock at Darjeeling. These plants were obtained from Madras on the 31st January 1863, and of the original number, 350, received from Madras, only 23 had been lost between Calcutta and Darjeeling during the two months that had intervened from the date of their arrival in Calcutta and their reaching Darjeeling. The numbers received are as follows:—

Before concluding this general Report on the experiment of cultivating Cinchona in Bengal during the past official year it seems to me that, in order to form an opinion of the comparatively great success that has attended the operations, a short recapitulation of the difficulties experienced at Darjeeling is necessary.

1*st.*—I labored under the disadvantage, last year, of being quite ignorant of the nature of the country of British Sikhim beyond what I could learn from the accounts of Dr. Hooker, as well as from the collections of dried plants from Sikhim which exist in the Calcutta Herbarium. I had formed very inadequate ideas of the difficulty of reaching Darjeeling, of the condition of the roads leading to it, and of the resources of the Station as regards labor, especially such skilled labor as I required, such as Native Gardeners, Carpenters, and Masons. I also supposed that no difficulty would be experienced in obtaining abundance of land, the property of Government, in the neighbourhood of Darjeeling; that glass for the conservatory, and flowerpots, &c., could be procured in Darjeeling. Some idea, however, will be obtained of the difficulties with which the experiment had to contend when I state that no suitable Government land could be got nearer than twelve miles from the Station, and that to reach this spot, an almost impenetrable forest had to be passed through, requiring every step to be cleared by Lepchas with their long knives. On leaving Calcutta, I had hoped that the permanent propagating house, the Gardener's house, and huts for the Coolies, would have been finished in three months. Instead of which it soon appeared that, until a bridle path, eight miles long, could be finished, the buildings could not even be commenced, and that, instead of three months being required to complete them, two years was the shortest time in which they could be ready. No temporary buildings could be obtained either, except barracks on the windy and cold crest of Sinchal, 8,600 feet above the sea. Before these could be converted into a conservatory glass had to be procured from Calcutta, 400 miles distant. The manufactory of flowerpots was also unknown at Darjeeling, and so that even they had to be obtained from Calcutta. Then no labor of any kind could be got to supply the place of the two Bengallee Gardeners, who insisted on returning to Calcutta within three months of their arrival at Darjeeling, and the European Gardener had therefore to perform all the operations of the simplest kind with his own hand, and this is still the case. Such an apparently easily procurable substance, as white River sand, could not be got in Sikhim, not that none existed there, but during the rains, the beds of the Rivers were so full of water that the beds of sand were all concealed. Accordingly, a maund of sand was sent for from the Botanic Gardens in Calcutta. No packages of any kind ever reached Darjeeling from Calcutta in less than six weeks, the usual time occupied in the transit being two months. It will thus be seen that the commencement of Cinchona cultivation in Darjeeling entailed a great many preliminary operations before the propagation of plants could be attempted, and it is only now that with tools, flowerpots, bell glasses, and hand frames received from Calcutta, and a determination to be contented with such means as are procurable in Darjeeling, that the success I have been able to report has been obtained.

I am glad to be able to report that on my visiting the Cinchona Nursery at Lebong in the end of May I found all the plants in the highest health, and that the propagation of all the species, except Cinchona Pahudiana, was advancing rapidly. On my return to Calcutta, I prepared a Report for submission to the Lieutenant-Governor, and which I intended to forward separately from the Annual Report. I, however, now enclose it in the form of an Appendix to the Annual Report.

Expenditure.—Provision was made for the experiment of introducing Cinchonas into British Sikhim to the amount of Rupees 14,753-3-2 from the commencement of the experiment in March 1862 until the end of April 1863. Considerable errors occurred in the approximate calculations of the sums required for the various charges of the year, some exceeded, while others fell below the calculated sums. The general result shews that the cultivation was carried on at a cost of Rupees 11,639-2-6, as appears by the annexed Statement of the expenditure:—

Statement of Expenditure incurred in the period between 24th March 1862 and 30th April 1863, on account of the introduction and cultivation of Cinchonas in British Sikhim.

The unexpected charge for procuring Cinchona plants from Madras is included under the head of Contingencies. As a European Gardener and one Mallee were sent from Calcutta to Ootacamund for the plants, the sum incurred was considerable, amounting to Rupees 1,328-15-3.

APPENDIX.

From T. Anderson, Esq, M. D., Superintendent of the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, and in charge of Cinchona cultivation, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 48, dated the 25th July 1863.)

1. I have the honor to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, that the condition of the Cinchona plants at Darjeeling on the 15th June was most satisfactory.

2. In accordance with the orders of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, no attention has been given since the 1st April to the increase of the stock of Cinchona Pahudiana. The increase of the other species has been great, and the plants are in excellent condition, so much so indeed, that a plant of Cinchona Succirubra had grown nine inches in thirty days. The number of all species on the 15th June was 4,620 (the corresponding number on the 1st June 1862 was 211), and these plants were so covered with rigorous shoots that I calculated that 6,000 plants could be added to the number of all the species, exclusive of C. Pahudiana, by 15th August, making a total number of 10,000 plants on that date. The most marked increase has been in the number of plants of Cinchona Officinalis, of which I proposed only ninety-three plants received from Ceylon and Ootacamund on the 1st May; these have been increased to 573 on the 15th June. Seven hundred of the large plants of Cinchona Pahudiana have been planted in the open air at an elevation of 6,000 feet, and though they have been fully exposed to all weathers from bright sunshine to heavy rain, they are growing much more luxuriantly than when they were under shelter. I have for some time been unable to distinguish botanically between the species supplied from the Ootacamund Nursery under the names C. Micrantha, C. Nitida, C. Peruviana. These seem to me in their present state to be one and the same species, probably C. Micrantha. I have therefore adopted that name provisionally, in hopes that some of the plants, with increase of age, will take on the specific characters of C. Nitida and C. Peruviana. Mr. Thwaites, the Director of the Botanic Gardens, Ceylon, and who has given much attention to the experimental cultivation of Cinchonæ in Ceylon, finds also that from seeds supplied to him as C. Micrantha, C. Nitida, and C. Peruviana only one species was procured, or, at least, as yet he had been unable to distinguish more than one species.

3. In the commencement of June 1863, I supplied Dr. Simpson, Civil Surgeon of Darjeeling, with about 2 lbs. of fresh leaves of each of the following species:—C. Succirubra, C. Officinalis, and C. Micrantha. Decoctions, prepared with water slightly acidulated with Sulphuric Acid, were very bitter, and three patients suffering from well-marked intermittent fever were cured by the administration of these preparations alone. Towards the end of June, Dr. Simpson and I endeavoured to examine chemically the nature of the leaves of Cinchona Succirubra. We experimented on 1lb. of fresh leaves. Our mode of procedure was as follows:—The fresh leaves were boiled in water in which a certain quantity of Carbonate of Soda had been dissolved, and the dark colored liquor resulting was thrown away. The mass of leaves after having all the alkaline water pressed out of them was boiled in water with a small quantity of Sulphuric Acid. This was repeated three times, and the leaves were carefully squeezed at the end of each boiling. These Acid liquors were then mixed and concentrated by boiling. The bitter acid, concentrated liquor, was then treated with Carbonate of Soda, and the neutral bitter liquid was afterwards set aside to cool, in the hopes that crystals might be obtained. Crystallization did take place on glasses under the microscope. The crystals are long and needle-shaped, and were so abundant as to appear to the naked eye as a whitish spot in the glass. A thin film of crystals (Sulphate of Quinine ?) also formed in the surface of the fluid and could easily be skimmed off. These dissolved in water slightly acidulated with Sulphuric Acid tasted very bitter. At this stage, however, the process was arrested, notwithstanding the removal of coloring matter by animal charcoal. The detection of crystals at all, with the means at our disposal, was unexpected. As it is, the undoubted presence of little needle-shaped crystals in a fluid obtained from the leaves of Cinchona is worthy of record.

4. The cultivation of Cinchona in British Sikhim is certain to be commenced soon by private individuals. Five hundred plants have been procured by private individuals from Mr. McIvor at Ootacamund, but they nearly all died on the route, one plant having reached Darjeeling alive. However, I have applications for more than fifteen lacs of plants, and I shall soon be able to supply a few.

From T. Anderson, Esq., M. D., Superintendent of the Botanic Gardens, Calcutta, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 49, dated the 7th August 1863.)

With reference to my letter No. 13, dated 9th September 1862, announcing the discovery of febrifuge properties in the leaves of Cinchonæ Succirubra cultivated at Darjeeling, and to my Report dated 25th July 1863, and which I lately submitted as an Appendix to first Annual Report on the cultivation of the Cinchona at Darjeeling, I have the honor to inform you that I have to-day received intelligence from England of the discovery of Quinine in small quantities in the leaves of Cinchonæ sent from this country. Quinine obtained from the leaves was exhibited by Mr. Howard at the Meeting of the Linnean Society, London, on the 18th June. This discovery confirms my opinion that the crystals which Dr. Simpson and I obtained at Darjeeling on the 20th and 21st June, as detailed in my last Report already referred to, were those of Sulphate of Quinine. As this is a discovery of importance, increasing the value of the Cinchonas from the existence of Quinine in the leaves, I have to suggest that this letter, and the letter to your address, No. 13 of 9th September 1862, and No. 36 of 8th May 1863, may be published along with the Annual Report in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette.

LEGISLATIVE.

THE following Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons accompanying it are, under the 19th of the Rules for the Conduct of Business at Meetings of the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, published for general information by order of His Excellency the Governor-General.

A Bill to provide for the administration of Civil and Criminal Justice at Aden.

WHEREAS the administration of Civil and Criminal Justice at Aden is now entrusted to the Resident and, in subordination to him, to the Assistant Resident; and whereas Her Majesty has by her Letters Patent, dated the 22nd June 1860, appointed the Resident at Aden to be Judge of Her Majesty's Vice Admiralty Court at Aden for the purposes of and according to the provisions of the Statute 12 and 13 Vic., c. 84; and whereas the Criminal Law to be administered at Aden is provided for by the Indian Penal Code, but the law to be administered at Aden in Civil matters, and the precise nature of the Criminal and Civil jurisdiction of the Resident, and the proper course of procedure in his Court, have never been defined, and it is expedient that they should be provided for; and whereas at present judgments and proceedings of the Resident at Aden are not subject to the superintendence or revision of, or to any appeal to any Court of Justice, except so far as they are subject to appeal to Her Majesty in Council, and it is expedient to provide for the superintendence or revision of certain of such judgments and proceedings by the High Court at Bombay: It is enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

I. The administration of Civil and Criminal Justice at Aden is hereby declared to be and shall continue to be vested in the Court of the Resident.

Administration of Civil and Criminal Justice vested in the Court of the Resident.

II. The Assistant Resident or (if there be more than one) such one or more of the Assistant Residents as the Governor in Council of Bombay shall from time to time appoint for that purpose, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine in the first instance all cases whatever in the Court of the Resident.

Assistant Resident empowered to try all cases in the first instance.

III. In all Civil cases in which the claim shall exceed five hundred Rupees in value, and in all Criminal cases in which the punishment awarded shall be imprisonment for a period exceeding six months, or fine exceeding five hundred Rupees, an appeal shall lie from the Assistant Resident to the Resident. For the purpose of such appeals, the position of the Resident shall (save as herein is otherwise provided) be in all respects similar to that of a District and Sessions Judge in the Bombay Presidency with reference to the Courts subordinate to him.

Appeal in what cases to lie from the Assistant Resident to the Resident.

IV. In all Civil cases in which the claim shall not exceed five hundred Rupees in value, and in all Criminal cases in which the punishment awarded shall be imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding five hundred Rupees, no appeal shall lie from the decision of the Assistant Resident. Provided always that the Resident may in all cases, whether Civil or Criminal, within the period allowed for appeal in appealable cases, call for any proceedings whatever of the Assistant Resident at any stage thereof, and may pass such orders thereon as he may think fit.

No appeal in other cases.

Proviso.

V. The Resident may also hear and determine any case for whatever amount or of whatever nature, in the first instance, in the said Court, except only such cases as he is by this Act expressly prohibited from hearing and determining.

Resident may also try in the first instance any case except those expressly prohibited.

VI. In all Civil cases in which the claim shall not exceed one thousand Rupees in value, and in all Criminal cases (except such as fall under Section XI. of this Act) in which the punishment awarded shall be imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or fine not exceeding one thousand Rupees, no appeal shall lie from any decision or order of the Resident whether given or made by him in the exercise of his original jurisdiction, or in the exercise of his jurisdiction as a Court of appeal from the Assistant Resident. Save as herein is otherwise expressed, the judicial proceedings, whether Civil or Criminal, and whether original or appellate, of the Court of the Resident, shall be under the control and superintendence of the High Court at Bombay according to the Rules under which such Court shall, from time to time, exercise control and superintendence over the Courts immediately subordinate or next in rank to it in the Presidency of Bombay, but subject always to the provisions of this Act.

Judgments and Judicial proceedings of the Resident subject to control and superintendence of the High Court of Bombay.

VII. It shall not be competent to the Court of the Resident to pass any sentence of death, or of transportation or penal servitude for life; but whenever the said Court shall think that a sentence of death or of transportation or penal servitude for life ought to be passed, it shall report the case and shall send a full transcript of the proceedings therein, to the said High Court, which shall pass such judgment or sentence as it shall deem fit and whose judgment or sentence shall be final.

Sentence of death or of transportation or penal servitude for life.

VIII. The Court of the Resident shall have power to try any European British subject for any offence under the Indian Penal Code which shall be punishable only with imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years with or without fine, or which shall be punishable with fine alone, if it shall appear to the Court that a sentence of imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year with or without fine, or of fine alone, will be adequate for the particular offence committed: and the Court may sentence the offender, if convicted, to such punishment as is prescribed or allowed by the said Code for such offence. Provided always that it shall in no case be lawful for the Court to award a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

In what cases Resident may try European British subjects.

Power of punishment in such cases.

IX. The Court of the Resident shall not have power to try any European British subject for an offence punishable with death, or transportation or penal servitude, or imprisonment for a term exceeding three years, or for any offence for which the punishment allowed by the Penal Code does not exceed imprisonment for a term of three years with or without fine, but for which a sentence of rigorous imprisonment for one year with or without fine shall not appear to the Court an adequate sentence under the circumstances of the case. When any European British subject shall be charged before the said Court with any offence for which he cannot be lawfully tried by the said Court, the said Court shall commit him to take his trial before the High Court at Bombay.

In certain cases European British subjects to be committed for trial before the High Court at Bombay.

X. The Resident and each of the Assistant Residents shall have all the powers of a Justice of the Peace for the purpose of taking information and the deposition of witnesses and the examination of the prisoner, and of committing or holding to bail the prisoner to take his trial in the High Court at Bombay and of delivering or causing to be delivered the said information, deposition, examination, evidence, and recognizance to the said High Court according to the provisions of the Statute 9 Geo. IV., c. 74 or any other Act that may for the time being be in force in British India, relating to Justices of the Peace.

Resident and Assistant Residents to have powers of Justice of the Peace.

XI. Every sentence upon an European British subject passed under Section VIII of this Act, shall be open to revision by the High Court at Bombay in the same manner as, and to the same extent to which a summary conviction by a Justice of the Peace or by a Magistrate of Police at Bombay is open to revision by that Court under the Statute 9 Geo. IV., c. 74, or Act XIII of 1856, or any other Law for the time being in force in the Presidency of Bombay, relating to convictions by Justices of the Peace or Magistrates of Police, but no such sentence shall be otherwise open to appeal to, or revision by, the said High Court.

Sentences in such cases open to revision by High Court at Bombay.

XII. In the administration of Civil Justice the said Court of the Resident shall be guided by the spirit and principles of the Laws and Regulations in force in the Presidency of Bombay, and administered in the Courts of that Presidency not established by Royal Charter, and in the High Court in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of appeal from those Courts.

Administration of Civil Justice to be according to spirit and principles of the Bombay Laws and Regulations.

XIII. Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the provisions of Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter), Act XXIII of 1861 (to amend Act VIII of 1859) and any other Act that may be passed to amend the said Act VIII of 1859 shall be applicable to all Civil suits, and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and Act XXXIII of 1861 (to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure), and any other Act that may be passed to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, shall be applicable to all Criminal Proceedings in the said Court, so far as such provisions respectively shall be applicable and necessary.

Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure applicable as far as necessary.

XIV. When any Civil suit, tried in the first instance by an Assistant Resident or by the Resident without there being a right of appeal from any decision or order given or made therein by the said Assistant Resident or Resident, is of such a nature as to be cognizable under Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter), the Court of the Resident shall in such suit have all the powers conferred on, and shall be guided by all the provisions applicable to, a Court of Small Causes constituted under the said Act.

Government of Bombay to determine how far the Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure are applicable.

XV. It shall be lawful for the Governor in Council of Bombay in his Executive capacity to declare from time to time what portion of the said Act VIII of 1859 and of the Acts amending the same, and what portion of the Code of Criminal Procedure and of the Acts amending the same are, and what are not applicable to the Court of the Resident, or to any class of suits or proceedings therein, and to declare from time to time that any portion of the said Act VIII of 1859, and of the said Code, and of the amendments thereof respectively shall take effect subject to any restriction, limitation, or provision which the said Governor in Council shall think fit: until the Governor in Council shall have so declared,

Until so determined by the Government of Bombay, Resident may determine how far the Codes are applicable.

the Court of the Resident shall determine (subject to the revision of the High Court at Bombay) which of the provisions of the said Codes and of the amendments thereof respectively are, and which are not, applicable to the said Court.

Government of Bombay to prescribe Rules.

But no appeal shall lie to the High Court at Bombay from any decision or order of the Court of the Resident in any case Civil or Criminal unless notice of the intention to appeal shall be given to the Court of the Resident within days from the date of such decision or order.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

So long ago as 1849, the Government of Bombay called the attention of the Government of India to the unsatisfactory condition of law and justice in Aden. The question of legislating for that dependency was submitted to the Court of Directors, but it was found to involve many difficulties, and though some papers relating to the subject were printed by order of the former Legislative Council, no measure, having the objects contemplated by the Government of Bombay, was passed into law.

In January 1862, the Advocate General gave an opinion which at length settled the doubts which had arisen as to the actual position of Aden in respect to law. He considered that British Law had never been introduced into Aden—that its situation was that of a conquered country into which the law of the conquering power was not introduced at the time of the conquest, and in which the law, such as it was, which existed previously to the conquest still prevailed. The Advocate General further considered that Aden could not then be made subject to a new system of law without legislation; that as regards Criminal Law the Indian Penal Code had effect throughout the territory from the 1st of January 1862; that the Governor-General in Council might without any legislation extend to Aden the Civil and Criminal Procedure Codes; but that the Civil Law would still remain to be provided for by legislation. He suggested that, in place of extending the Procedure Codes, it might be well to enact that, as regards procedure, the Courts should be guided by the spirit of the Codes.

The late Mr. Ritchie subsequently prepared a draft Bill and obtained leave to introduce it into the Council of the Governor-General of India for making Laws and Regulations. He did not however introduce it, having apparently found that objections were entertained to the proposed measure on the ground that it lay within the legislative competency of the Governor in Council of Bombay.

After Mr. Ritchie's death, his draft Bill was submitted to the Advocate General, whose attention was called to the questions it had suggested. Mr. Cowie was of opinion that it was within the competency of the Bombay Legislature to pass an Act providing for the administration of Civil Justice generally, and of Criminal Justice, except as regards European British subjects at Aden: but he thought that the Bombay Legislature could not give the Courts any Criminal Jurisdiction over European British subjects, nor enact that the Resident or any other person should be a Justice of the Peace. He suggested that European British subjects should be left liable as formerly only to the Supreme Courts, and that the whole matter was one rather for general than local legislation.

The Governor-General in Council then referred the matter to the consideration of the Bombay Government, adopting at the same time the opinion of the Advocate General, and expressing an opinion that Legislation should take the form of a single Imperial Act.

In this view the Governor of Bombay in Council, after consulting the High Court, has now acquiesced, and has requested the Governor-General in Council to legislate on the whole subject.

The present Bill is based on Mr. Ritchie's draft, which, however, has been somewhat simplified and accommodated to the English legislation of 1861.

Some further changes have been made in accordance with several valuable suggestions offered by the Judges of the High Court at Bombay. The position of the Resident, who is to be the Chief Judicial Officer of Aden, is defined as that of a District and Sessions Judge, for the purpose of exercising appellate jurisdiction with greater certainty where the Bill does not otherwise provide. He has further been invested with Small Cause Court powers up to a limit of 1,000 Rupees, instead of 500 Rupees as contemplated by Mr. Ritchie.

The Bill declares that the administration of Civil and Criminal justice is vested in the Court of the Resident. It empowers the Assistant Resident to hear and determine all cases in the first instance, subject to appeal in all Civil suits for more than 500 Rupees, and in all Criminal cases involving more than six months' imprisonment, to the Resident himself; but without appeal in Civil and Criminal proceedings of less importance than those specified. It provides, however, that the Resident shall, in all cases, be at liberty within the period allowed for appeal in appealable cases, or within such further period as the Governor in Council of Bombay shall appoint for that purpose, to call for any proceedings, Civil or Criminal, before the Assistant Resident, in whatever stage they may be, whether appealable or not. The limit as to time appears advisable, in order to secure finality to the judgments of the Court after reasonable time for appealing has passed.

The Bill also empowers the Resident to hear all suits whatever in the first instance. No appeal is allowed from the decision of the Resident when the value of the suit does not exceed 1,000 Rupees. All judicial proceedings of the Resident's Court are rendered subject to the control and superintendence of the Bombay High Court; and it is provided that, in capital cases, the Resident shall have no power to pass sentence of death, but shall transmit the proceedings to the High Court for judgment. When European British subjects are charged with any serious offence, involving more than three years' imprisonment and fine under the Penal Code, the Bill provides for the transfer of the offender for trial to the High Court at Bombay, and it vests the Resident or his Assistant with the powers of a Justice of the Peace for that purpose. It then provides that in the administration of Civil Justice, the Court shall be guided by the spirit and principle of the Bombay Regulations.

The Bill also provides that the Codes of Civil Procedure and of Criminal Procedure shall be the guide of the Court in its procedure, so far as the provisions of those Codes are applicable to the state of things at Aden. It empowers the Governor in Council of Bombay to determine which of such provisions are, and which are not so applicable, and to introduce any portions of those Codes subject to such restriction and provision as he may think fit; and until the Governor in Council has so declared, it leaves it to the Resident to determine what portions of the Codes are applicable. It also empowers the Government of Bombay to pass Rules regulating Appeals and Procedure; and in Civil cases not exceeding 1,000 Rupees in value, and of a nature cognizable in a Small Cause Court under Act XLII of 1860, it provides that the Procedure of the Small Cause Court Act shall be followed.

INDUSTRIAL MINES.

ADVERTISEMENT.

The Government of India having come to the conclusion that it is not expedient to carry on the Iron Works recently established at Burwai, on the Nerbudda, as a Government undertaking, will be prepared to receive offers from Capitalists desirous of taking up such an enterprise for the sale or lease of the Works.

The annexed Extracts from a Report lately submitted to the Government of India will explain the present condition of the Works and the resources of the neighbouring country.

Communications on this subject should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, with the Governor General.

J. P. BEADLE, Lt.-Col., R. E.,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Extract from a Report by the Executive Engineer, Mhow Division, No. 533, dated 11th May 1863.

* * * * I have furnishd a block plan of the works which shows the position of all the existing buildings. All of these buildings are finished, with the exception of the Calcining Kiln and the Forge, which are waiting for castings we had calculated upon making at the Works. The expenditure incurred upon them amounted to Rupees 66,194 up to the 1st March last, and I have estimated that their entire cost will amount to Rupees 85,000. I do not anticipate that any other buildings will be required for the manufacture of Bar Iron, with perhaps the exception of one or two of an inexpensive nature, such as a small Cupola Furnace and a Shed for calcined Ore; an increase in our manufactures will, of course, increase the buildings. I regret I am unable to furnish you with a general plan of the locality of the Works; the Village of Burwai, near which they have been erected, is one of considerable size and importance, it is in British Territory, and is situated two miles north of the Nerbudda, on the main road between Central India and the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, from which it is only 40 miles distant. Its population amounts to 4,500, and no great difficulty has been experienced in obtaining labour from it for our operations; supplies also to any extent are procured there. It is also the residence of the Kamasider of the District, and the money transactions of the Works are in consequence easily arranged.

I do not know what the value of the machinery is, as it has not been debited to the Works I have furnished a list of what we have received at Burwai, and Mr. Mitander is of opinion that we have sufficient for our present wants.

THE SUPPLY OF ORE.

We obtain Ore from the Mitanderpore Mine, 7 miles east of the Works, and from the Nandia Mine, an old Native working, three miles west of Burwai; both of the Ores have been described from Mr. Mitander's Report in the Calcutta Government Gazette of the 23rd April 1863, and by Dr. Oldham, to whom specimens were forwarded for analysis, in the following extract from his Report :—

"One specimen is a mass of almost pure homatile Iron Ore, evidently a piece of a vein or string of Ore. It is crystalline massive. It yields 62·22 per cent. of Iron, pure homatile would give 70·00 per cent.; the slight admixture in this Ore being chiefly Silica."

"The second specimen is a Breccia made up of broken fragments of Ore and other materials recemented by Crystalline Carbonate of Lime. It forms on the whole a very hard, tough, and difficult frangible mass. In such a rock the only fair plan to arrive at an average result, as to its composition, would be to reduce a considerable mass of the rock to powder, thoroughly mix up this, and then take a sample from the mixed product."

This of course we were unable to do satisfactorily, but so far as was possible with a hand specimen it has been done.

A fair sample of the whole mass gives 50·63 per cent. of Iron. Picked from the richer portions, it yielded 57·95 per cent. Both these are very rich and valuable ores of Iron, and with proper treatment will yield excellent metal. Unless some care be taken, if the ordinary processes by a Blast Furnace be used in the reduction of these, the probability is that the Iron will be cold short, but this can be readily prevented.

Dr. Oldham's analysis of these Ores is considered by Mr. Mitander to be too favorable for a working estimate, and his calculations do not allow for more than 43 per cent. of Iron from the Mitanderpore Ore, and 33 per cent. from the Nandia Ore. The specimen which were forwarded to Dr. Oldham were probably richer than the average produce of the Mine.

Note.—The estimated cost of the Ore at the Furnace is Rupees 4 per ton.

FUEL.

The Forest from which the supply of charcoal is obtained extends from Burwai to Chandghur, on the Nerbudda, and northward to the crest of the Vindhian range. Of this tract 141 square miles are within an available distance from the Works; 10 square mile of tree jungle on the south of the River are also within the distance we have calculated that we can profitably carry charcoal, we have therefore an area of 154 square miles of Forest.

The principal Trees of the Forests are :—

The Sallee	...	Boswellia Glabra.
„ Mhonee	...	Sterculia Urens.
„ Dawra	...
„ Kheir	...	Acacia Catechee.
„ Saghwan	...	Tectona Grandis.
„ Ungun	...	Hardwickia Binata.

The two latter are useful Timber trees, and we do not cut them, but from the four others our charcoal is entirely made.

The Sallee is the most common tree, and with the Mhonee yields a soft and indifferent charcoal. The Dawra on the other hand is an excellent charcoal yielding tree, fully equal, Mr. Mitander thinks, to the Beech, the best in Sweden for this purpose. The Kheir also produces a hard wood, and we intend to use it for the Blast Furnace uncharred.

The yield of charcoal we find to be 35 per cent. of the wood by measurement and 25 per cent. by weight.

In Sweden from 48 to 75 per cent. is obtained by measurement, while by weight there is little difference from us. One hundred cubic feet of Swedish chargoal weighs about 900 lbs., while 100 cubic feet of ours weighs 1,400 lbs. As the consumption of fuel is estimated by measurement, this is an advantage to us, from which we may derive very great benefit; on the other hand, however, the residue of ashes from our charcoal is much greater.

Cutting and carrying the wood and burning it is now undertaken by Contractors at the following rates :—

	Rs.	As.	P.
Cutting and stacking wood per 100 cubic feet ...	0	6	3
Making 100 cubic feet charcoal	3	2	0

The carriage varies with the distance from Burwai. Charcoal brought from the extremity of our Works, 12 miles distant, cost Rupees 3-12-0 per 100 cubic feet for carriage, while from our nearest clearing it is brought for 15 annas : the mean rate therefore is Rupees 2-5-6. From these prices we arrive at the following estimate of the cost of 100 cubic feet of charcoal :—

	Rs.	As.	P.
285 cubic feet of wood, at 6 annas 3 pie per 100 cubic feet ..	1	1	0
Cost of making 100 cubic feet of charcoal ...	3	2	0
Mean rate for carriage to the Works..	2	5	6
Cost of 100 cubic feet charcoal ...	6	9	3

FLUX.

A Limestone is obtained within two miles from Burwai, and its cost at the Works is 1¼ Rupees per ton uncalcined.

LEGISLATIVE.

THE following Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons accompanying it are, under the 19th of the Rules for the Conduct of Business at Meetings of the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, published for general information by order of His Excellency the Governor-General.

A Bill to provide for the administration of Civil and Criminal Justice at Aden.

WHEREAS the administration of Civil and Criminal Justice at Aden is now entrusted to the Resident and, in subordination to him, to the Assistant Resident; and whereas Her Majesty has by her Letters Patent, dated the 22nd June 1860, appointed the Resident at Aden to be Judge of Her Majesty's Vice Admiralty Court at Aden for the purposes of and according to the provisions of the Statute 12 and 13 Vic., c. 84; and whereas the Criminal Law to be administered at Aden is provided for by the Indian Penal Code, but the law to be administered at Aden in Civil matters, and the precise nature of the Criminal and Civil jurisdiction of the Resident, and the proper course of procedure in his Court, have never been defined, and it is expedient that they should be provided for; and whereas at present judgments and proceedings of the Resident at Aden are not subject to the superintendence or revision of, or to any appeal to any Court of Justice, except so far as they are subject to appeal to Her Majesty in Council, and it is expedient to provide for the superintendence or revision of certain of such judgments and proceedings by the High Court at Bombay: It is enacted as follows:—

Assistant Resident empowered to try all cases in the first instance.

III. In all Civil cases in which the claim shall exceed five hundred Rupees in value, and in all Criminal cases in which the punishment awarded shall be imprisonment for a period exceeding six months, or fine exceeding five hundred Rupees, an appeal shall lie from the Assistant Resident to the Resident. Provided always that the Resident may in all cases, whether Civil or Criminal, within the period allowed for appeal in appealable cases, call for any proceedings whatever of the Assistant Resident at any stage thereof, and may pass such orders thereon as he may think fit.

Save as herein is otherwise expressed, the judicial proceedings, whether Civil or Criminal, and whether original or appellate, of the Court of the Resident, shall be under the control and superintendence of the High Court at Bombay according to the Rules under which such Court shall, from time to time, exercise control and superintendence over the Courts immediately subordinate or next in rank to it in the Presidency of Bombay, but subject always to the provisions of this Act.

VII. It shall not be competent to the Court of the Resident to pass any sentence of death, or of transportation or penal servitude for life; but whenever the said Court shall think that a sentence of death or of transportation or penal servitude for life ought to be passed, it shall report the case and shall send a full transcript of the proceedings therein, to the said High Court, which shall pass such judgment or sentence as it shall deem fit and whose judgment or sentence shall be final.

Sentence of death or of transportation or penal servitude for life.

VIII. The Court of the Resident shall have power to try any European British subject for any offence under the Indian Penal Code which shall be punishable only with imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years with or without fine, or which shall be punishable with fine alone, if it shall appear to the Court that a sentence of imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year with or without fine, or of fine alone, will be adequate for the particular offence committed: and the Court may sentence the offender, if convicted, to such punishment as is prescribed or allowed by the said Code for such offence. Provided always that it shall in no case be lawful for the Court to award a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

In what cases Resident may try European British subjects.

IX. The Court of the Resident shall not have power to try any European British subject for an offence punishable with death, or transportation or penal servitude, or imprisonment for a term exceeding three years, or for any offence for which the punishment allowed by the Penal Code does not exceed imprisonment for a term of three years with or without fine, but for which a sentence of rigorous imprisonment for one year with or without fine shall not appear to the Court an adequate sentence under the circumstances of the case. When any European British subject shall be charged before the said Court with any offence for which he cannot be lawfully tried by the said Court, the said Court shall commit him to take his trial before the High Court at Bombay.

In certain cases European British subjects to be committed for trial before the High Court at Bombay.

X. The Resident and each of the Assistant Residents shall have all the powers of a Justice of the Peace for the purpose of taking information and the deposition of witnesses and the examination of the prisoner, and of committing or holding to bail the prisoner to take his trial in the High Court at Bombay and of delivering or causing to be delivered the said information, deposition, examination, evidence, and recognizance to the said High Court according to the provisions of the Statute 9 Geo. IV., c. 74 or any other Act that may for the time being be in force in British India, relating to Justices of the Peace.

Resident and Assistant Residents to have powers of Justice of the Peace.

XI. Every sentence upon an European British subject passed under Section VIII of this Act, shall be open to revision by the High Court at Bombay in the same manner as, and to the same extent to which a summary conviction by a Justice of the Peace or by a Magistrate of Police at Bombay is open to revision by that Court under the Statute 9 Geo. IV., c. 74, or Act XIII of 1856, or any other Law for the time being in force in the Presidency of Bombay, relating to convictions by Justices of the Peace or Magistrates of Police, but no such sentence shall be otherwise open to appeal to, or revision by, the said High Court.

Sentences in such cases open to revision by High Court at Bombay.

XII. In the administration of Civil Justice the said Court of the Resident shall be guided by the spirit and principles of the Laws and Regulations in force in the Presidency of Bombay, and administered in the Courts of that Presidency not established by Royal Charter, and in the High Court in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a Court of appeal from those Courts.

Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure applicable as far as necessary.

XIV. When any Civil suit, tried in the first instance by an Assistant Resident or by the Resident without there being a right of appeal from any decision or order given or made therein by the said Assistant Resident or Resident, is of such a nature as to be cognizable under Act XLII of 1860 (for the establishment of Courts of Small Causes beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter), the Court of the Resident shall in such suit have all the powers conferred on, and shall be guided by all the provisions applicable to, a Court of Small Causes constituted under the said Act.

Court of Resident to have powers of a Small Cause Court.

Government of Bombay to determine how far the Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure are applicable.

XV. It shall be lawful for the Governor in Council of Bombay in his Executive capacity to declare from time to time what portion of the said Act VIII of 1859 and of the Acts amending the same, and what portion of the Code of Criminal Procedure and of the Acts amending the same are, and what are not applicable to the Court of the Resident, or to any class of suits or proceedings therein, and to declare from time to time that any portion of the said Act VIII of 1859, and of the said Code, and of the amendments thereof respectively shall take effect subject to any restriction, limitation, or provision which the said Governor in Council shall think fit: until the Governor in Council shall have so declared, the Court of the Resident shall determine (subject to the revision of the High Court at Bombay) which of the provisions of the said Codes and of the amendments thereof respectively are, and which are not, applicable to the said Court.

Until so determined by the Government of Bombay, Resident may determine how far the Codes are applicable.

But no appeal shall lie to the High Court at Bombay from any decision or order of the Court of the Resident in any case Civil or Criminal unless notice of the intention to appeal shall be given to the Court of the Resident within days from the date of such decision or order.

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

So long ago as 1849, the Government of Bombay called the attention of the Government of India to the unsatisfactory condition of law and justice in Aden. The question of legislating for that dependency was submitted to the Court of Directors, but it was found to involve many difficulties, and though some papers relating to the subject were printed by order of the former Legislative Council, no measure, having the objects contemplated by the Government of Bombay, was passed into law.

In January 1862, the Advocate General gave an opinion which at length settled the doubts which had arisen as to the actual position of Aden in respect to law. He considered that British Law had never been introduced into Aden—that its situation was that of a conquered country into which the law of the conquering power was not introduced at the time of the conquest, and in which the law, such as it was, which existed previously to the conquest still prevailed. The Advocate General further considered that Aden could not then be made subject to a new system of law without legislation; that as regards Criminal Law the Indian Penal Code had effect throughout the territory from the 1st of January 1862; that the Governor-General in Council might without any legislation extend to Aden the Civil and Criminal Procedure Codes; but that the Civil Law would still remain to be provided for by legislation. He suggested that, in place of extending the Procedure Codes, it might be well to enact that, as regards procedure, the Courts should be guided by the spirit of the Codes.

The late Mr. Ritchie subsequently prepared a draft Bill and obtained leave to introduce it into the Council of the Governor-General of India for making Laws and Regulations. He did not however introduce it, having apparently found that objections were entertained to the proposed measure on the ground that it lay within the legislative competency of the Governor in Council of Bombay.

After Mr. Ritchie's death, his draft Bill was submitted to the Advocate General, whose attention was called to the questions it had suggested. Mr. Cowie was of opinion that it was within the competency of the Bombay Legislature to pass an Act providing for the administration of Civil Justice generally, and of Criminal Justice, except as regards European British subjects at Aden: but he thought that the Bombay Legislature could not give the Courts any Criminal Jurisdiction over European British subjects, nor enact that the Resident or any other person should be a Justice of the Peace. He suggested that European British subjects should be left liable as formerly only to the Supreme Courts, and that the whole matter was one rather for general than local legislation.

The Governor-General in Council then referred the matter to the consideration of the Bombay Government, adopting at the same time the opinion of the Advocate General, and expressing an opinion that Legislation should take the form of a single Imperial Act.

In this view the Governor of Bombay in Council, after consulting the High Court, has now acquiesced, and has requested the Governor-General in Council to legislate on the whole subject.

The present Bill is based on Mr. Ritchie's draft, which, however, has been somewhat simplified and accommodated to the English legislation of 1861.

Some further changes have been made in accordance with several valuable suggestions offered by the Judges of the High Court at Bombay. The position of the Resident, who is to be the Chief Judicial Officer of Aden, is defined as that of a District and Sessions Judge, for the purpose of exercising appellate jurisdiction with greater certainty where the Bill does not otherwise provide. He has further been invested with Small Cause Court powers up to a limit of 1,000 Rupees, instead of 500 Rupees as contemplated by Mr. Ritchie.

The Bill declares that the administration of Civil and Criminal justice is vested in the Court of the Resident. It empowers the Assistant Resident to hear and determine all cases in the first instance, subject to appeal in all Civil suits for more than 500 Rupees, and in all Criminal cases involving more than six months' imprisonment, to the Resident himself; but without appeal in Civil and Criminal proceedings of less importance than those specified. It provides, however, that the Resident shall, in all cases, be at liberty within the period allowed for appeal in appealable cases, or within such further period as the Governor in Council of Bombay shall appoint for that purpose, to call for any proceedings, Civil or Criminal, before the Assistant Resident, in whatever stage they may be, whether appealable or not. The limit as to time appears advisable, in order to secure finality to the judgments of the Court after reasonable time for appealing has passed.

The Bill also empowers the Resident to hear all suits whatever in the first instance. No appeal is allowed from the decision of the Resident when the value of the suit does not exceed 1,000 Rupees. All judicial proceedings of the Resident's Court are rendered subject to the control and superintendence of the Bombay High Court; and it is provided that, in capital cases, the Resident shall have no power to pass sentence of death, but shall transmit the proceedings to the High Court for judgment. When European British subjects are charged with any serious offence, involving more than three years' imprisonment and fine under the Penal Code, the Bill provides for the transfer of the offender for trial to the High Court at Bombay, and it vests the Resident or his Assistant with the powers of a Justice of the Peace for that purpose. It then provides that in the administration of Civil Justice, the Court shall be guided by the spirit and principle of the Bombay Regulations.

The Bill also provides that the Codes of Civil Procedure and of Criminal Procedure shall be the guide of the Court in its procedure, so far as the provisions of those Codes are applicable to the state of things at Aden. It empowers the Governor in Council of Bombay to determine which of such provisions are, and which are not so applicable, and to introduce any portions of those Codes subject to such restriction and provision as he may think fit; and until the Governor in Council has so declared, it leaves it to the Resident to determine what portions of the Codes are applicable. It also empowers the Government of Bombay to pass Rules regulating Appeals and Procedure; and in Civil cases not exceeding 1,000 Rupees in value, and of a nature cognizable in a Small Cause Court under Act XLII of 1860, it provides that the Procedure of the Small Cause Court Act shall be followed.

No. 502.

Simla, the 14th August 1863.

Proclamation.—Instances in which the Council of Regency at Oodeypore has failed to administer justice, Civil and Criminal, having been brought to the notice of the Supreme Government, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General deems it expedient to adopt the measures, hereafter detailed, for the administration of Justice in the Meywar State during the minority of the Maharaja.

One glaring instance of failure is shewn in the case of Kotharee Kesree Sing. This man has been proved to the satisfaction of the British Government to have embezzled upwards of twenty lakhs of money belonging to the Meywar State, which it was his bounden duty honestly and faithfully to have accounted for.

Instead of punishing such guilt the Regency Council have endeavored to justify the offender. The British Government has therefore found it necessary, in the interest of the Meywar State and the young Maharaja, to remove so corrupt a person from all share in the management of the country.

Another instance of failure is in the case of Mehta Ajeet Sing, son of Mehta Shere Sing, Executive Member of the Council of Regency. Mehta Ajeet Sing was charged with the duty of taking measures for the suppression of dacoity, highway robbery, &c. He apprehended some men who were charged with murder, robbery, mutilation, and cow killing. He beat two of them, Gowla Naik and Kripa Naik, till they confessed that they had committed robbery and eaten cow's flesh. Thereupon he ordered Gowla Naik to be tied to the leg of an elephant and dragged through the streets of the village of Poor. He then ordered him to be buried alive with his head above ground, in which state the man survived for two days. Kripa Naik had his teeth extracted by order of Mehta Ajeet Sing, and died four days afterwards from the torture to which he was subjected.

Although the Political Agent warned the Regency Council that nothing should be done to the prisoners without a fair trial either by the Criminal Courts or the Council, the Regency justify Ajeet Sing's proceedings. The Political Agent also warned them that capital sentences could not be carried out without report to, and sanction of, Government.

Ajeet Sing came to Oodeypore where he made confession to the Political Agent, who ordered that he should be kept at Oodeypore under heavy security pending enquiry.

But through the connivance of Mehta Shere Sing and the Regency Council he was allowed to escape the same night.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General moved by the contemplation of this utter disregard of the principles of Justice deems it necessary to confer on the Political Agent for the time being the full powers of a Sessions Judge in Criminal cases; of Superintendent of Police and of Commissioner and Civil Judge in Revenue and Civil suits. Such powers to be exercised until the Maharajah is pronounced of age and capable of undertaking the responsibility of the administration of the Meywar State.

The local Courts at Oodeypore will be maintained, but all heinous offences must be committed for trial before the Court of the Political Agent; and in Civil suits, exceeding in value 1,000 Rupees, an appeal from the decision of the local Courts will lie to the Court of the Political Agent. The sentences and decisions of the Political Agent will ordinarily be final, except in cases of capital punishment, which will be submitted for the sanction of the Supreme Government through the Agent to the Governor General.

His Excellency takes this opportunity of expressing the abhorrence which the British Government entertains of the atrocities committed in the name of Justice by Mehta Ajeet Sing. Every well-wisher of the Meywar State is called upon to deny shelter to a man guilty of cruelties so wanton and unparalleled, and to use his utmost endeavors to effect the capture of Mehta Ajeet Sing and bring him to Justice. The Chiefs of all the States in Rajpootana will be called upon to refuse him an asylum.

Fort William, the 17*th August* 1863.

Advertisement.

The Government of India having come to the conclusion that it is not expedient to carry on the Iron Works recently established at Burwai, on the Nerbudda, as a Government undertaking, will be prepared to receive offers from Capitalists desirous of taking up such an enterprise for the sale or lease of the Works.

The annexed Extracts from a Report lately submitted to the Government of India will explain the present condition of the Works and the resources of the neighbouring country.

Communications on this subject should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, with the Governor General.

J. P. Beadle, Lt.-Col., R. E.,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India.

Extract from a Report by the Executive Engineer, Mhow Division, No. 533, dated 11*th May* 1863.

* * * * I have furnishd a block plan of the works which shows the position of all the existing buildings. All of these buildings are finished, with the exception of the Calcining Kiln and the Forge, which are waiting for castings we had calculated upon making at the Works. The expenditure incurred upon them amounted to Rupees 66,194 up to the 1st March last, and I have estimated that their entire cost will amount to Rupees 85,000. I do not anticipate that any other buildings will be required for the manufacture of Bar Iron, with perhaps the exception of one or two of an inexpensive nature, such as a small Cupola Furnace and a Shed for calcined Ore; an increase in our manufactures will, of course, increase the buildings. I regret I am unable to furnish you with a general plan of the locality of the Works; the Village of Burwai, near which they have been erected, is one of considerable size and importance, it is in British Territory, and is situated two miles north of the Nerbudda, on the main road between Central India and the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, from which it is only 40 miles distant. Its population amounts to 4,500, and no great difficulty has been experienced in obtaining labour from it for our operations; supplies also to any extent are procured there. It is also the residence of the Kamasider of the District, and the money transactions of the Works are in consequence easily arranged.

I do not know what the value of the machinery is, as it has not been debited to the Works I have furnished a list of what we have received at Burwai, and Mr. Mitander is of opinion that we have sufficient for our present wants.

THE SUPPLY OF ORE.

We obtain Ore from the Mitanderpore Mine, 7 miles east of the Works, and from the Nandia Mine, an old Native working, three miles west of Burwai; both of the Ores have been described from Mr. Mitander's Report in the Calcutta Government Gazette of the 23rd April 1863, and by Dr. Oldham, to whom specimens were forwarded for analysis, in the following extract from his Report:—

"One specimen is a mass of almost pure homatile Iron Ore, evidently a piece of a vein or string of Ore. It is crystalline massive. It yields 62·22 per cent. of Iron, pure homatile would give 70·00 per cent.; the slight admixture in this Ore being chiefly Silica."

"The second specimen is a Breccia made up of broken fragments of Ore and other materials recemented by Crystalline Carbonate of Lime. It forms on the whole a very hard, tough, and difficult frangible mass. In such a rock the only fair plan to arrive at an average result, as to its composition, would be to reduce a considerable mass of the rock to powder, thoroughly mix up this, and then take a sample from the mixed product."

This of course we were unable to do satisfactorily, but so far as was possible with a hand specimen it has been done.

A fair sample of the whole mass gives 50·63 per cent. of Iron. Picked from the richer portions it yielded 57·95 per cent. Both these are very rich and valuable ores of Iron, and with proper treatment will yield excellent metal. Unless some care be taken, if the ordinary processes by a Blast Furnace be used in the reduction of these, the probability is that the Iron will be cold short, but this can be readily prevented.

Dr. Oldham's analysis of these Ores is considered by Mr. Mitander to be too favorable for a working estimate, and his calculations do not allow for more than 43 per cent. of Iron from the Mitanderpore Ore, and 33 per cent. from the Nandia Ore. The specimen which were forwarded to Dr. Oldham were probably richer than the average produce of the Mine.

Note.—The estimated cost of the Ore at the Furnace is Rupees 4 per ton.

FUEL.

The Forest from which the supply of charcoal is obtained extends from Burwai to Chandghur, on the Nerbudda, and northward to the crest of the Vhindian range. Of this tract 144 square miles are within an available distance from the Works; 10 square mile of tree jungle on the south of the River are also within the distance we have calculated that we can profitably carry charcoal, we have therefore an area of 154 square miles of Forest.

The Sallee	... Boswellia Glabra.
„ Mhonee	... Sterculia Urens.
„ Dawra	...
„ Kheir	... Acacia Catechee.
„ Saghwan	... Tectona Grandis.
„ Ungun	... Hardwickia Binata.

The two latter are useful Timber trees, and we do not cut them, but from the four others our charcoal is entirely made.

The Sallee is the most common tree, and with the Mhonee yields a soft and indifferent charcoal. The Dawra on the other hand is an excellent charcoal yielding tree, fully equal, Mr. Mitander thinks, to the Beech, the best in Sweden for this purpose. The Kheir also produces a hard wood, and we intend to use it for the Blast Furnace uncharred.

The yield of charcoal we find to be 35 per cent. of the wood by measurement and 25 per cent. by weight.

In Sweden from 48 to 75 per cent. is obtained by measurement, while by weight there is little difference from us. One hundred cubic feet of Swedish charcoal weighs about 900 lbs., while 100 cubic feet of ours weighs 1,400 lbs. As the consumption of fuel is estimated by measurement, this is an advantage to us, from which we may derive very great benefit; on the other hand, however, the residue of ashes from our charcoal is much greater.

Cutting and carrying the wood and burning it is now undertaken by Contractors at the following rates:—

	Rs.	As.	P.
Cutting and stacking wood per 100 cubic feet ...	0	6	3
Making 100 cubic feet charcoal ...	3	2	0

The carriage varies with the distance from Burwai. Charcoal brought from the extremity of our Works, 12 miles distant, cost Rupees 3-12-0 per 100 cubic feet for carriage, while from our nearest clearing it is brought for 15 annas: the mean rate therefore is Rupees 2-5-6. From these prices we arrive at the following estimate of the cost of 100 cubic feet of charcoal:—

	Rs.	As.	P.
285 cubic feet of wood, at 6 annas 3 pie per 100 cubic feet ...	1	1	9
Cost of making 100 cubic feet of charcoal ..	3	2	0
Mean rate for carriage to the Works..	2	5	6
Cost of 100 cubic feet charcoal ...	6	9	3

FLUX.

A Limestone is obtained within two miles from Burwai, and its cost at the Works is 1½ Rupees per ton uncalcined.

Government of Bengal.

Report of the operations of the Dispensaries temporarily established in the Districts suffering from Epidemic Fever.

From Dr. J. McClelland, Officiating Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department, to the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 418, dated the 30th July 1863.)

I have the honor to forward, for submission to the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the accompanying original letter, No. 90, dated 20th instant, from Dr. Elliot, Civil Assistant Surgeon of Hooghly, to the address of the Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals of the Barrackpore Circle, together with the Monthly Returns of Sick treated in the Dispensaries named in the margin, temporarily established in the Districts of Hooghly, Nuddea, Baraset, and the 24-Pergunnahs, and beg very respectfully to state that the sanatory arrangements recently made appear to have been the means of greatly reducing the amount of sickness and mortality in many of the villages. Dr. Elliot anticipates that still more favorable results will ensue as soon as the orders of Government are fully carried out in this matter.

From J. Elliot, Esq., M. D., Civil Assistant Surgeon, on Special Duty, to F. Anderson, Esq., M. D., Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Barrackpore,—(No. 90, dated Hooghly, the 20th July 1863.)

In compliance with the order conveyed in Bengal Government's letter No. 3285, dated 30th June last, I have the honor to report, for the information of the Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department, that during the past month I have visited the Dispensaries established for the treatment of Epidemic Fever in the Districts of Hooghly, Nuddea, Baraset, and the 24-Pergunnahs.

2. With the exception of the Native Doctors at Oollah and Nyehatty the others have performed the duties connected with their Dispensaries to my satisfaction, and the Monthly Returns of Sick lately forwarded shew that the daily attendance at most of them is considerable.

3. The first of the Native Doctors alluded to, who was a locally entertained man, has been discharged, and a more efficient substitute appointed.

4. The misconduct of the latter in having made exorbitant charges for wine and brandy in the monthly Contingent Bills, and in having sent in false Returns of the quantities of medicines under his charge, was brought to notice in my letter No. 84, dated 16th instant.

5. Comparing the present with the two previous seasons the sickness in many of the villages is said to have decreased considerably; but as the approaching months are those during which the epidemic has generally been most virulent, it yet remains to be seen whether any abatement of the disease has actually taken place.

6. The people now suffering are, in most instances, those in whom the fever has become chronic, complicated with enlargement of the spleen and liver; and while many such cases are gradually dying off there are comparatively few cases of new fever.

7. The village of Shomra, about three miles north of Ballagur, in the District of Hooghly, is reported as one of the most unhealthy. It may be necessary to locate a Native Doctor there during next month. After visiting the place I shall report further regarding it.

8. The inhabitants of Bansberria, Ballagur, Nyehatty, Majargram, and other villages which have been partially drained and cleared of jungle are justly free of fever up to the present time.

9. A remarkable decrease of mortality and improvement in the health of the community is said to have taken place at Oollah, where perhaps, of all other villages, most has been done in the way of sanitary improvement.

10. In my opinion the greatest credit is due to the Deputy Magistrate of Santipore and his Subordinates for the zeal and activity they have shewn in carrying out the orders of Government.

11. When I last visited the place the jungles within the boundary of the village had been thoroughly uprooted, cleared, and removed, the walls of many of the deserted and dilapidated houses had been broken down and levelled, many holes and pits had been filled up, and the place had assumed altogether a different appearance.

12. Attention ought now to be paid to the drainage of the village and of the bheel in the vicinity, to the re-digging of a few of the best tanks, and the filling up of others which are in a foul and marshy state.

13. If this is done, and if the remaining jungle to the east of the village is removed early next cold season, I believe that the village will again become habitable, more particularly if the present intention of the Zemindars to cultivate the waste land is carried out.

From J. ELLIOT, Esq., M. D., Civil Assistant Surgeon, on Special Duty, to F. ANDERSON, Esq., M. D., Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Barrackpore,—(No. 85, dated Hooghly, the 18th July 1863.)

I HAVE the honor to forward the accompanying Returns for May and June of the Dispensaries which have been established for the treatment of Epidemic Fever in the Districts of Hooghly, Nudden, and the 24-Pergunnahs.

2. The Returns for previous months were forwarded in a half-yearly form direct to the Office of the Secretary, Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department.

From J. GEOGHEGAN, Esq., Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Officiating Principal Inspector-General, Medical Department,—(dated the 7th August 1863.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 418, dated the 30th ultimo, submitting one, with enclosures, from Dr. Elliot, Civil Assistant Surgeon of Hooghly, reporting on the operations of the Dispensaries temporarily established in the Districts suffering from Epidemic Fever, and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor considers the results exhibited to be very satisfactory.

2. His Honor is pleased to observe the favorable manner in which Dr. Elliot has noticed the exertions of the Deputy Magistrate of Santipore and his Subordinates in carrying out sanatory improvements in the village of Oollah, and the attention of the Magistrate of Nudden will be drawn to the further measures proposed by Dr. Elliot in the 12th and 13th paragraphs of his Report regarding that village.

3. The original enclosures of your letter are herewith returned.

CIRCULAR.

No. 84.

FROM WILLIAM WALKER, ESQ.,
Officiating Inspector-General of Prisons, North-Western Provinces,

TO THE OFFICER IN CHARGE OF THE JAIL AT

Nynee Tal, the 19th June 1863.

SIR,—THE outbreak of an epidemic disease in a Jail is an event of such fearful import, not only to the Medical Officer in charge of the prisoners but to the community at large, that the best methods of successfully grappling with the plague ought to be constantly and clearly before every Officer in charge of a Jail. With this view, I have drawn up and now circulate, with the concurrence of Government, a short statement of the general mode of action which has been, and may, under God's blessing, again be the means of mitigating the horrors of an epidemic in a Jail.

2. It must never be lost sight of that in a Jail you have far more than the mere physical effects of the epidemic disease to contend against. The freeman's feeling of self-dependance, the sympathies and aid of his friends and relations, the mental stimulus of the performance of, to him, all powerful religious ceremonies are withdrawn, and there is nothing left to preserve the convict from falling into a gloomy despondency, but the trust he may repose on your endeavors to check the plague that is dealing death around him.

3. There are four diseases that tend more than others to assume an epidemic intensity in our Jails; Cholera, Hospital Gangrene, Typhoid Fever, and Scurvy. The last may be almost put out of account, as, under the present dietary, I do not think we are likely to meet with it in an epidemic form; its causes and remedies are so well ascertained, and its approach so gradual, that under any circumstances it would be inexcusable in a Superintending Officer to allow an epidemic of Scurvy to arise in the Jail under his charge.

4. With respect to the occurrence of an epidemic of Cholera there are certain simple rules of action which may be laid down as applicable on every occasion. First, the Jail must, if practicable, be at once relieved of any excess of numbers; better still, if the whole body of the prisoners can be moved at once into camp or into another building The necessity for this does not hinge on any theory of infection or contagion, it is simply a deduction from experience that the disease, in its epidemic form, shews greater virulence, as a rule, amongst large bodies of men residing in buildings that have been continuously occupied for a long period. Secondly, having got your prisoners out into camp, insist on their performing some work in small bodies at a time if your Guard is insufficient, but avoid the error of leaving them day and night lying in tents tied up on the bel-chain.

5. Circumstances may, however, exist which prevent you from relieving your Jail; it may have rained hard (and during epidemics of Cholera it very often does rain heavily), then the evils arising from exposing the men to the inclemency of the weather intents, lying on damp ground, will counterbalance any good effect that the change of residence might effect, or it may be that sufficient Guards cannot be obtained to ensure the safety of a large body of men in camp; in such a case your next care ought to be to give the men exercise and fresh air in gangs for several hours every day. Don't stop the various manufactories, but allow the men to work as much as they feel inclined to.

6. Organize a section of your contingent Guard for night work; their duty will be to go round every hour to all the barracks and enquire whether any of the inmates have been taken ill; if so, the keys must be got from the Police Officer on duty and the man removed at once to the Hospital.

7. Crowding of your Hospital ought to be guarded against: and as a first step to this end you ought to remove all miscellaneous cases of disease from the Hospital and locate them in some other building, leaving the Hospital clear for Cholera cases alone.

8. I think it a bad plan to admit indiscriminately every prisoner, who says he is ill, into Hospital at such a time. Every man ought to be brought under observation and suitable treatment, but after being a day or so under inspection he ought, if no symptoms of the specific disease occur, to be returned to his own barrack and gang. When epidemic Cholera is about the number of cases of slight Colic and Diarrhœa is indefinitely increased, and when men are indiscriminately admitted into Hospital, not only are the bad effects of crowding sure to result, but the other prisoners, from amongst whom the patients have been withdrawn, measure the intensity of the disease and its fatality by the only evidence within their ken, the number of vacant places in their ranks; great mental depression often results from this cause; it ought to be avoided, and may very easily be avoided.

9. I do not think there is any necessity for, nor much benefit likely to arise out of, any change or increase of diet; this, however, I willingly leave to your own judgment.

10. One or two sanitory measures call for great care in carrying them out, and only constant watching on the part of the Officer in charge will insure the performance of these details from being neglected by his subordinates. The central passage of the Hospital is apt to get soaked with choleraic discharges in spite of the greatest care on the part of the attendants. Vomiting comes on so rapidly and so copiously that the patient has rarely time to reach, or the attendant to supply a vessel to receive such discharges, hence I think it an excellent precaution to spread a layer of fine sand or ashes, to the thickness of two or three inches all over the centre passage of the Hospital, this ought to be swept up and carried off as often as any portion of it gets soaked, and fresh sand or ashes strewn in its place.

11. The utmost attention must be paid to the clearing out at short intervals, and carrying off from the Hospital latrines, all the night soil; no stated intervals for cleaning them need be laid down; sweepers ought to be employed constantly to keep them clean and sweet. For there can be very little doubt that however much cholera-excreta may aid in the diffusion of the cholera poison, and thus increase the violence of an epidemic, these discharges in a state of decomposition have their power increased tenfold, hence the paramount necessity for removing at once all matters vomited or passed by a Cholera patient and burying them in trenches, which should immediately be closed.

12. These remarks apply equally to the ordinary latrines in the Jail as to those in the Hospital compound, and the vigilance of the Jail Officers must be incessant in preventing any soil from remaining in these receptacles.

13. I have only to add that in the case of an outbreak of Cholera in your Jail, prompt and intelligent action will always meet with sanction and approval.

14. Sloughing Ulcer or Hospital Gangrene has frequently appeared in an epidemic form in our Jails, and may at any time again occur. An old worn out patient in Hospital, perhaps dying of Dysenteric-Diarrhœa, gets a scratch on some part of his body, or a slight bruise, a sloughing ulcer results, and after longer or shorter duration, and more or less extensive destruction of parts, death comes to his relief. From this case the sloughing action will spread to many, it may be to all, cases of sore or wound in Hospital, acquiring intensity as the numbers affected increase, until men in sound health cannot with safety bring a cut finger into the atmosphere of the building where the disease has established itself.

15. The remarks I have to offer, founded on my experience of the disease in the Agra Central Prison, will be directed, first, to the precautions necessary to prevent the disease assuming an epidemic form; and second, to the means to be employed to extirpate it when it has appeared.

16. On the occurrence of a case as I have described it is imperative to remove the patient at once from any building occupied by other prisoners, better to give up a whole ward to this one patient than run the risk of the disease becoming epidemic. Remove him from all contact with the other prisoners, appoint him his own attendants and put them in quarantine as well, and direct the Native Doctor to see to it most carefully that no instruments used in dressing the sloughing sores be employed at the same time in the ordinary work of the Hospital. Any treatment may then be employed that seems to your judgment the best, what I wish to impress upon you is, that in a Jail, the occurrence of a single case of sloughing ulcer is not a matter to be lightly passed over as an idiosyncrasy in the particular patient's case, it ought ever to be regarded and dreaded as the nidus from which may emanate death to many patients, and at the least great trouble and anxiety to the medical attendant on the sick.

17. If the case of sloughing ulcer prove to be an isolated one, you may conclude that the causes which determined its occurrence arose for the most part from an idiosyncrasy in the patient's constitution, but I repeat that á priori you are entitled to act only on the one supposition that the single case is the forerunner of an epidemic, and your mode of action must in every instance be the same.

18. First, see that your Jail is not overcrowded and that particular Wards and Barracks have no more than their authorized number of inmates. If your Jail be overcrowded and remain so, every other sanatory measure will be useless, and an immediate report should be made to the Inspector-General of Prisons for instructions as to its relief.

Next, turn your attention to the condition of your Hospital Ward and Sleeping Barracks. The floor and walls of every ward ought to be well scraped preparatory to being re-washed with cow-dung and potter's clay. The trusses of the roof, the battens, the under-surface of the tiles, in fact every surface that can collect dust and animal matter ought to be well cleaned. I could not impress upon you more forcibly the necessity of such apparently trivial precautions than by calling your attention to the late investigations of an eminent Frenchman, M. Chalvet, on the causes of the insalubrity of Hospitals, quoted in a late volume of Braithwaite's retrospect of Medicine. "The atmosphere of an Hospital," says M. Chalvet, "is no longer a vague expression, the air of it "differs essentially from pure air. In 1860 I wit- "nessed the experiments of M. Reveil, and recog- "nised, in the most positive manner, the presence "of organic corpuscles in the apparatus construct- "ed by that skilful Chemist. We then observed "chiefly cells and debris of epithelial cells, cor- "puscles of divers forms which became yellow "under the action of nitric acid, and bits of char- "pace charged with these corpuscles. Dust col- "lected by dusting the walls of the ward St. "Augustine, in St. Louis, furnished me with 36 "per cent. of organic matter; at another period, "in the Laboratory of M. Reveil, dust collected "from the same quarter yielded 46 per cent of "organic matter, which consisted in large part of "epithelial cells, and yielded a horny smell when "calcined; when wetted the dusty powder quickly "gave off a very fœtid smell."

19. Having satisfied yourself that the surfaces are thoroughly cleaned, the ward may be exposed for five or six hours to the smoke of burning wood; this will effectually diffuse finely divided charcoal capable of absorbing and neutralizing many injurious gases that may be in the atmosphere Then order the walls and floors to be washed carefully with a solution of cow dung, and when dry white-wash with a coating or two of clay.

20. Having seen to all this, look narrowly into the condition of the prisoners individually, the cleanliness of their persons and their clothes. Most usually if the prisoners are allowed the means experience proves that they will gladly avail themselves of the opportunity of bathing daily, and all that you will have to secure for them is the opportunity and the means. Not seldom, as the operation causes a little extra trouble to the officials, or because it will postpone the hour of locking up for a short time, obstacles are thrown in the way; this will have to be looked to and guarded against.

21. Connected with this subject of the bathing of the prisoners I may note here a reprehensible custom which prevails in several Jails, and which requires small illustration to insure its condemnation I refer to the habit of sprinkling the roads in the interior of the Jail with the water collected in the stone troughs attached to each well after the prisoners had performed their ablutions. The mass of animal impurities washed off the bodies of from 200 to 2,000 men every day or every second day is sprinkled, in suspension in the water, over the surface of the ground; the water dries up in the sun's rays, and leaves on the soil a rotting layer of impurity which is added to by every succeeding sprinkling, and becomes innocuous only when buried under the surface during the annual or biennial renewal of the pathway. I need scarcely add that the water in which the prisoners have washed themselves should be carried out as carefully as the contents of the latrines and poured into the night soil trenches, there to fertilize the ground instead of poisoning the atmosphere.

22. Your inspection of the prisoners' persons and clothes should not be intrusted to a subordinate, but should be gone through carefully under your own eye.

23. Another disease which has of late years changed its type and assumed an epidemic form is Fever. Previous to the year 1860 genuine Typhoid Fever was seldom met with in ordinary practice in India, and had never been known as an epidemic in any of our Jails. During that year it burst forth with extreme violence in the Agra and Meerut Central Prisons, and it has since visited, with greater or less severity, the Jails of Bareilly, Allygurh, Muttra, and Etawah. That it has not been peculiar to the Jails but has shewn itself amongst the free population in the surrounding Districts is no reason why we should accept it as a visitation of Providence over which we have no control, and the extreme probability of this epidemic Fever appearing in any Jail makes it desirable that every Officer in charge of prisoners should be on the look out for it, and should have his mind clearly made up on the course of action to be adopted on its occurrence.

24. Much that I have laid down in former paragraphs with respect to an epidemic of Cholera or Hospital Gangrene is applicable here; your attention should be directed to every hygienic consideration touched upon in those paragraphs. There is one great distinctive feature in this disease which will modify to a certain extent your mode of dealing with it. All our experience of this type of Fever has proved it to be intensely contagious. In proof of this I need only refer you to the special Reports on the disease as it appeared in the Agra, Meerut, and Allygurh Jails; sufficient proof is there adduced to shew that the affection is equally contagious with the common Typhoid Fever of Europe.

25. I have said above that it is desirable on the occurrence of an epidemic of Cholera to convert your Hospital into a Cholera Ward, it is desirable on many accounts, and is not contra-indicated by any specific conditions in the disease itself. With Typhoid Fever the case is different; your patients must be scattered as far apart as the accommodation at your command will admit. If you constitute a Fever Ward, or even allow four or five patients to be in close proximity, the atmosphere of that ward or portion of a ward will become poisoned to such a degree as to retard, or altogether prevent, the patient's recovery; and very few of the Hospital attendants exposed for a few minutes to its influence will escape an attack of the disease. I may here repeat what I wrote on another occasion, "nothing is so well "established as that the intensity of an animal "poison is increased a thousand-fold by having "the patients crowded together; the atmosphere "around them becomes a deadly poison, and every "breath they draw carries its load of death "into their systems. This atmosphere must be di- "luted by ventilation, and the scattering of the "affected over a large area, and at whatever ex- "pense of convenience or extra labor; every "barrack in a large Jail ought to be converted "into a Hospital Ward, and made to contain the "smallest possible number of patients. I feel I "cannot insist on this too strongly. Let this "condition be accomplished efficiently; then "medicines, careful nursing, and diet, will all have "their full curative effects; let it be attended to "imperfectly, or not at all, and the physician may "shut up his medicine chest, assured that the ex- "tinction of the disease and his patients will be "simultaneous and quite independent of the "means at his disposal."

26. It would be out of place for me, and it is not within the scope of this Memorandum, to enter into details of treatment so well known to every Medical Officer, sufficient if I warn you against fancying that your Jail is secured against this type of disease, and lay clearly before you the best method of dealing with the affection which experience has dictated. In all the Jails hitherto subjected to this scourge, the first cases have been comparatively mild, so mild indeed, that in the absence of the proof of contagion the Medical Officers have regarded them as a low form of Remittent Fever. Very soon, however, the peculiar type developes itself and extraordinary measure are called for; already within three years six Jails in the North-Western Provinces, and several in the Punjaub, have been decimated by this fatal disease. You are in this respect more favorably placed than the Officers who had charge of those Jails, you are forewarned. Look with suspicion on every case of low Fever, regard it as the forerunner of an epidemic, and give the prisoners under your charge at once the benefits of the experience that has been purchased by the lives of so many of their fellow convicts.

ORDERS by the LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, Punjab Provinces.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—The 7th August 1863. —Notification.—No. 1737.—The following revised Rules for the examination of Assistant and Extra Assistant Commissioners and Cantonment Magistrates in the Punjab are published for information and guidance:—

1. Every Assistant and Extra Assistant Commissioner, European or Native, hereafter appointed, without any exception, must pass the examination of the lower and higher standard; Cantonment Magistrates will be required to pass a special examination.

2. No one is expected to go up for the lower standard until he has been six months in actual public employ. Having passed the lower standard he is expected to go up for the higher standard at the next annual examination, and so on each year until he has passed.

3. Until he has passed the lower standard he cannot be vested with special powers, and until he has passed the higher standard he cannot be vested with full powers, without the special sanction of Government. No one will in future be allowed to go up for the higher standard until he has passed the lower, unless he was prevented by illness going up at the examination of the previous year for the lower standard; or unless he be specially allowed to do so by the Central Committee on the recommendation of the Commissioner of his Division.

4. Even when he has passed the standard he will not in future be vested with special powers, until he has served six months; or with full powers, until he has exercised special powers for one whole year. On special occasions this rule may be relaxed. The granting of powers is not a necessary consequence of passing standards, though passing standards is a condition precedent to granting powers.

5. Examinations will be held annually in the month of March, on dates to be notified each year in the Punjab Gazette.

6. The rendezvous for the Divisional Committees will ordinarily be at Delhi, Umballa, Lahore, Mooltan, Rawul Pindee, and Dehra Ishmael Khan. It will be notified each year in the Gazette at which rendezvous each Assistant is to attend, and who is to be the President of each Divisional Committee.

7. The Divisional Committee will consist of three Officers, one of whom it is desirable should be of the rank of a Commissioner; the other members may be Commissioners, Deputy Commissioners, or European Extra Assistant Commissioners, as the exigency of the public service will permit.

8. The President of the Divisional Committee will arrange for the place and hour of meeting, due notice of which should be conveyed by him to all examinees, each of whom should report himself to the President on his arrival at the rendezvous.

9. No books or writing of any kind, English or Vernacular, are to be allowed to be made use of in the examination, for either the higher or lower standard. Any transgression of this rule will render the whole examination of the transgressor null and void.

10. The text books for examination are enumerated in Appendix No. 1 to these Rules.

11. Every Officer, European or Native, on his being gazetted to his first appointment, will be supplied by the Central Committee direct, with the following books gratis, in English or Vernacular, according to his requirements:—

I. Questions on Indian Penal and Procedure Code (translated).

II. Questions on Punjab Civil Code and selected Judicial Circulars, (translated).

III. Questions on selected Judicial Circulars, (translated,) and Jail Manuel (Natives exempted).

IV. Questions on Treasury Hand Book (Natives exempted).

V. Ditto on Hand Book for Civil Officers (Natives exempted).

12. The Central Committee will consist of the Judicial and Financial Commissioners and the Secretary to Government; with them will rest the preparation of the questions; the general supervision; the general decision as to the merits of examinees; and the preparation of the report to Government.

13. The language of vernacular transactions is the Oordoo, in the Persian character; no exception is allowed to this rule; the Roman character is not authorized. Candidates are also required to read Devanagree, and decipher an entry in the Muhajunnee character used in Bankers' books.

14. The subjects of examination are as follows:—

1st day, Criminal.
2nd day, Civil, including Law of Evidence.
3rd day, Revenue, including Treasury.
4th day, Public Works, Local Funds, and Jail management
5th day, deciding Cases, and Translations.

15. The examination is threefold:—

I. By replies to set questions.
II. By vivâ vôce conversation, and reading Vernacular dialect.
III. By written translation and decision, and oral dictation.

16. In addition to the examination, the following matters will be taken into consideration by the Divisional Committee:—

I. The qualification Report, noting the following points:—

1. Attendance at Court.
2. Attention to duties entrusted to him.
3. Temper.
4. Accessibility.

II. English abstracts of decided cases, selected as fair specimens of the general style of work, during the last three months.

III. Caligraphy, in the proper Vernacular of the examinee.

17. The papers of set questions, not less than 12 in number, and selected passages for translations, will be printed confidentially in the Government Press, and a sufficient number of copies forwarded to the President of each Committee, in a sealed packet, which will not be opened until the examinees are assembled in the Committee room. A key will also be forwarded in a separate sealed packet, not to be opened until the papers have been handed in by the examinees.

18. The Divisional Committee will value the performances of each examinee by marks: the maximum value assigned to each question will be printed on the question paper, and the maximum value of each subject of examination is as follows:—

		Marks.
1.	General report of qualification ..	150
2.	Abstract of decided cases ...	50
3.	Criminal questions	120
4.	Civil questions, including Law of Evidence...	120
5.	Revenue questions, including Treasury	120
6.	Public Works, Local Funds, and Jails	120
7.	Written translation	60
8.	Dictated translation	20
9.	Decision in cases	80
10.	Reading Vernacular and Bankers' books	40
11.	Conversation	80
12.	Caligraphy	40

19. The Divisional Committee will attach to each reply of the examinee the value which they assign to it, and they will also note the value assigned to the whole subject of examination. Unless two-third marks are attained on the whole, and one-half of the marks in each subject, the examinee is to be rejected, unless, on the recommendation of the Cent a' Committee, the Lieutenant-Governor grant special indulgence on this point, in any case. No conditional passing is allowed; an examinee is either absolutely passed, or absolutely rejected.

20. Each examinee should bring with him from his district his qualification report and bundle of abstracts of decisions; and as these papers are so constantly not forthcoming, the Committee should not admit an examinee until he has produced those papers as his testimonials; and if the qualification report is of a decidedly unsatisfactory character, the examinee should be at once in limine rejected, as it is clear that no amount of intellectual attainment will make up for this practical defect.

21. No catch questions are to be allowed; that is to say, each question is to be practical and of every day occurrence, and neither devised to trip up an unwary examinee, nor to gratify a taste for subtle hair-splitting on the part of the gentleman who prepares the questions.

22. Honorable mention is to be made of all examinees who distinguish themselves generally; but the Committee should in their report specify the portion of the examination in which the distinction is evidenced. There are two grades of distinction, "with credit," "with great credit."

23. The Cantonment Magistrate is to be examined in the same Criminal papers as the other examinees. He cannot be expected to reply to all of the questions of the Revenue or Civil papers; those will be marked which he is expected to reply to. The Cantonment Magistrate is not expected to reply to the paper on Public Works, Local Funds, and Jails. He is expected to bring a qualification report and abstracts of decided cases. As regards written translation, dictated translation, decision of cases, reading vernacular and bankers' books, conversation and caligraphy, he stands on the same footing with other examinees.

24. The native examinee is to be examined in the same Criminal papers as other examinees, with the exception of the questions which relate to duties of Justice of the Peace. His Civil papers are the same, with the exception of questions taken from Norton on Evidence. In his Revenue paper he is not expected to answer question relating to Treasuries. He is exempted from the paper on Public Works, Local Funds, and Jails. He is also exempted from written translation, dictated translation and conversation; on the other hand he is expected to have a superior knowledge of Devanagree writing and bankers' books, and can take marks for caligraphy; he must also bring with him his report of qualification and specimens of decided cases.

25. The form of tabulated statement to accompany the Committee's Report is given in Appendix III.

26. The examinations shall be conducted by the Divisional Committees, who, after due deliberation in respect to each examinee, will record the results, stating their opinion as to whether the standard of qualification has been attained or not. In the event of difference of opinion, the majority will determine and deliver the record to the President, who shall forward it to the Central Committee with his reasons in detail, if he has disagreed with the majority of the members. The written answers and the other papers, whether in Oordoo or in English, shall also be forwarded. The Central Committee, after perusal of the examination papers and the reports, shall furnish the Secretary to Government with the names of those who, in their opinion, have proved their qualification according to the different standards in force, noting any remarkable merit.

27. The first object of the lower standard shall be to test proficiency in the language used in the Courts of the district. Examinees should be able to read aloud with correctness and moderate fluency a fairly written proceeding or petition taken up at random, and to converse in presence of the Committee with an officer of the Court on simple points connected with official duties. The contents of the papers and the subject of the conversation to be correctly explained to the examiners. An English judgment or other official paper, furnished by the Central Committee, must be translated into the Vernacular without assistance of any kind, and the translation must be substantially correct in meaning, and intelligible to a native. They must dictate offhand into Oordoo, the translation of an easy English report or order. The paper thus written must be in like manner intelligible and substantially correct.

28. The second object of the lower standard shall be to test general acquaintance with the leading principles of the systems of general Administration, revenue, criminal, and civil; and especially with the ordinary rules of procedure, such as are necessary for an officer to exercise properly special powers in the different departments above noted. For this purpose a set of questions is furnished. In revenue, on such points as distraint, summary suits, nomination of heads of villages, and other office-bearers, the mode of keeping accounts in the Tehseel and Sudder Offices, and in the management of Treasuries. In criminal and civil matters, on Law and Procedure.

29. The third object of the lower standard shall be to test the power which the examinee may have acquired to deal with conflicting arguments and evidence in actual cases. For this purpose three decided cases, with the final proceeding in each withdrawn, which the officer to be examined has never before seen, from the civil, criminal, and revenue files, and of the nature of cases made over to officers with special powers, are to be read over to him by a native officer, and the explanation of any difficult word or phrase may be asked for and given in the Vernacular, the circumstances being on each occasion noted. At the conclusion of each case he must write in English a brief but precise description of the case, and a decision upon the question or questions at issue, with a sufficient statement of the grounds on which it is founded. He will also be required to pass orders on a petition from an officer in charge of a Police station, reporting any serious crime or public out-break, and will be called on to show what course he would pursue on any sudden emergency.

30. The fourth object of the lower standard shall be to ascertain how the examinee has been employed, and how he has done his duty, particularly during the six months which has immediately preceded the period of examination. For this purpose his immediate superior shall furnish the Committee with a report as above described.

31. The higher standard shall be similar in its nature to the lower, but more difficult in degree. The examinees, besides being examined in their knowledge of the language of the Court, shall be tested in their proficiency in the Vernacular. They must hold conversation in presence of the Committee with two or three natives of different classes, selected from the inhabitants of the interior, and satisfy the examiner of their power of understanding these people, and of making themselves thoroughly understood by them in matters of local interest or official business. Thus, they must be able to question and to understand the replies of an agriculturist regarding the village tenure, the peculiarities of the soil, the facilities of irrigation, and the character of the assessment. They should be able to converse with the village merchant or banker, regarding their concerns. They must thoroughly understand the numerals used in accounts, so as to be able themselves to examine vernacular accounts. They should further be able to read and understand the Devanagree character. They should be also able to read official papers written in a Persian running hand with tolerable ease. The papers thus selected should be of a more difficult description than those used at the lower examination. The translations, dictation, and conversation should be fluent, generally correct, and readily intelligible. The examinee should be able to explain himself in the language of the Court in an argument or topic of some difficulty.

River Mutlah.

DIRECTIONS FOR APPROACHING AND ENTERING.

THE channels of the River Mutlah having been re-surveyed and buoyed, and a Light-vessel placed at the entrance of the Western Channel, the following are the directions for entering that river in supercession of those dated 8th March 1850.

The Light-vessel is in Latitude 21° 4' 15" North, Longitude 88° 46' 15" East, in thirteen fathoms low water, and bears from the Hooghly Eastern Channel Light-vessel about East thirty-two miles; she displays during the day a red flag at the Main to indicate that she can supply a Pilot, and at night shews a plain light visible about five or six miles only, and fires a rocket every four hours, namely, at 8 P. M. midnight, and 4 A. M., but shews no blue light except in extraordinary cases. She is painted red to distinguish her from the Hooghly Light-vessel. It is intended to have a Pilot Brig on the Station shortly when that vessel only will display the red flag and supply Pilots, burning a maroon at night, when necessary, to direct vessels.

Ships resorting to the Mutlah during the south-west monsoon should adopt a similar route and conform to the directions for making the Hooghly Pilot Station, passing to the southward of the Eastern Channel Floating Light-vessel, which should be sighted in about fourteen fathoms; these soundings should be gradually decreased to thirteen fathoms until the Mutlah Light-vessel is made. Care should be taken not to over-run the distance, especially at night, as a vessel would thus get to leeward and lose time in regaining the Pilot Station. The Light-vessel, it should be remembered, might be driven far from her position by heavy weather, and in that case would shew no light.

During the strength of the south-west monsoon it would not be prudent to borrow nearer the sands than ten fathoms in crossing from the Hooghly to the Mutlah Light-vessel, as there is generally a high sea near them.

During the north-east monsoon Commanders, confident of their reckoning, may work up direct for the Light-vessel, and if the weather be cloudy and thick the soundings should be a safe and sufficient guide.

It is high water on full and change about nine hours at the Light-vessel. The tides set round as in the channels to the Hooghly, the flood making to the West round to North, the ebb to the eastward round to South, having a velocity during the springs of two and a half to three miles an hour, and a rise of nine feet.

There are two channels of entrance into the Mutlah, the Western of Ward's Channel, and the Eastern or Roy-Mutlah Channel. In the former there are four fathoms at low water spring tides, and in the latter not less than five fathoms. The bottom throughout the channels is mud, the sands exceedingly hard, and the lead a safe guide towards them.

The Western Channel is bounded on the West by the Bulchary Reef or sand, extending from the island of that name, and on the East by the Roy-Mutlah sand, part of which dries at low water. The channel is from one and a half to five miles wide, and is marked off by eight buoys, four Red or Western, three Black or Eastern, and a ring buoy, which also marks the north extreme of the Middle Ground.

The outer or Reef buoy of this channel is a second class spire buoy with two baskets on it, and is painted red and marked MUTLAH. It lies in six and a quarter fathoms low water spring tides, about two miles south-east of the extremity of the Bulchary Reef, and three and a half miles North 22 degrees West from the Light-vessel. All the other channel buoys are also spire buoys, but have one basket only; these baskets are sometimes washed off during the south-west monsoon and in heavy weather.

From the outer red buoy marked MUTLAH, which should be passed to the Eastward about half a mile, the true course through this channel is north 14 degrees West nineteen miles to the lower middle ground black buoy marked L. M. G., which must be passed to the Westward. From this point the course in North to Halliday's Island about eleven miles; off the Southern extremity of which a shoal extends for nearly a mile. During the south-west monsoon vessels should borrow on the Western side of this channel, attending particularly to the set and keeping the lead going.

The Eastern or Roy-Mutlah Channel is bounded by the Roy-Mutlah sand to the Westward, and the Bangadoonee Reef or sand to the Eastward, and is marked off by eight buoys, four red or Western, and four black or Eastern.

The outer buoy is a second class spire buoy with one basket on it, and is painted red. It is marked R. R. (Roy-Mutlah Reef) and lies in five fathoms low water on the South-Eastern verge of the Roy-Mutlah sand, bearing from the Light-vessel North 35 degrees East, about eleven miles. On the same bearing four miles beyond is the outer black buoy of this channel marked B. R. (Bangadoonee Reef) with one basket.

The Roy-Mutlah mid channel course is North 40 degrees, West thirteen miles to the anchoring buoy off the Roy-Mutlah patch, dry at low water. It is marked with an anchor (⚓): then North 43 degrees, West seven miles to the ring buoy beforenamed, on the North extreme of the middle ground, passing the black buoy of the Dalhousie spit, marked L. D. (Lower Dalhousie) to the Wesward; care being necessary here as a Ship would be in great danger if to the Eastward of this spit. From the ring buoy the course is North 3 degrees West seven miles to Halliday's Island.

In passing through the Roy-Mutlah Channel great care is necessary to avoid being set on the Bangadoonee Reef, which is steep to and dangerous, as well as to the Eastward of the L. D. buoy; the red buoys, therefore, on the Western side of this channel should, if practicable, be kept in sight.

There are three beacons at the entrance of the river, one at Dalhousie point and another on Bulchary Island, which mark the termination of its right and left banks; a third stands on the Southern extreme of Halliday's Island. The Eastern beacon might be seen soon after passing the patch marked dry at low water on the Roy-Mutlah sand.

After passing Halliday's Island the course is North three degrees East for eleven miles, which will place a vessel off Beadon's Creek; and three miles further, about North twenty-nine degrees East, she will be up to the Cuttalee Reach where the river takes a sharp turn to the Westward and the channel contracts. Here she should anchor if a Pilot be not in charge, and should not go beyond Point Rogers up to which a Commander with Laycock's Chart might, with ordinary c re, conduct his Ship safely without a Pilot, leaving the red buoys to the Westward and the black buoys Eastward of his course, attending particularly to the set of the tides, which in the seaward channels run across the sands on the first quarter flood and ebb as in the Hooghly outer channels. But this should not be attempted by a stranger except in cases of necessity, especially during the south-west monsoon, as the beacons are then liable to be blown down and the buoys to be driven from their positions by heavy weather.

Cinchona Cultivation in India.

From the Secretary of State for India, to His Excellency the Hon'ble the Governor in Council, Fort St. George,—

(dated London, the 16th July 1863.)

Para. 1.—I HAVE considered in Council your letters in the Revenue Department, dated December 19th, No. 90 of 1862; January 10th, No. 2; February 11th, No. 11; March 11th, No. 20; April 11th, No. 29; April 13th, No. 30, and May 13th, No. 43 of 1863, reporting the progress of Cinchona cultivation on the Neilgherry Hills; and observe, with much satisfaction, that the plants have continued to thrive and increase in numbers during the cold dry weather of the winter months. Much credit is due to Mr. M'Ivor, for the zeal and ability with which he has conducted this experiment, and for the great success which has already been attained; and the correctness of the system of cultivation recommended by Mr. Markham, which has been so steadily persevered in by Mr. M'Ivor, is now placed beyond doubt by the results of Mr. Howard's analysis.

2. The specimens of Chinchona bark and leaves which were forwarded with your letter dated April 11th (No. 29) 1863, have been referred to Mr. Howard for analysis, and I now transmit fifty copies of his Report. You will observe that the young bark grown in India has yielded as large a percentage of quinine as is usually obtained from the mature bark of the same species received from South America; and this result, which is as satisfactory as it is unexpected, will, probably, have the effect of increasing the demand for plants in India

3. Mr. M'Ivor's attention should now be directed to the best method of drying the bark, to the discovery of the most advantageous time for cutting it, and to the best conditions for increasing its thickness and its yield of alkaloids. With this view further supplies of bark should be sent home from time to time, in order that cultivators in India may have the advantage of Mr. Howard's observations on these points; and careful meteorological observations should be kept in the Cinchona plantations. I have given directions for a supply of the necessary instruments to be forwarded to Mr. M'Ivor with as little delay as possible.

4. There seems to be every reason to expect that Cinchona cultivation will be very extensively undertaken by private enterprise in the various hill districts of India; and the valuable and interesting Manual of Instructions drawn up by Mr. M'Ivor, which you have caused to be published, is likely to be of great service to cultivators. Many applications have already been made for plants, and I have noted with special pleasure that the heads of Native families in Coorg are among the applicants. Not the least advantage which will be derived from this important experiment is that the use of quinine will be extended to the Natives; and the discovery that the leaves, as well as the bark, yield febrifuge alkaloids, will bring the healing virtues of quinine within the reach of the poorest laborer.

5. I have received reliable information that there has recently been a great and general deterioration of the quality of Peruvian bark received from South America, and, while informing you of this fact, I feel it to be unnecessary to urge upon you the incalculable importance of the success of Cinchona cultivation in India, not only to that country, but to the whole civilized world.

Government of Bengal.

Report on the Sanitary Works on the Eastern Bank of the River Hooghly.

From Lieutenant G. S. Hills, R. E., on Special Duty, to the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I have the honor to forward, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the following Report on the sanitary works on the eastern bank of the River Hooghly.

2. According to instructions received from Colonel Ommanney, Chief Engineer, Bengal, I proceeded to Hooghly on the 18th April, and, after consulting with Mr. Palmer and Dr. Elliot, accompanied by the latter Officer and Mr. J. D. Maclean, I went on a tour of inspection over some of the largest and most affected villages. Having got an insight into the features of the country, and the nature of the work required, I perceived that, owing to the short space of time available, the denseness of the jungles, and the filthy state of the villages, it would be futile to attempt to undertake this augean task throughout the whole of the affected districts. I accordingly determined to confine my efforts to a few of the largest and most fever-stricken villages, with the hope that, if there was a marked decrease of mortality in them, the inhabitants of the other villages would follow the example set to them and adopt similar measures next year of their own accord.

3. I fear much that such will not be the case, and that nothing will be done except by coercion, as the villagers have displayed much apathy to their own welfare, and in some cases have even offered resistance to measures solely adopted for their benefit, and in fact have done all in their power to retard the progress of the works, the richer and more influential Natives having proved the most troublesome. Mr. Maclean held large meetings in the villages and pointed out to the people the advantages that would accrue to them from adopting the measures proposed. Subscription lists were opened in each village and sums varying from Rupees 250 to 3,000 promised, the amount to be paid up in four weekly instalments. The first instalment was paid up punctually, and the work proceeded most satisfactorily. Unfortunately Mr. Maclean was attacked by fever, and as soon as it got noised about that he was unable to exercise personal supervision in almost every village the subscriptions either ceased or were paid up in such dribblets as entirely to preclude the possibility of entertaining any large working Establishment

4. The villages consist principally of scattered groups of huts connected by belts of jungle and mangoe and bamboo topes, the whole being surrounded by an extensive dense and almost impenetrable jungle. In the centre and round each cluster of huts excavations have been made, and from the earth thus obtained the huts have been constructed. These holes, more or less extensive, according to the amount of earth required, become filled with water in the rains, which is allowed to stagnate during the rest of the year. They are used promiscuously for drinking, bathing, and washing, and the filthier they are the greater the attraction to them seems to be.

5. To those who have not actually seen it, it is almost impossible to imagine the denseness of the jungles, or the number and the filthiness of the tanks; wherever the latter have been most numerous there the fatal effects of the epidemic have been most marked.

6. My first object was to clear the jungles around the villages to enable me to see what precautions were next to be adopted. At first I issued orders to clear the whole of the underbrushwood jungle; but as the owners of the land, with few exceptions, took no precautions to prevent the re-growth of it, and as it sprung up as fast as it was uprooted, I latterly desisted from taking any steps for its removal and confined myself to thinning the clumps of bamboos and cutting down all trees except fruit trees and those valuable as timber. In the mangoe topes my orders were to cut down all branches lower than ten or twelve feet from the ground, thus allowing free circulation for the air without materially damaging the trees. Where time and means permitted I have extended my operations to repairing the existing roads and making new ones, and improving the drainage as much as possible. The work of cleaning, deepening, and otherwise improving the tanks I did not undertake, for Mr. Maclean had agreed, at the villagers' own request, to allow them to carry out these measures. For the first fortnight they utterly neglected to avail themselves of this permission. A little mild persuasion, however, had the effect of rousing their energies; but as soon as they became aware of Mr Maclean's illness they abandoned the work, and, as a general rule, very little has been done towards improving the condition of the tanks.

7. Having thus generally noticed the nature of the measures adopted I shall now particularize the work done in the villages mentioned in the margin to which the sanitary measures under my superintendence extended.

1. Samnuggur.
2. Bhatparah.
3. Katalparah.
4. Nyehattee.
5. Garrepah.
6. Halleeshuhur.
7. Kangraparah.
8. Sooksagur.
9. Kasseeparah.
10. Palparah.
11. Bhowanipore.
12. Chogdah.
13. Oollah.
14. Shimlea.
15. Nobla.
16. Mallipottah.
17. Baraset.
18. Majargram.
19. Badoo.

Samnuggur.—On the outskirts of this village are the remains of a Fort covered with the rankest vegetation and surrounded by a deep and wide ditch, in some places dry, and in others partially filled with the foulest and most stagnant water. This pestilential spot belongs to Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore, who, I believe, promised to take measures to improve its conditions, but has utterly neglected to do so. To it I would principally attribute the sickness in the village, which, I believe, will never be in a healthy state until some means are adopted to remove both Fort and Canal, by levelling the former, and using the material thus obtained to fill in the latter. The work in this village was commenced early and was progressing very favorably, several roads were improved, the jungle was being cleared, and some tanks enlarged and re-dug. The richer and more influential Natives were much opposed to the sanitary operations and tried by every means in their power to incite the rest of the inhabitants to refrain from adopting or allowing the measures to be carried out. Conspicuous among them was the Manager of Baboo Prosunno Coomar Tagore's property, and, I believe, it was solely owing to his influence and advice that so much opposition was latterly displayed that we were obliged to discontinue the work altogether.

8. Bhatparah and Katalparah.—In these villages the roads have been thoroughly repaired and the jungle cut.

9. Nyehattee.—In this village the work has been most satisfactorily done, the whole of the roads were repaired, and in spite of the late heavy rains are still in an excellent condition; several tanks have been re-dug and holes filled; the jungle has been thoroughly cleared; a main drain opened through the centre of the village to the river, and several side drains cut communicating with it. Those of the tanks that have not been improved this year the owners have promised to clean and deepen after the rains. The sickness in this village up to the present date has been very limited, and generally confined to those who suffered previously from the epidemic.

10. Gareepah.—In this village the whole of the jungle has not been cleared, but a good deal has been done, and all the roads through the village as well as those leading to the neighbouring villages have been thoroughly repaired.

11. Halleeshuhur.—This is a large straggling village, and a vast amount of work has been done in it, and, I believe, the decrease in mortality has been in proportion very marked, the deaths being at the present season at least 40 per cent. less numerous than at the same time last year. The jungle has been well cleared, and upwards of four miles of road have been made and repaired, and several filthy holes filled in. In the centre of the village was a succession of upwards of thirty tanks of the foulest description following their general course. I have cut a wide khal leading into the river. By means of this, had time permitted, I intended to carry off the whole drainage of the village, as well as to allow an exit for the filthy water from the surrounding tanks with a view to re-digging the larger and filling in the smaller ones. This the owners might do of their own accord next year without incurring much expense.

Kangraparah.—Although the mortality has been very great in this village the inhabitants were very much opposed to sanitary improvements and very dilatory in paying up their subscriptions, consequently the progress of the work was not so rapid or satisfactory as it might have been. Most of the roads, however, have been thoroughly repaired, a good deal of jungle cut, and the drainage, naturally good, has, in some places, been improved, but still much remains to be done in the two latter items, as time and means did not admit of the work being finished. In the Bazar the refuse and filth had been allowed to accumulate for years: this of itself enough to breed a pestilence was all removed, as well as some houses which had been built in the middle of the road obstructing the passage and stopping ventilation. They have now a clean Bazar and easy access to it.

12. Sooksagur, Kasseeparah, Palparah, Bhowanipore, and Monshapotiah.—In these villages the jungle was exceedingly dense; this has been cleared to a great extent, but time and means did not admit of further improvement.

Chogdah.—In this village the jungle has been cleared most effectively, and several roads improved and holes filled in, and one large tank excavated at the expense of a rich Native. The subscription list amounted to Rupees 2,000; of this the first instalment of Rupees 500 was punctually paid up, but subsequently only Rupees 25 have been subscribed. Had the total amount promised been collected the work in this village would have been most satisfactorily completed: as it is the improvement in the health of the inhabitants is very marked: up to the present time very few cases of the epidemic have occurred.

13. Oollah.—The work in this village has been carried on principally under the supervision of the Deputy Magistrate of Santipore, and the greatest credit is due to him for his exertions. The devastation that has taken place during the last six or seven years is fearful to contemplate. It must once have been a flourishing and populous city, it is now little better than a howling wilderness, and every body that had the means fled from this plague-stricken spot. To try to clear the ruins of this village in one year was a hopeless task; but such an amount of work has been done, and so great is the improvement effected in the health of the remaining inhabitants, that the people are flocking back to the village and are re-building their houses, and as they have displayed considerable interest in the sanitary proceedings I have no doubt that measures will be voluntarily adopted by them next year. In the rear of the village is a large bheel, into which, during the height of the plague when people were dying faster than the bodies could be burnt, upwards of two thousand dead bodies were thrown, and which is one of the principal causes of the sickness in the village. To drain this would be very easy, as well as beneficial to the health of the inhabitants. A rough estimate of the cost of the work has been forwarded to Government.

14. Shimlea, Nobla, and Mallipottah.—In these villages little has been done beyond clearing the jungle.

15. In the Baraset Division the only places where sanitary measures have been adopted are in Baraset itself, in Badoo, and Majargram, and the work which has been carried on under the supervision of Mr. Harrison has been cheerfully and most satisfactorily done, the villagers taking a lively interest in the work and paying up their subscription when requested. In Baraset the work has been most effectually done; the jungle is thoroughly cleared; the drainage improved, and many tanks cleared and re-dug: one very large new tank has been excavated at the owner's expense; and the owners of those in which nothing has been done have promised to clean them after the rains.

16. In Badoo several roads have been repaired and the jungle pretty well cleaned.

17. In Majargram the work has been satisfactorily done, and besides the jungle-cutting and road improvements several tanks have been cleaned and re-dug. To the west of this village is a large stagnant khall which communicates with the Souttee Nuddee, and until this is cleaned and a constant and fresh supply of water allowed to pass through it the village can never be a healthy one.

18. The effect of the measures in this District has been considerably to diminish the number of cases of epidemic fever, while those who are attacked suffer from a very mitigated form, which has scarcely in a single instant proved fatal.

After taking into consideration the short space of time available, the season of the year, the unhealthiness of the districts where the works have been carried on, from the effects of which all my subordinates have suffered more or less, I trust that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be satisfied with the result of our operations. Much more would have been done but for the opposition displayed by the influental natives and the limited amount of the local subscriptions.

19. Before closing this Report I beg to bring to the favorable notice of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor the services rendered by Mr. A. C. Galbraith. He was the first subordinate that reported himself, and for the first fortnight the only Assistant I had, consequently I was obliged to place under his charge the whole of the District from Samnuggur to Kangraparah. When the others did report themselves the works under his charge were progressing so favorably, and he himself, though two or three times prostrated by fever, proved so indefatigable in his exertions, that, as he expressed his willingness to continue his onerous duties, I did not think it advisable to relieve him of any part of his charge. The amount of work done, and the improvement in the condition of the villages, is a sufficient testimony of his energy, but to shew how thoroughly the inhabitants of Hallee-shuhur appreciated his efforts, I may state that they presented him with a complimentary address, thanking him for his good services. The rest of my subordinates performed the work allotted to them to my satisfaction.

No. 216.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

My Lord,—Several applications have been received from the younger Officers of the new Line Regiments for permission to re-consider their election for those Corps and to resume their positions in the local Army.

2. Under the circumstances of the case I considered it inexpedient that their applications should be complied with.

3. With a view, however, to meeting, as far as possible, the wishes of these Officers, no less than of others of similar rank who have been unsuccessful in their applications to join these Regiments, it has been determined, in communication with His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, to permit exchanges under certain conditions, and for a definite period, between certain classes of Officers who have joined the new Line Regiments and Officers of similar rank now in the local service.

4. I forward, for your information, copy of a General Order which His Royal Highness proposes to issue upon the subject, and which, I request, may, when so issued, be published for general information.

5. The applications submitted under this order by Officers now in the new Line Regiments will be forwarded by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief to the Horse Guards, while those from Officers of the local service will be transmitted to this Office, with the sanction of the several Governments, for communication to the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief.

6. In both cases the applications must be received at the Office of the Adjutant-General of the several Presidencies before the 1st of October 1863, and in both the opportunity of exchange will be granted to applicants according to seniority.

7. Officers of the Indian Army, naming a particular Regiment into which they wish to exchange, will understand that if their position in the list of applicants does not give them a claim to enter that particular Regiment, or if there should be no Officer of corresponding rank desirous of exchanging out of that Regiment, their application for exchange will be considered void.

I have, &c.,

Exchanges.

His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief is pleased, with the concurrence of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India in Council, to announce that exchanges will be permitted between Officers who have entered the new Line Regiments from the General Lists, or from the Cadres of European Regiments of the Indian Army, and Officers of Cavalry and Infantry respectively, of corresponding rank now of the Indian Army, without reference to the Presidency to which they may belong.

Officers of the new Line Regiments of the classes above described wishing to revert to their former position in the Indian Service will submit their application to the Adjutant-General of their respective Presidencies on or before the 1st of October 1863, after which date no application will be received, and no such exchange will be permitted.

These applications, if supported by the Commander-in-Chief in India, will be entertained according to seniority, and to the numbers and rank of Officers of the Indian Army desirous of joining the new Line Regiments whose names may be received from the Secretary of State for India.

Officers of the new Line Regiments permitted to exchange under this order will revert to the positions which their name still occupy in the lists of the Indian Army.

Officers of the Indian Army will enter the new Line Regiments under this order as the junior of their grades in each case.

By Command,

(Sd) J. Yorke Scarlett,

Adjutant-General.

No. 550 of 1863.—The following Rules will have effect in modification of those laid down in Government General Order No. 55, dated 17th January 1862:—

1. Statements of objections to charges made in Bills for pay, &c., will be issued in a revised form which has been approved.

2. The Statement will be sent by the Pay Examiner direct to Regimental Pay-Masters and to Commanding Officers of Batteries of Royal Artillery and of Regiments of Native Troops.

3. The answers are to be entered in the proper column in the Statement which, on the Certificate being duly signed, is to be returned direct to the Pay Examiner.

4. The Statement of objections on Bills drawn by individual Officers and others and by Heads of Departments will be transmitted to Divisional Pay-Masters, who are to send them, without any delay, to the parties concerned and obtain their answers for transmission to the Examiner.

5. All answers to objections must be given as soon as practicable, and not later than one month from the date of the receipt of the Statement. If no answer is received within the month the objections will be considered as acquiesced in, and recovery of the items objected to will be made from the first Bill submitted.

6. On receipt of the answers the Examiner will record his decision transmitting the Statement, on which will appear the objection, the answer, and the decision to the Divisional Pay-Master for communication to the party concerned.

7. The sum disallowed from Regimental or Battery Pay Abstracts is required to be deducted by the Regimental Pay-Master or Commanding Officer from the total of the charges in the first Pay Bill submitted after the receipt of the Statement containing the decision which is to be attached as a voucher.

8. An Officer from whose Bill a disallowance is made is required either to pay the full amount of the disallowance to the Divisional Pay-Master, or to deduct it from the total charges in his next Bill, attaching the Statement as a voucher. Should the amount not be recoverable in full from one month's Bill, the balance will be recovered from those of subsequent months.

9. The balance after the deduction will be the amount to the credit of the Pay-Master or Officer, and chargeable in the Divisional Pay-Master's weekly Disbursement List.

10. If the Pay-Master or other Officer neglects debit himself or to pay the amount as above ordered, the Divisional Pay-Master is required to deduct it, crediting or paying to the Officer and charging in his Disbursement List the balance only of the Bill.

11. All allowances, except Pay Proper, Horse Allowance, and Tentage, are available to meet retrenchments against the personal pay and allowances of Officers.

12. Any Officer can appeal to the Controller against a disallowance made by the Examiner, but only after recovery of the sum disallowed has been effected.

13. The necessary subsidiary instructions for the guidance of Pay-Masters and others will be issued by the Controller.

Read the Office Memorandum from the Home Department No. 812, dated 3rd February last, requesting to be informed of the steps that may be taken in this Department in the preparation of a scheme of the tests, mode of examination, &c., relative to staff employment in the Foreign Department.

Read also the General Order in the Military Department, No. 332, dated 10th April 1861, respecting the formation of a Staff Corps.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General observes that the appointments under the Foreign Office to which Officers admitted in the Staff Corps are eligible fall under two Departments, the Civil and the Political; each Department possesses its own special tests for regulating promotion and advancement within it which it is not necessary to supersede. The object of the Rules now framed is to determine whether the qualifications of the Officer for employment in the Department to which he is posted, as ascertained by the examinations to be held afford a sufficient guarantee of successful employment therein, and so to settle his claims for permanent appointment to the Staff Corps.

As under this view the examinations will be necessarily preliminary, it is obvious that on some points the requirements of each Department of staff employ will form a common ground to which one Rule will apply. These points would be the period of probation; the time during probation when the Candidates may be expected to come up for examination; the mode of conducting examinations. The constitution of the Examination Committees are generally the standard of examination, while the differences would almost wholly be in the nature of the subjects of examination with which each Department may be concerned.

RESOLUTION.—In accordance with the above considerations, and after a careful comparison of the opinions of the several Officers to whom reference was made on the subject, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General is pleased to issue the following Rules for the employment of Officers under the Foreign Department:—

I.—GENERAL RULES.—The period of two years is fixed as the limit within which Officers admitted to the Staff Corps on probation, and entertained in either the Civil or Political Department under this Office, are required to qualify themselves to undergo the examinations hereinafter mentioned, in passing which examinations Officers will have a claim to have their services retained, and, under the orders of the Military Department, to be permanently appointed to the Corps.

II.—Candidates will be admitted to examination at the end of their first year of Civil or Political employ, and thereafter at the intervals of six months. Considering the long period allowed for qualifying in the Civil and Political Departments a high standard of attainment will be required.

III.—As in the case of the Local Civil examinations, the questions will be issued by a Central Committee in each Local Government, Administration, or Agency. The Examinations will be held at such Stations as may be considered most convenient, and will be conducted by Local Committees, consisting of three or more Officers of standing and experience, who will transmit the answers, with their opinion, to the Central Committee, whose decision will be final.

IV.—The qualification tests in the examinations of both Departments will have reference to two branches (A) Languages; (B) General and Special Subjects hereinafter specified.

V.—RULES FOR CIVIL DEPARTMENT.—(A)—Languages.—As under paragraph 80 of the General Order in the Military Department, No. 332, dated 10th April 1861, Officers must have passed the P. H. examination before admission to the Staff Corps on probation, Candidates will be required, before being confirmed in the Staff Corprs, to pass the High Proficiency test in the Vernacular language used in the Courts of the Province to which they may respectively be attached. If the language of the record in the Courts of the Province be the Hindoostanee, then, besides passing the High Proficiency test in Hindoostanee, Candidates will be required to pass an ordinary examination in one of the dialects spoken in the Province which may not be the language of the Courts, e. g., in the Punjab, Punjabee, or Pushtoo, in the Central Provinces, Mahratta, and so on.

VI.—General and Special Subjects—(B)—Candidates will be required to shew a general knowledge of Indian History, Political Economy, and Jurisprudence. It will be optional with them to choose any works on these subjects in which they may prefer to be examined, but the titles of such Works must be communicated to the Central Committee three months previous to the date of examination.

VII.—Candidates will be required to shew a special knowledge of the Penal Code, the Criminal Procedure Code, and the Civil Procedure Code, as well as a familiar acquaintance with Revenue details as contained in the directions to Revenue and Settlement Officers, and the special Revenue Rules in force in the Province in which they may be employed.

VIII.—RULES FOR POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.—(A)—Languages.—Officers having already passed the P. H. examination before admission to the Staff Corps on probation will be required, before being confirmed, to pass the High Proficiency test in Persian or Arabic, and also in Mahratta or Hindoostanee.

(B) General and Special Subjects.

IX. Candidates will be examined in the General History of India, the Treaties and Engagements of the British Government with Native States as set forth in the Volumes* now in course of publication by this Office. A special knowledge of the History of the part of the country in which the Candidates may respectively be employed will also be required.

* A collection of Treaties, Engagements, and Sunnds relating to India and neighbouring countries.

X. Candidates will further be required to shew a thorough acquaintance with the Penal Code, the Criminal Procedure Code, and the Civil Procedure Code, and also a fair knowledge of International Law and the conflict of Laws. They may choose for themselves the Works on the General History of India, International Law, and the conflict of Laws in which they may wish to be examined, but, as contained in any standard Works which in each case may be selected, the titles of such Works must be communicated to the Central Committe three months previous to the date of examination.

To the Officiating Civil Pay-Master, Madras.

Sir,—In reply to your letter No. 320, dated 17th July 1863, I am directed to state that the new Rules for the grant of leave of absence to Uncovenanted servants may be applied in their spirit to servants drawing less than 100 Rupees a month, it being understood that in regulating the grant of absentee allowance to an amount not exceeding that authorized by the Rules a sufficient sum will be reserved for the provision, in each case, of an efficient substitute for the absentee.

I have, &c.,

6. With regard to the ruling that service on a salary of 10 Sicca Rupees a month gives no claim to Pension under the Rules, I must observe that, as it has long been the practice to allow Pensions to Uncovenanted Servants whose salaries paid in Company's Rupees have exceeded 10 Company's Rupees a month, it seems undesirable that a higher minimum rate of remuneration should be required as a qualification for Pension in the case of those who have drawn their salaries in Sicca Rupees; and I accordingly authorise you to admit to the benefit of the Pension Rules Uncovenanted Servants whose monthly salary, though paid in Sicca Rupees, has exceeded, for the required period, 10 Company's Rupees in value.

Notice

Is hereby given that, under orders of the Board of Revenue, dated 12th of January 1863, the Khas Forests of Cachar, containing Caoutchoue trees, and bounded on the East by Munipoor; West by Sylhet; North by Assam; and South by Independent Tipperah, will be leased to the highest bidder on the 14th day of October 1863 in the Superintendent's Court.

The terms of this Lease will be as follows:—

1. This Lease will extend only to such lands within the boundaries as are not settled by private individuals for the purpose of cultivation.

2. This Lease will be for the exclusive privilege of collecting Caoutchoue within these Forests for a period of one year from the 1st of November 1863, and for which the sum of Rupees (as bid) will be paid.

3. This Lease will not interfere with the existing rights of the Public to cut timber (other than Caoutchoue trees) or grass or bamboos, or to collect and gather any other products of the Forests, such as bees' wax, danmia, &c., nor will it interfere with the Government right of Elephant catching.

4. With a view to prevent the waste or permanent injury of the Caoutchoue trees by overtapping or otherwise the lessees will have to limit the period for collecting the gum to the interval from 1st November to 30th April.

5. And to provide for the loss of trees by injuries which may be done to them by parties collecting the gum the lessees will have to bind themselves to plant 400 Caoutchoue trees in the Forests, 200 to the North, and 200 to the South, of the River Burak.

6. Should the lessees, or their respresentatives, fail to fulfil the above engagements, or any of them, the Lease will be resumed; but previous to the resumption a formal notice will be served on the lessees requiring them to shew cause to the contrary. Failing good cause shewn the resumption will be embodied in a formal proceeding and duly recorded, the lessee forfeiting the amount paid for the whole year.

Government of India, Public Works Department.

Report by Major Sankey, Assistant Chief Engineer, Mysore, of two tours of inspection made by him in that Province.

From MAJOR R. H. SANKEY, R. E., Assistant Chief Engineer, to the Officiating Chief Engineer in Mysore,—(dated Bangalore, the 30th May 1863.)

HAVING been directed by the Government of India* to furnish a digest of the report on my inspection tour undertaken in November, and further being requested by the Commissioner to add some particulars connected with my examination of works in another portion of the Province during last month, I have the honor to offer the following observations, and at the outset beg to state briefly the extent and objects of the journeys in question.

* Secretary to Government, Department Public Works, No. 2023 of the 30th April 1863.

2. On my November tour while proceeding along the Mysore Road I inspected chiefly the Anicut now constructing across the Shumsha River at Muddoor, the site of the proposed large Soolakerray Tank, and also the position for an aqueduct over the Lokani River near Seringapatam. Continuing my route through Yelwall I turned north and examined the proposed new line of road leading direct from Mysore to Hassan, with the sites for the bridges, which may eventually span the Cannery and Hemavutty Rivers at Yedtora and Nursipoor.

3. Proceeding thence to Arculgode and Coodlipett I was enabled to see nearly the whole of the road now under construction between that place and Mercara in Coorg, and subsequently the Munzerabad Ghaut, the site of the proposed bridge over the Himavutty at Saklaspoor, the road leading along the western ghauts to Moodgherry the Boond Ghaut (now under construction), the road through Chickmuggloor to Santawara, and the top of the Bababooden Mountains; the proposed new ghaut leading down from Santawara to Lingadhully, and the new road from Terrikerray to Adjumpore.

4. From the latter place striking across the valley of the Huggary by Hossdroog, I reached the Mauri Cunawai, and subsequently proceeding to Herrioor returned by the main road to Bangalore. The whole of this route, which can be easily traced on the Map, is about 600 miles in length, and occupied the whole of the month of November.

5. During the last week of April I inspected the new Railway Feeders to the east of Bangalore, and then proceeding along the new Cuddapah Road, as far as the Frontier at Ralpand, returned to Chintomonipett and rode over the proposed line from that place vid Sandly to Bagapully near the Madras Frontier on the Ghooty Road. From this point striking across country, I passed through the mountainous tract at Goodybundah and thence to Goreebednore, visiting en route the fine Tank at Wottadahoshully.

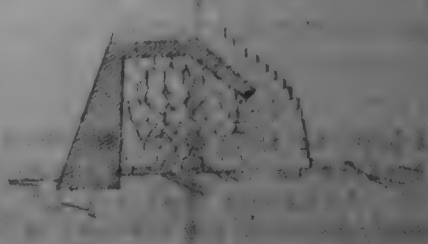
6. From Goreebednore I returned south to Dodaballapoor examining the proposed line of road between these two places, and subsequently after inspecting two ghauts north of Nundidroog and some short roads now under construction about that place returned to Bangalore.

7. Taken together these tours extended over 900 miles and enabled me to see most of the important works either under execution or proposed. Of these, I shall now endeavor to explain concisely the most important features, adding some observations of a general nature connected with the working of the Department, &c.

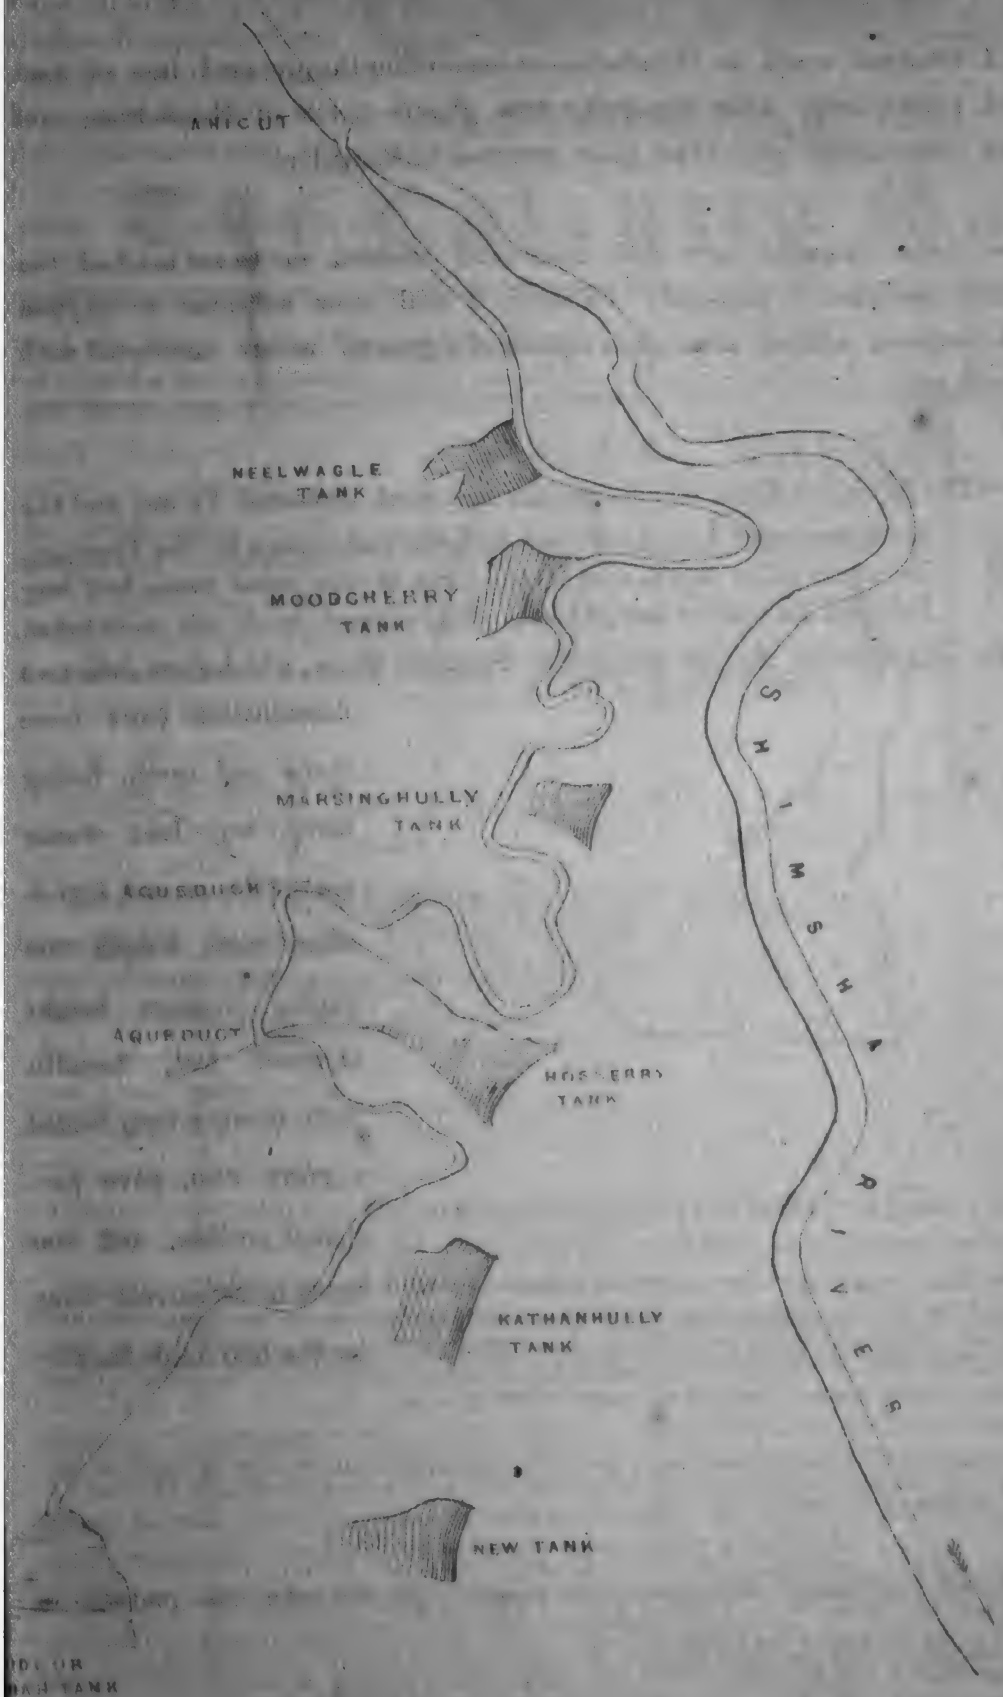
8. The Muddoor Dam.—The Muddoor Dam, which was the first work inspected by me, and the most important irrigation work hitherto undertaken in the Province, lies eight miles north-west of the town of the same name, half way between Bangalore and Mysore. The present work was undertaken with a view to re-placing the old Native Anicut across the Shumsha River, which from defective construction (core loose stone and earth, facing brick, top long stones packed dry on end, foundation rock, length 300 yards, average height thirteen feet, breadth forty to sixty feet) leaked a great deal, gave perpetual trouble, and was liable to be carried away by the first high flood.

Revised Estimate, Rupees 62,000.

9. The new Anicut is being constructed immediately in rear of the old one, the material of which is being turned to account. It is only ten feet broad at the top, which is formed of cut stone laid on brick in chunam-facing, brick in chunam-core, boulders and small stone grouted in backing, cut stone in steps.



10. The channel which leads off from a head or regulating sluice at the west flank of the work is eleven miles long, passes through two tanks above three others, and from the quantity of water which will now be available a new tank is to be constructed, and the tail of the channel led to the large Cushah Tank at Muddoor. From the great expense of land thus brought under irrigation, the Returns on the outlay are calculated at 16 per cent., and will probably exceed this when the works are completed and the whole of the water utilised.



11. When inspected by me about 150 feet of the dam had been carried to very nearly the full height, and although thus exposed with one end en láir it had successfully withstood the rush of some severe floods which had passed over it during the monsoon. Nothing could be sounder or more satisfactory than this portion of the work.

12. This work, the idea of which originated with Captain Johnson, the Executive Engineer, will doubtless, when completed, prove a great success, and this will be the more satisfactory as the strength of the Department has been severely tried by its execution. When commenced there appeared no probability of obtaining properly qualified superintendence, and the country afforded no labor, carts or cattle: every thing almost had to be imported. Floods came down the river, material was destroyed by rain, cholera broke out among the work-people, and the superintendence has been very inefficient, yet spite of every thing the work has advanced, and though again and again delayed by unseasonable and almost unprecedented rain, will, I hope, be sufficiently advanced this season to make good our pledge of bringing nearly all the tract between the channel and the river under irrigation.

13. Soolakerray Tank.—A few miles past Muddoor the new Seevasamoodrum Road takes off in a southerly direction, and the work of formation is progressing satisfactorily; it is not, however, bridged as yet. After proceeding some distance along this road and turning off to the village of Sadallahully (shewn in the Trigonometrical Survey) a view is obtained of the rich valley, which will probably at no great distance of time be brought under the effects of irrigation from the proposed large Soolakerray Tank, the formation of which has long been contemplated by the Mysore Engineers.

14. There is an old native bund now existing across the valley 11 or 1,200 yards long, and varying in height from twenty to forty feet. Gaps were left in the bund for the sluices, the whole front faced by magnificent blocks of stone, and the only remaining work was the construction of sluices and waste weirs, with the filling in of the centre part of bund through which the river now flows in a bed some seventy feet below the crest of the bund. Possibly, the difficulty of filling in this great central gap intimidated the original native projectors of the work, for it was evidently never finished, or the tank brought into action.

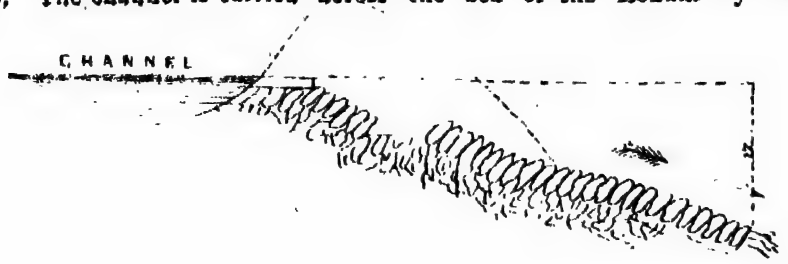
15. The fall of the river is no less than eleven feet per mile, and the flood section 200 feet wide by fifteen feet in depth, and all are agreed that the supply of water would be most abundant. Captain Johnson had a survey taken and levels run for the high level channels, and had framed an Estimate, amounting to two lakhs, for raising the present bund twelve feet, and otherwise completing the work. The whole project is certainly well worthy of consideration, but being under the impression that in the absence of reliable data regarding the supply of water it would be undesirable to propose so large an extension of the work, I recommended that after further investigation an Estimate should be framed, which should provide for little more than the completion of the original native work, as we would thus, it appeared to me, insure large profits at a minimum cost.

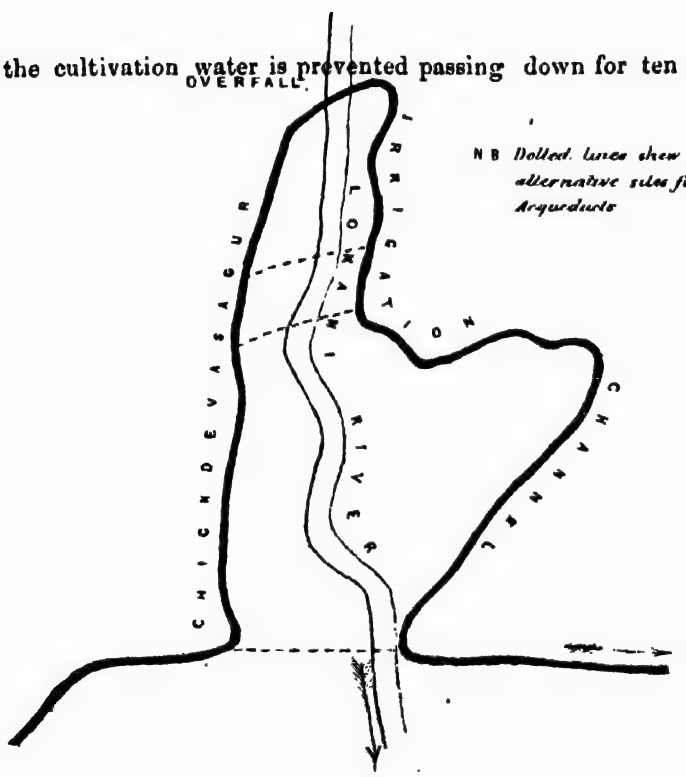
This suggestion is now being acted upon, and there is every reason to believe that a detailed Estimate will be ready for entry in the next Budget.

16. The Lokani Aqueduct.—After proceeding about eight miles beyond Mundiem on the Mysore Road and turning off to the Military Station known as the French Rocks (Erode on the Map) the Lokani River is met about two miles from the Station, and just at this point is crossed by the great Chickdavasagur irrigation channel, which, taken off from an Anicut several miles up the Cauvery River, here diverges nearly five miles from the stream and converts the whole of the intervening ground into a sheet of wet cultivation—the finest in the Province.

17. The channel has a total length of seventy-two miles, and produces a yearly revenue of Rupees 69,000, its maintenance in a thorough state of efficiency is therefore of the greatest importance to the State: yet considering that the canal by reason of its length crosses a great amount of drainage from the upper lands, this is necessarily a matter of considerable difficulty, and especially is this the case at the point above mentioned.

18. The channel is carried across the bed of the Lokani by means of an old native weir (200 feet long, seventeen or eighteen feet high, composed of large blocks of stone packed on end at the surface, and abutting against rock at foot), and the river floods find vent by rushing over this into the natural channel below. At such times, however, so much silt is brought down into the irrigation canal on either side that frequently at the most critical period for the cultivation water is prevented passing down for ten days or a fortnight. After violent floods, moreover, the weir itself often needs much repair. It is therefore most desirable on all accounts that the difficulties at this point should be overcome by doing away with the weir altogether and carrying the canal over the Lokani at some site lower down by means of an aqueduct.





19. I was enabled to select three alternative sites for the required work with Captain Johnson, all good in their way. Each has its peculiar features, which it is unnecessary to detail here, and as the adoption of one or other must depend mainly on the amount of Estimate now under preparation, it will suffice to say that the work will probably be entered in the next Budget.

20. There is the most distressing waste of water all along the many fine channels led off from the Cauvery and Kemavutty Rivers, and it will need years of the most persevering efforts to bring the matter at all into a satisfactory state. A newly constituted Establishment has been placed lately under the Revenue Authorities for general purposes of conservation, and with their aid and the steady correction of such defective points as that above mentioned much will be effected in time. Valuable as these channels are now they would become infinitely more so under proper regulation, as not alone could their length be greatly increased and much more land brought under irrigation, but by securing a constant supply of water throughout the year, the area of such highly remunerative corps, as sugar-cane, mulberry, &c., could be vastly increased. The subject is of the highest importance, but as it is also an intricate one I can do no more than allude to it here.

21. I may now advert to the condition of the communications in this part of the country. Although only little more than half a century has passed since Buchanan reported that the traffic was confined to pack bullocks and donkeys, a net work of Imperial Roads, Provincial and District, now covers the Province, and this is being further completed by Talook Roads either under execution or projected. As the Map which accompanies this Report shews the present position of matters much better than could be described, I shall confine myself to observations regarding one or two missing links in the chain of communications, investigations connected with which formed one object of my tour.

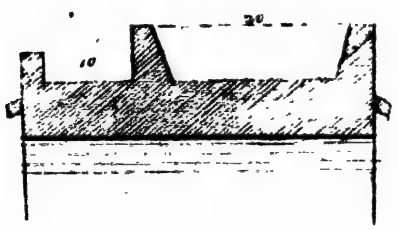
22. Mysore and Hassan Road.—The chief of these is between Mysore and Hassan, the latter place (or rather perhaps Nursipoor) being one of the great trade centres on the east of the ghauts, Chickmuggloor in Nuggur being the northernmost. In proceeding now from Mysore to Hassan the road after passing the Wellesley Bridge at Seringapatam takes north as far as Chewroypatam, where turning at right angles to the west Hassan is reached after a circuitous route of sixty-nine miles. It will be observed, moreover, that while thus lengthening the distance very considerably, it leaves the whole of the rich country on the right bank of the Hemavutty altogether cut off from communication with the main arteries of the Province. This defect it has long been thought desirable to remedy, and efforts have been made through the means afforded by the Plough Tax Fund to establish a direct road which shall lead from Mysore through Yedtora and Nursipoor to Hassan.

23. The first link in the line, viz., from Mysore to Yelwall, has long been a second class road, and a short Plough Tax or fourth class road is being worked out between Yelwall and Yedtora. After this there occurs a gap to within ten miles of Nursipoor, where again a fourth class road is under execution. A rather indifferent third class communication joins Nursipoor and Hassan. My attention was directed to the establishment of a properly bridged third class road from end to end, and an Estimate with this object is now being framed.

24. The total length of the road will be fifty-nine miles, and bridges will eventually have to be constructed over the Cauvery at Yedtora and the Hemavutty at Nursipoor, but if proper ferry boats be substituted for the present primitive basket boats, the expense of bridges need not be immediately incurred.

25. In addition to these rivers the only one of importance which crosses the proposed road is the Lutchmanteerth, but very opportunely an old and useless aqueduct spans the stream at a very good part for the road, and this will readily turn into a bridge. It may be mentioned that this aqueduct is in connection with a channel taken off from the Cauvery below Yedtora, and formed part of a gigantic project undertaken by the celebrated Dewan Poorneah for supplying the town of Mysore with Cauvery water. Alongside and forming part of the work is a roadway ten feet wide, so that by simply throwing down the wall separating this from the aqueduct portion a fine road will be at once formed of thirty feet in clear width.

SECTION
THRO ROADWAY & AQUEDUCT.



26. When in the process of time it may become desirable to bridge the Cauvery and Hemavutty Rivers no difficulty will be experienced, as the banks (each about 400 feet apart) are high and the beds consist throughout of rock. The only precaution required will be with reference to the provision of sufficient waterway for extraordinary floods, one of which I find occurred in 1822, and rose to a considerable height, twenty-two feet at Yedtora, twenty-eight feet at Nursipoor.

27. The construction of the road in all other respects will prove neither difficult nor expensive, both the soil and gradients being favorable throughout, and the amount of drainage to be provided for small.

28. Mercara and Coadlipett Road.—The next link of importance which it is desirable to complete is that leading direct from Mercara in Coorg viâ Coadlipett to Munzerabad, the great centres for coffee plantation in this part of the Province. Between Munzerabad and Coadlipett there has been for some years a bridged road, and for the last two years work has been in progress on the forty-three miles of road between Mercara and Coadlipett. At the period of my inspection my baggage cart got easily over the eighteen miles between Coadlipett and Somwarpett, and it is expected that the whole amount now remaining to be executed (about five miles) should be worked through in a year. Though carts will thus soon be enabled in favorable weather to proceed with produce from end to end, it must not, however, be understood that the road will be nearly complete, as the communication so far is sustained by means of log bridges over all nullahs which must give place to ones of a permanent description; and further, as the road itself will have to be widened, the surface corrected, and three bridges built, one over the Choranhully (one span of fifty feet), another over the Mahadapoorhully (two spans of fifty feet), and a third over the Huttee River (three spans of fifty feet.)

29. In this part of Coorg there are several old native tracks leading over hill and dale to the marts of Soobramany, &c., through Somavarsunttay and Fraserpett (Kooshalunggur of the Map), but as these climb up the steep sides of mountains and through dense forests wholly regardless of gradients, the traffic has hitherto necessarily been confined to pack cattle. The road, however, now being constructed, though in a few places rather steep (i. e. having gradients as high as one in twenty), will allow of fully laden carts using it, and it will doubtless be followed in time by many other roads opening up the most valuable sites for coffee plantations, of which there would appear to be scarcely any limit.

30. The Estimate first framed for the work, Rupees 20,000, as may be imagined, will prove wholly inadequate. A correct survey with full details, &c., will however be shortly in the hands of Government, the Assistant Engineer in charge, Mr. Stoddard, having now been long engaged upon it. Estimates for the three bridges abovementioned were submitted last year, they were to be timber trusses, masonry being thought too expensive in consequence of the great distance from which lime has to be procured (none is to be found in any portion of the Mysore Ghauts) and the difficulty of procuring bricklayers. If we could get Messrs. Knight and Company to tender for iron lattice bridges in lieu of the proposed timber ones, the result would undoubtedly be much more satisfactory.

31. The Saklaspore Bridge.—The next work of importance which I had an opportunity of inspecting was the proposed bridge over the Hemavutty at Saklaspore, the head of the Munzerabad Ghaut. The original Estimate for this work providing for six timber trussed spans of sixty feet each amounted to Rupees 98,117, but this has been in a measure set aside by a proposal now before Government to substitute for it a bridge consisting of three iron lattice spans of 120 feet each, and it is hoped the matter will receive favorable consideration.

32. My attention was simply directed to the choice of a proper site for the work, the one originally selected lying some way north of the town, and necessitating long embanked approaches. I am quite satisfied that the bridge may most advantageously be placed just below the present ferry and in the direct line leading through the town of Saklaspore. The river at this point is exceedingly straight for half a mile up and down stream, and there being but little embanking, and no provision required for lateral drainage, from 15 to 17,000 Rupees may be saved on the Estimate.

33. The Kempakull Bridge.—Regarding the Kempakull Bridge at the foot of the ghaut, and the ghaut road itself, little need now be said, as both will form the subject of special Estimate before long. It may, however, be observed that the climate at the foot of the ghaut is so unhealthly, it appears almost hopeless to assign either reliable time or rates for the execution of any work there, and consequently, with reference to the bridge in question, it would seem to be the wisest policy to have it constructed in the most rapid and efficient manner, i. e., by employing iron lattice trusses. At present there is an old timber structure which serves to keep up the communication enabling the Coffee Planters, whose Estates spread far and wide over the head of the ghaut, to send their produce by cart to Mangalore, instead of by pack bullocks, which latter method entails the greatest inconvenience with reference to sorting the different classes of berries at the port for the European market

34. The Boond Ghaut.—The next work worthy of consideration is the so-called Boond (Coffee) Ghaut, situated twenty-four miles north of Munzerabad. It has been in hand for seven years, and last year an Estimate amounting to Rupees 34,682 was sanctioned for opening it out for cart traffic. When completed it should allow the Coffee of the Estates lying about the Bababooden Hills (the oldest plantations in South India) being conveyed direct to Mangalore. Much of the Munzerabad Coffee may also eventually follow the same route. It is quite possible that the designation assigned to this ghaut has lost somewhat of its distinctive significance since the rise of Munzerabad and Coorg as centres of Coffee production, but in addition to the valuable Estates about the Bababoodens, there is an almost boundless tract of country lying northward between the Boond and Agoombee Ghauts, which, when opened up by roads, will probably restore the preponderance to this line and make it the most frequented on the western ghauts.

35. The work is so important in itself, and of such a peculiar character, that I make no excuse for giving some further details connected with it, although I understand my full Report has already been submitted to Government.

36. Kotegar, which is the recognised head of the ghaut, is little more than an open piece of ground favorably placed for a bazar and bullock encampment. A small village now exists there, and the place is to a certain extent sheltered from the monsoon by the Hills which crown the summit of the ghaut, and cluster round the Pass through which the road is carried.

37. Leaving Kotegar and passing round a thickly wooded knoll to the right, the side cutting being very heavy at this portion, the road descends with an easy gradient to the so-called Custom House Bridge, at which point the central stream of the valley is crossed.

38. A little in advance of this point the whole valley bursts on the view in a magnificent panorama. On either side the mountains, which are for the most part covered by grass, with deep thickly wooded glens running nearly to the summits, appear to descend with great abruptness and at once impress one with the boldness of the work. Further, as the Hooleekullbettah (Tiger Mountain) rises directly in front and appears to close completely the valley to the west, it would seem at first that there was no outlet to the basin.

39. The thin line of ghaut road which is seen climbing along the great mountain spurs to the right, and gradually descending towards the Hooleekullbettah, shews, however, that there is an exit in that direction, and after traversing the road for eight and a half miles (the total length of the Mysore portion) from the head, the spectator finds himself directly fronting this lofty pyramidal mountain, with a wide valley opening seawards on his right hand, and affording an almost endless prospect of the Canara country at his feet.

40. The Mysore portion of ghaut, which is generally twelve to fifteen feet wide, falls very gently to a point about five and a half miles from Kotegar. Here the line ascends for half a mile, it having been considered inadvisable to attempt to carry it with the same gradient across a rocky cliff nearly 500 feet in height, which here bars the path. As I forward a Sketch of this point shewing the road passing over the top of the shoulder, it will be at once seen how this formidable obstacle rules the gradient of the ghaut so far, and that there existed good reason for the adoption of the present line.

41. The remaining two and a half miles of road from this point (known as the top of the counterslope) descends with an easy gradient to the Madras Frontier, where there is a short zig-zag joining the two traces. Some very formidable obstacles had to be encountered in this portion, the chief of which was the Codakull (Umbrella Rock), which formed part of a precipice of sheet rock some 350 or 400 feet in depth, and for a long time effectually baffled all efforts to cross it. A happily lodged charge of powder, however, produced a slight displacement, and the whole obtruding mass some 100 feet long by fifteen feet thick becoming detached rushed into the valley below and allowed of a sufficiently wide road being established across the ledge. It is unnecessary to dwell upon other impediments of a similar nature as all real difficulty has now vanished, and the completion of the work is only a work of time.

42. The Madras portion of the ghaut commences near the head of the second valley, which it reaches by being carried along a saddle connecting the first with the Hooleekullbettah, along the northern slopes of which the road is taken, and descends by a series of zig-zags to the foot at the village of Charmondy. Though steeper than the Mysore portion it is wider, and therefore more advanced for cart traffic, but as some rivers in the low country still require to be bridged, the opening of the through line to the coast cannot be looked for immediately. With vigorous efforts I have no doubt that produce could be sent down the ghaut by carts in two years.

43. Even now in the unfinished state of the road the amount of traffic carried on during the dry season is very considerable. (In the monsoon the difficulties occasioned by the great rainfall on the portion of the ghauts, coupled with the dread of meeting wild Elephants, which are frequently to be met with in herds at this season, stop all communication). Some days, I am given to understand, the number of pack cattle may be counted by thousands, and there can be no doubt, when complete, the road will become the most frequented on the western ghauts, the gradients being easier than on any other, and the communication with the port of Mangalore more direct. This result, too, will appear the more satisfactory if it be borne in mind that the inhabitants of this part of the country were never thoroughly subjugated by any Native Ruler, and that it is only quite of late years they have ceased to form an imperium in imperio.

44. Of the approaches to the Boond Ghaut a few words will suffice. The road leading from Munzerabad to Moodgherry, twenty-one miles in length, passes many valuable Coffee Estates. At present it is but an unbridged fair-weather road, and will therefore need improvement.

45. From Kotegar to Moodgherry and thence to Wustara, Chickmuggloor, Santawarra, and the Baba-booden Hills, the road is an indifferent bridged line with at one point an almost impracticable ghaut (the Bussawan Cunawai) which must be retraced. A special Estimate for raising the whole of this, the main feeder to the Boond Ghaut, to the standard of a third class road is now under preparation, and should appear in next Budget.

46. An Estimate for Rupees 32,941 stands in the current year's (1863-64) Budget for constructing a road from Chickmuggloor to Cuddoor vid Sacrapatam, and a further amount will be entered next year for making a new ghaut to lead from Santawarra to Lingadhully. These, with other matters connected with the communications in this portion of the country, were dwelt upon in my detailed Report, but as they are not of any special interest they need not be further adverted to here.

47. As my inspection of the Huggary Valley, and the site for the proposed Mauri Cunawai Tank near Herioor, forms the subject of a special Report and Estimate now being submitted to Government, I shall not advert to the matter at present: the state of the communications in this part of the Province may, however, be remarked on concisely.

48. On referring to the Map it will be observed that the wide area between the Cuddoor, Shemoogah, and Herioor Chittledroog Roads, is as yet untraversed by a single road from east to west, although much of this part of the country, especially the valley of the Huggary, is extremely barren, yet such is not the case throughout. About Chennagherry and other parts there is abundance of black cotton soil, which, from the efforts now being made, will probably prove an abundant source of wealth; there is, therefore, no reason why this part of the Province should be left destitute of roads, the more so as it forms a distinct obstacle to communication between the east and western portions of the lately constituted Nuggur Division. The Chittledroog District is now practically cut off from Shemogah, which is the Divisional Head-Quarter.

49. To remedy this a road is now under execution from Chittledroog to Doomee and thence to Benkipoor, where there is a fine bridge over the Budra. This road should be formed and bridged within two and a half or three years. A short line is also well advanced between Terrikerray and Adjumpore, and I satisfied myself that this could be pushed on through Hosadroog to Herioor at very little cost, the soil being very favorable and the drainage trifling. A Plough Tax Road is also proposed from Hoolyaur though Hoosdroog, Holalkaira to Anagode, on the Chittledroog Hurryhur Road. When these shall have been carried out the country may be considered as fairly opened.

Dearth of labor along the Ghauts and in Nuggur.

60. The next point of importance refers to the supply of labor for our works along the Ghauts and especially in the Nuggur District. The natives of this part of the country are so independent (though it will scarcely be credited several coolies who caried my baggage refused all remuneration, and this I understand is no uncommon occurrence) that the Planters as well as our Department have to look exclusively to the Lumbanees, who as a class are as much noted for their laziness as their filth-

61. Natives from other parts of Mysore soon sicken in the Mulnaad (the local name for the country lying under the ghauts to the east), the climate of which they dread. One Company of Kalihants (Mysore Labor Corps) which was sent for work on the Angoombee Road soon deserted in a body, and on presenting themselves at Bangalore scarcely a man was able to stand from the effects of fever. The only place from which labor could be drawn to any extent was Canara, but now since the large works at Shedasegur, &c., have been started this source has completely failed, not a man is to be procured.

62. One most fruitful source of difficulty with reference to labor is the competition arising from the extension of Coffee plantations. It frequently occurs that no sooner has one of our Subordinates by great labor collected a sufficient body of coolies than a Planter's Agent steps in and carries off the whole under heavy advances. So common is this occurrence that it is believed to be systematic. An advance in ready money has thus been made to a single influential cooly of Rupees 60, the rest of the gang getting smaller sums. While, however, it may be satisfactory to know that some of the Planters have politely acknowledged the services the Subordinates thus render, the difficulties with which our Department are left to struggle are most disheartening.

63. In justice to the Planters it must be admitted that they are at times put to grievous stress for want of labor, and when this occurs at a critical time for the crop they have no choice but to get labor at any price. In Munzerabad only a very few years ago coolies could be got for Rupees 2-8. They are now 5 and 6 Rupees, and ere long will probably be 7 Rupees per mensem. In Nuggur the rate has not gone as yet much higher than 4 Rupees, but it is rapidly rising.

64. In the concluding portion of Lieutenant-Colonel Kennedy's Report on the works in North Canara (published with Secretary to Government of Bombay's letter No. 4528 of 1st August 1862), he draws attention to the grave difficulties attending the supply of labor in that part of the country; when, therefore, I mention that to North Canara Captain Palmer had till lately to look for much of his labor for the works in the Mulnaad, and that even that source is now cut off, the importance of the question as concerns this Department will be sufficiently apparent. Spite of every effort works only creep into existence in Nuggur. No Contractors can be obtained. Every Subordinate either loses his health there and has to be sent away, or, still worse, deserts his post. This is but plain matter of fact, which I think it right to state in justice to the Executive Engineer.

65. Yet it is absolutely necessary that the valuable Coffee lands at the back of the Bababoodens and about Coppa, Kig, Namur, &c., should be opened up, and a line of communication established between the Boond Ghaut and the country lying north, much of which has probably never been visited by any European; means must therefore be found for grappling with this labor difficulty.

66. As in some measure likely to effect this object, I would venture to propose that the great bulk of the Kalihant Corps, now about 852 strong, be sent to the Boond Ghaut and Nuggur; that an Apothecary with all requisite medicines be attached to each Company, and that every man be given good warm clothing; further, that the pay while so engaged be raised to 6 Rupees per mensem. In addition to this I would raise more Companies in Nuggur itself, and enlist men if possible down the Coast. I do not say that this will succeed; much, however, I think can be done by selecting in the first place really able-bodied men, taking care of them and giving high pay.

67. The Commissioner has lately seen fit to recommend the advisability of making the Executive ranges conterminous with the new Civil Districts, and there can be no doubt that if this be acceded to great relief will be given to the Executive Engineer of Nuggur, who is no less overburthened by the difficulties connected with his Subordinates, and the supply of labor, than he is by the undue extent of his range. I now beg to pass on to my tour undertaken during the last week of April, the extent of which is given in paragraphs 5 and 6, and having already made this Report too long, I shall endeavor to be as brief as possible.

New Railway Feeders.

68. One main object of this tour was the inspection of the Railway Feeders to the east of Bangalore, which have been under execution during the past year. I found them extremely well laid out, and all, with the exception of the line between Colar and the Marmootal (near Coppum) Station, nearly completed. Even on this line rapid progress was being made. There being in no case large streams to cross, the masonry works have been extremely light, still I think the rapid and efficient manner in which they have been executed shews the great advantage of a proper system of contract by which they have all been carried out. The whole of these roads should be complete by the end of next month, or several months before it is probable the Railway will be open to the Public.

New Cuddapah Road.

69. Proceeding round by Tulgarah and Thadgole I inspected the fourteen terminal miles of the new Cuddapah Road, the frontier being about two and a half miles beyond Ralpand. Much of the end portion of this road lies through a hilly country covered with scrub jungle, and though there is no bridge here above thirty feet span, a good deal of minor lateral drainage had to be provided for. The work has been performed very creditably, and, with the exception of one or two breaks at nullahs in the Madras Territory, the line is complete from Bangalore to Cuddapah; and notwithstanding that perhaps no very great amount of through traffic can be expected, it will be a most useful line. New Bungalows at Tulgarah and Ralpand had been opened for the use of travellers shortly before my visit.

70. Returning along the same road I was enabled to examine the trace of the proposed line, thirty-two miles in length, leading from Chintomonipett to Bangapillay vid Sandly, and which it is very desirable should be opened soon, both in the interests of the Railway Company and that of the country generally. I was enabled to suggest several improvements in the trace, which, with other matters, have been dwelt upon in my detailed Report. Here it will suffice to say that throughout the line both the soil and gradients are favorable, and setting aside the provision for minor drainage only three bridges will be required, one over the Pennakerray (three arches of twenty-five feet each), another over the Coosbavutty (one arch of twenty-five or thirty feet), and the third across the Chittravutty River near Bagapilly at the junction of the new road with the existing main road from Bangalore to Ghooty. This last river will need seven or eight arches of twenty-five feet.

71. Some wild rocky country is passed through on this road, and a little blasting will be required. The Survey and Estimate originally prepared under orders of the Executive Engineer, Mr. Dobbs, will require but little alteration, and will ere long be forwarded to Government for entry in the next Budget.

72. An alternative site had been proposed for crossing the Chittravutty River, but I was led to recommend the one above alluded to as possessing the advantage of placing the Cusbah Town of Bagapilly in immediate communication with the main road, and of enabling a Plough Tax Road to be pushed forward, when funds may admit, to the important town of Goomnaickenpollium, which, buried in the rocky mountains to the east, has at present no proper communication with any of the main lines of the country.

Proposed roads through Goreebednore.

73. On referring to the Trigonometrical Survey it will be observed that the Cusbah Town of Goreebednore (about twenty-five miles north-west of Nundidroog) is situated in a valley bounded by a range of Hills on the east, stretching northwards from Nundidroog, on the west by the range containing Daveroy and Mudgherrydroogs, and on the south by Manclydroog, and is thus cut off from communication with other parts of Mysore. There exists, it is true, a track through the mountains on the east by which pack cattle and even half laden carts can proceed to Goodybundah and thence to the Bangalore Ghooty Road, and again on the south there is a steep ghaut on the south-east of Manclydroog, which gives an exit to some of the produce southwards; but for all the practical purposes of trade the valley is at present excluded from the system of roads in Mysore. The Natives consider it as belonging to the country below the ghauts.

74. For many reasons it is most desirable to alter this state of matters. Not alone is the valley rich and productive, but the Madras (Bellary) Authorities are most anxious to have Goreebednore placed in immediate communication with the town of Hindoopoor to the north, to which place they have carried a line in continuation of that leading through Handyanantipoor and Pennacondah.

75. An inspection of the Map will shew that if we carry a road from Dodabattapoor through Goreebednore to Hindoopoor, we shall not alone open up this hitherto closed valley but lay the basis for establishing a more direct route than now exists from Bangalore to Ghooty and thence to Hyderabad. I inspected the greater portion of this line with Mr. Dobbs, and as a trace will be made before long followed by a detailed Estimate, the subject will probably be definitely brought before Government in connection with the next Budget.

76. Another obvious line of road is that which would connect Mudgherry with Goreebednore, and thence through Wottabahosshully and Goodybundah to the main Bangalore Ghooty Road. We have now a line almost finished between Seerah and Mudgherry to the westward, and this proposed road would simply form its continuation piercing the Goreebednore Valley from east to west, which is very much needed. The whole of this line, with the exception of the ghaut leading down from Goodybundah to Wottadahosshully, might be constructed from the Plough Tax Fund, the ghaut which will require careful tracing and working out being left to this Department for execution.

77. I may mention that in addition to these lines a Plough Tax Road is projected from Goreebednore to Mauchanhully to the south-east and thence to Chickballapore. The only difficulty in this communication will be a small ghaut leading through the Hills between the two latter places. My examination of this ghaut led me to conclude that it must also be carried out by our Department, and that before commencing the line must be accurately surveyed and traced, the ground being extremely difficult and encumbered from end to end by piles of rock.

78. Before leaving this interesting valley I must make a brief allusion to the Wottadahosshully Tank, which is, without exception, the finest work of the kind I have seen in the country. It is situated at the end of the valley which has its head near Goodybundah and receives the whole of its drainage, converting the country below, opening to the westward into a wide irrigated plain. The approach to the head of this beautiful sheet of water is by the Pass in the mountains leading down from Goodybundah; its length, when this tank is full, is perhaps two and a half miles by over half a mile in width. Though thus much smaller than many of the Tanks in Mysore, it is remarkable for the great height, sixty feet of the bund, which is 12 or 1300 feet long, and most picturesquely situated between the two flanking Hills at the end of the valley. The mountains on all sides are composed of heaped-up masses of granite, and the Hill to the south against which the bund abuts on that side cannot be less than 1,500 feet high.

79. The bund has a solid stone facing on both its front and rear slopes, and differs very much from all others I have seen, not alone in its height but the manner in which the work has been executed, being quite straight and workmanlike throughout. The immediate object of my inspection was with reference to the sluice, which was reported out of order and for which an Estimate had been framed. This I however found to be erroneous, and but a trifling amount of work required.

80. I may now conclude this Report by mentioning that the only matter of much importance which further required my attention was the so-called Nundidroog Ghaut, situated north of the Hill and on the provincial road leading through Chickballapoor to Colar. It has hitherto been so steep as to prove an effectual bar to through traffic. Though a good sum of money will be required to correct its defects, I was enabled to select a line, which on being worked out will give sufficiently easy gradients.

81. On the accompanying lithographed Map of the Province both the above tours are shewn in yellow.

Government of Bengal.

Report, on the Dacca Charitable Dispensary.

From J. Wise, Esq., M. D., Civil Assistant Surgeon, Chittagong, to W. Thomson, Esq., M. D., Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Dacca Circle,—(dated the 1st July 1863.)

I have the honor to forward, herewith, a Report, in original, from Native Doctor Ramkinoo Dutt, the Officer in charge of the Government Charitable Dispensary, for the half-year from 1st January to 30th June 1863.

The period under report has included some of the most unhealthy months ever known at Chittagong. Up to the middle of April Fevers prevailed, but not in so great a proportion as usual. May and June have verified the character they have always possessed of being the most feverish months of the year. This is a circumstance so peculiar to the Station that it is worth while dwelling on. By some the unhealthiness during these months has been attributed to the large Plain situated on the north-east of the Cantonment which becomes hardened by the sun, then at its greatest strength. The ground cracks and gives issue to malarial vapours, which at other seasons lie hidden. I am not a believer in this theory. During September, October, and the following dry months the same flat becomes hard and fissured, but it does not give rise to malaria. The opinion I have formed of the insalubrity of this season is, that it is to be accounted for by the heavy falls of rain during March and April with intervals of intense heat, which are sufficient to cause the rapid putrefaction of the vegetable matters which accumulate in the Valleys throughout the Station, being left there by the yearly fall of leaves and decay of the exuberant jungle. The nights then are very close, still, and with a comparatively high temperature. Valleys or Kuds in such weather are proverbially unhealthy from the stagnation of air and the generation of malaria. The abodes of the Natives are surrounded by jungle, are wanting in a free circulation of air, and are at all times damp. Living in such an atmosphere it is not astonishing that they are predisposed to Fevers.

Another cause of the frequency of Fevers there is the sudden alternations of temperature. The violent storms from the North-East bring with them a cold damp wind. No extra clothing is ever worn on that account, and in men constitutionally weak, residing in an unhealthy climate, nothing is more certain of inducing an accession of Fever.

That the low lying places between the Hills are the sources of the Fever is proved, I think, by the fact that the residents on the Hill tops are much less liable to attacks than the inhabitants who live at the bottom. If the Plain abovementioned was the origo mali the people residing near it ought to be more subject to Fever than those further removed. This certainly is not the case. The men who live along its edge are robust, muscular, and apparently healthy, contrasting favorably with the dwellers in the Bazars near rice cutces, &c., who are the chief sufferers.

The type of Fever peculiar to Chittagong is very similar to that described by Dr. Elliot in his Report on the Epidemic in the Hooghly District. The mortality is not so great, and its character is more that of an endemic disease; but in the suddenness of severe symptoms, in the congestion of internal organs, and in the tendency to death by Asthenia the two diseases are similar. It is a Remittent Fever accompanied by great irritability of the stomach, rapid depression of the muscular and circulatory systems, and by the early appearance of typhoid symptoms. Quinine or Cinchona are of little use in its early stages. Purgatives combined with antimonials followed by antiperiodics and tonics have been found by me most efficacious. In this Fever there is a great tendency to relapses accompanied by abnormal excitement of the intestinal mucous membrane. In these respects it approximates to the Typhoid Fever of cold countries.

In several cases lately I have observed an eruption over the whole body, but I have not been able as yet to satisfy myself regarding its nature. It has only been seen in cases where the Fever was in an aggravated form, resisting Quinine, &c. In the North-West I have seen case of Roseola in Europeans very like those now described, but the redness was invariably circumscribed in circular patches, and not causing much constitutional irritation. In those lately noted almost the whole surface of the body was covered with a dark red eruption, slightly elevated, and causing incessant itching and irritation. It disappeared in three or four days, leaving the patient weak, but free from Fever.

Ague with enlargement of the Spleen is the most common form of malarious Fever in this District. Children are all more or less affected. Mussulmans appear to be less subject to it than Hindoos. Up-Country men, especially Seikhs, do not survive, with very few exceptions, a few years' residence here. It is only within the last thirty or forty years that Chittagong has earned for itself its present bad name. Previously it had been the sanitarium of Bengal, and here Sir William Jones was in the habit of coming to renovate his health. Since his time the chief features of the country have remained unchanged. The river has not materially altered its course. No marshes or churs exist now which were not found then, and it is probable that the cultivation of rice was carried on to as great an extent then as at the present day. The only satisfactory explanation of this great change is that it arises from neglect of all sanitary measures, from allowing jungle to overrun and hide the whole Native city, and from the numerous stagnant tanks which are permitted in every part of the city. These omissions of the past, I am glad to say, are in a fair way of being remedied. A Municipal Committee has been appointed, and their attention has been already directed to these points. I am quite convinced that, if measures for the redress of the above are gradually and judiciously introduced, they will cause a marked change on the health of the inhabitants, and will restore to Chittagong that good name it has so undeservedly lost.

If Fever has not been so severe or widespread as in former seasons, Cholera has visited the District and Station with unprecedented virulence. Twelve years have elapsed since an epidemic of equal intensity has passed over these parts. Last November a few Sporadic cases occurred in the Station, but I have not been able to hear of its having existed in any other Division at that time. In December a large body of Hillmen was employed cutting down and collecting wood (as is their yearly habit) in the jungly country up the Kasalong River. They were living in wretchedness, having no tents or huts, sleeping on the bare ground exposed to a very heavy dew, which during that month falls in these Hill Tracts, and without a proper supply of food. Among these men Cholera appeared, although it was not found in any of the neighbouring villages. Many of them died, and terror seizing on the survivors they fled to their own homes. This dispersion stopped the spread of the disease. After the lapse of some time, recovering from their terror, they returned, but again they were attacked. They a second time broke up, but now they carried the disease along with them. In the Chukma villages up these inland rivers, and which at all times are filthy in the extreme, the epidemic ran riot, carrying off numbers of the inhabitants. There are three Police Stations in that direction; Kasalong about ninety miles from Chittagong, Chandragona about thirty, and midway between these lies Rungamattea. At each of these places the Police are quartered in stockaded enclosures, which are kept clean and with open land all round. Cholera did not spare these places entirely, but the seizures were few. One Sepoy died at Kasalong in March, one Jemadar at Rungamattea on the 28th March, one Sepoy at Chandragona on the 30th March, and another on the 9th April. The disease following the course of the River Kurnafoolie approached Chittagong, and the first case in this city was on the 27th April. This was in a Suburb called Chunderpoora. It was in the first week of May that the cases became frequent and the deaths numerous. At first the majority was confined to Buckshie's Haut, a low lying Bazar near the banks of the River, which has always been the most sickly during epidemics. There is a Ferry here, and Native Boats from villages up the river discharge their cargoes here. Several tidal nullahs surround it and cut through its midst. Near it also is the Burning Ghaut of the Hindoo population, and, I think, the frequent passing of bodies through the Bazar had a lowering effect on the minds of the Natives, and thus predisposed them to the attacks of Cholera. Great numbers of the Natives departed for their homes as soon as the outbreak was heard of. This tended to spread the disease an alarm at the same time. Throughout May this Bazar continued to be the most unhealthy part of the Station. Next to this Haut, the place where most cases occurred, was Patan Toolie, a Native Suburb, buried in the densest jungle to the south of the Station. Into its midst no currents of air ever enter, the ground is always damp, and the sun is unable to penetrate the dense foliage. A third place where many cases were found was the married quarters of the Police. This is situated in low lying marshy ground.

The disease, however, was not confined to the abovementioned situations, for no part of the Native city was exempt. A cure here and there was daily reported to me. One day to the Sudder Ghaut, another at the Dispensary, while on a third it was at the extreme western boundary of the city. Several villages to the North and North-East suffered greatly. In April and again in the end of June reports were constantly being brought in of the numbers dying, and these, although exaggerated, had doubtless some foundation in fact.

Throughout June the disease lingered on. Kutteglungo, the northern boundary of Chittagong, was visited early in the month. Alishur, a fishing village on the seashore about five miles to the south-west, remained quite free until the middle of June, when a few cases were heard of. The disease spread in the Commillah direction, but did not commit much damage in any of the villages along the road. Two servants belonging to the Survey, who had marched from Tipperah, were seized and died of Cholera the day of their arrival here, the 21st of June. From those whose experience of Chittagong has extended over many years I have been informed that this one has been without precedent as regards high temperature. The Thermometer frequently marked 91° within doors. The weather was very close, wanting in sea breezes, and the North-West storms were not so violent or frequent as usual. This sultry, unseasonable weather, was, as is always the case, unhealthy. Almost every one complained of lassitude, loss of appetite, with a tendency to irregularities of the bowels. Diarrhœa became almost an epidemic. It was chiefly owing to increased action of the intestinal mucous membrane. Ipecacuanha combined with Soda were found most efficacious. This Diarrhœa, if neglected, generally passed into Cholera. At this season jack fruit and numberless varieties of hard and indigestible vegetables are in great profusion. Natives recklessly devour enormous quantities of these, and thus increase the internal irritation and expose themselves to the attack of the Choleraic poison.

The means which were adopted for checking the progress of the epidemic were, under these discouraging circumstances, the distribution of Cholera Pills (Assafœtida, Opium, Black Pepper) among the people. Each Mohulladar was given a large supply; notices were posted in public places; and criers were sent about proclaiming that Cholera medicine was procurable at a certain house. At first there was no great demand for the Pills, but as soon as they were tested and found useful the consumption increased. The same medicine was also furnished to all the neighbouring villages as soon as the presence of Cholera was heard of. To the Native Doctors at my disposal I allotted a certain portion of the city and directed them to make morning and evening visits and prescribe for those who were found ill. In Buckshie's Haut especially, where numbers of travellers and pilgrims were congregated, and who were living in misery without proper shelter, great good was done. The difficulty was to find out the sick sufficiently early, when some little good is possible. The Native Doctors did their duty well and efficiently. Many were saved by their hands, and the Natives were apparently grateful for the trouble taken on their behalf.

Few cases of any great interest have been observed in the Dispensary during the half-year. The Natives of this District have the greatest objection to stay there, and their confidence in European medicine is not of the highest. Even Quinine, which in Upper India is considered the panacea for every disease, is not believed in here. They refuse to take it in the early stages of Fever, because it drives the poison into the bones!! In cases where the Native quacks fail, they sometimes come and ask for Quinine, but even then they do not do so as if they believed in it.

Operations are at a minimum here. None of the larger operations of Surgery have been performed during the six months. Fevers with enlarged Spleen constitute the largest proportion of admissions. Several interesting cases of fracture, however, have been treated. One of the lower jaw, through the Symphysis, caused a good deal of trouble The man was doing well when a sudden attack of Pneumonia came on and he died. Another was fracture of the olecranon from a blow, which healed with only a partially stiff joint.

In conclusion I beg to bring to your notice the good conduct and attention to their duties of the Dispensary Establishment. A Compounder and a Bheestie were both attacked with Cholera, but both recovering the alarm which their illness caused subsided. The Dispensary Building is not creditable to the Station of Chittagong. It is too confined and too much surrounded by Jungle and Hills. The expense of building materials has prevented a new one being erected. A sum of money which was collected in former years is now lying, bearing interest in the hands of the Magistrate, but this is not sufficient for the purpose. Another attempt ought, I think, to be made to induce Government to sanction a further grant of money. The ground which was taken up some years ago appears to have many advantages over the present site. At any rate there are many open and healthy localities in the neighbourhood which, I have no doubt, might be purchased for the purpose of erecting a building worthy of the Station and of the present age.

Extract from the Half-yearly Report of the Dacca Mitford Hospital for the period ending 30th June 1863 by Sub-Assistant Surgeon Doorga Doss Kur, attached to that Institution.

"We had an epidemic of Cholera to contend with during the present half-year. It made its first appearance in January, and had continued to rage more or less both in and round the city the whole of the six months. It has not subsided yet. The fact is that Cholera has become one of the endemic diseases of Dacca. On a reference to the monthly Return of this Hospital for the present half-year it will be found that not a month has passed without there being admissions of Cholera patients. Sporadic cases of Cholera are always present in Dacca, and are daily becoming more frequent. It is only when they become unusually frequent and are unusually unmanageable that we call them epidemic. This is evidently the result of the total and shameful want of conservancy in the city. The population is large and the Native quarter too thickly crowded. And there is no such thing as drainage or sewerage of any sort whatever. Filth and excrement of all description, human ordure, vegetable and animal refuse of uncleansed slaughter houses, and unswept bazars, have been allowed to accumulate in almost every quarter of the city, not for days, or months, or years, but for generations. Besides, old houses and ruined mosques untenanted and overgrown with rank, unhealthy vegetation, dried up ponds, and tanks chocked up with all sorts of jungly growths and converted into general privies and cesspools of the neighbourhood—all combine to make this ancient city one reeking and enormous hot-bed of all sorts of malaria. The air we breathe, the water we drink, are saturated with noxious effluvia, and until a thoroughly organized system of sanation and conservancy be secured the state of things will continue to grow worse and worse and ere long render the place scarcely habitable. Indeed, the thing has become so intolerable, the want of conservancy so crying, that at last a public Meeting has been called by the Commissioner of the District to consider what provision ought to be made for the conservancy of the city, and it has resulted in petitioning the Government for the introduction of Act XXIV. And it is hoped that under the superintendence of a regularly constituted Municipality the Augean Stable will at last be cleansed and proper sanitary measures adopted, and the ancient City of Dacca rendered salubrious."

Government, North-Western Provinces.

Report on the working of the Government Tea Factories and Plantations for 1862-63.

From W. JAMESON, Esq., Surgeon-Major, Superintendent of Botanical Gardens, North-Western Provinces, to R. SIMPSON, Esq., Secretary to the Government of the North-Western Provinces, Allahabad,—(No. 315, dated Seharunpore, the 8th May 1863.)

I HAVE the honor to lay before you, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, the following details shewing the manner in which the Tea Factories and Plantations in the North-Western Provinces have been worked during the last season, or from April 1862 to April 1863:—

2. During this time the quantity of Tea prepared in the Factories was—

		lbs.	ozs.
Kowlaghir Factory in the Dehra Dhoon		18,915	12
Hamul Bagh ditto in Kumaon	...	6,241	8
Ayar Toli Factory in Kumaon	...	8,475	8
Bheem Tal Factory in ditto	...	2,251	0
Total	...	35,883	12
To this add the yield of the Kangra Plantations	...	16,125	0
And we have thus an out-turn of	...	52,008	12

3. During the season the Government Plantation at Paoree in Gurhwal has been sold for Rupees 1,00,000, (one lac of Rupees.)

4. In addition to the Tea produced an enormous quantity of seeds has also been yielded. Thus—

		Mds.	Seers.
Dehra Dhoon Plantations	...	1,307	0
Hamul Bagh ditto	...	973	39
Bheem Tal ditto	...	135	0
Ayar Toli ditto	...	446	33
		2,859	32
ADD—Yield of Kangra Plantations	...	1,151	0
Total	...	4,010	32

or the enormous quantity of 148 tons, 2 cwts., and 10 lbs.

5. Financially the result of the working of the Tea Plantations, North-Western Provinces, may be thus considered—

		Rs.	As.	P.
To 35,883·12lbs., at Rupees 1-8 per lb.	...	53,825	10	0
To 2,859 maunds of Seeds, at Rupees 20 per maund	...	5,7180	0	0
Total	...	1,11,005	10	0
To expense of working the Plantations	...	65,000	0	0
Balance	...	46,005	10	0
To this must be added the value of the plants distributed gratis to private Planters, viz., 7,00,000, at Rupees 3 per 100...		21,000	0	0
Total Balance	...	67,005	10	0

	lbs.	ozs.
6. All the Plantations shew an increase on the out-turn of last year, that of the Dehra Plantations being ...	3,933	4
Of the Hamul Bagh and Ayar Toli Plantations ...	689	10
And of the Bheem Tal Plantation..	985	9
Total ...	5,608	7

7. The demand for Tea is greatly on the increase, and the prices realized at the auctions were fair average ones,—Appendix E.

8. To the Commissariat 3,756lbs. of Green Tea were made over to the Assistant Commissary General, Umballah,—See Appendix D. By Natives the demand is considerable, and by one party, a Cashmere by name Gholam Ghose, 1,300lbs. were purchased to forward to Bochharah.

9. To the Plantations themselves considerable additions have been made, particularly to those of Ayar Toli, where upwards of two hundred acres of Waste Land have been broken up and planted. All the remaining Waste Land too at Hamul Bagh has also been planted, and at Bheem Tal a large tract of jungle has been cut down, cleared, and planted.

10. To private Planters great assistance in the form of seeds and plants have been rendered, and during the season the enormous qantity of 2,055 maunds or 77 tons, and 700,000 seedlings, have already been distributed gratis from the Plantations, North-Western Provinces, to applicants,—See Appendix F. But this enormous quantity was very far short of the demand.

11. To the Madras Government, at the request of Dr. Cleghorn, twenty-four large packages of Tea seeds were forwarded to the Secretary to Revenue Board, Madras, which by him have been sent to the Collectors of Salim, Madura, Tennivelly, Coimbatore, Malabar, and Coorg for distribution to Planters.

12. In the cultivation a large amount of capital is now invested, and annually large tracts of jungle land are being broken up and planted with Tea; and such is the demand for seeds that prices demanded by private Planters who have Plantations, varying from Rupees 20 to Rupees 50 per maund, were readily given for them, and by a sale of seeds to private Planters, portion of the produce of the Government Plantations in the Kangra Valley, the large sum of Rupees 14,060 was realized. This sale, however, was cancelled by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, it having been shewn that private Planters were guaranteed the distribution of seeds and plants gratis so long as the Government Plantations were kept up. At Darjeeling seeds were, during the last season, selling at the rate of Rupees 120 and Rupees 130 per maund; and in Assam at Rupees 250. This, therefore, shews their value, and the value of the aid yielded by the Government Plantations to private Planters in their gratis distribution.

13. To many Planters, both European and Native, experienced Tea Cultivators, and Tea manipulators have been given, and in every Tea Factory from Kumaon to Kangra men educated in the Government Factories are to be found. In every Plantation, too, formed by private parties, their head Native workmen or Chowdries are found to be men brought up in the Government Plantations. But to give this kind of aid, and at the same time to distribute seeds and plants largely, and thus encourage and rapidly extend Tea cultivation in the Kohistan and Dhoons, are the chief purposes for which the Government Plantations are now maintained, and this, I trust, has been done in a most efficient and effectual manner.

14. To Madras, on the requisition of the Madras Government, four experienced Native Tea-makers have been forwarded from the Factory in the Dehra Dhoon to teach the Natives in that Presidency how to manipulate Tea.

15. To shew the extent of the move connected with Tea cultivation in the Kohistan of the North-Western Provinces we shall briefly mention the Plantations now in working order, and illustrate the remarks with a Map which was prepared in the Office of the Surveyor-General of India, Colonel Thuillier, by orders of His Honor the late Lieutenant-Governor.

16. In Eastern Kumaon, at Petoraghur, and Lohooghat Messrs. Lyall and Company and Messrs. Dansey have formed Plantations, and are carrying on their work with vigour and energy. These Plantations near the Kali River, which separates the British Territory from Nepal Proper, are the most eastern ones in the Kohistan of the North-Western Provinces. Proceeding to the westward, viâ the Military road leading to Almorah, we come to the Plantations of Messrs. Wheeler at Culnah, consisting of three hundred acres, of which upwards of 100 have been planted.

17. In the immediate neighbourhood of Almorah we met with numbers of small but fine Plantations belonging to different parties, two of them to Government, and the first established nurseries in the Province, and from which all the Plantations in the Kohistan have taken their rise.

18. Proceeding north to Hamul Bagh we find on all sides Tea Plantations, the largest belonging to Government. Here, too, we find a magnificent Plantation, yielding large quantities of Tea, established by the Commissioner, Colonel Ramsay. This Plantation, formed chiefly by prison labor, shews how easily the work can be carried on provided that it receives the necessary attention.

19. Here, too, we find Plantations of Chullar, &c., belonging to Government with its Factory, godowns, &c., on a complete and efficient Establishment. Surrounding the Factory there are Plantations of upwards of a hundred acres covered with fine and luxuriant Tea bushes.

20. Proceeding due south from Almorah and thirty miles distant we come to the Government Plantation of Bheem Tal, where the Tea plant is growing most luxuriantly. To this Plantation great additions have lately been made, which will cause the out-turn this season to be treble that of former years.

21. From Hamul Bagh twenty-five miles north we meet the great Plantation belonging to the Kosaine Tea Company which is being vigorously carried on, and by them large quantities of Tea prepared. Descending the Ghaut at Kosaine we enter the Bijnath Valley, and on all sides meet with flourishing Tea Plantations. This valley is destined to become one of the great centres of Tea cultivation in the Himalayas. In it there is the great Government Plantations of Ayar Toli and adjoining the Plantations of the Bijnath Tea Company and those of several other parties.

22. Crossing the range of mountains which separates Kumaon from Gurhwal we come to the flourishing Plantation of Messrs. Warrand at Gauldun, which is progressing most favorably. Twenty-five miles north-west from Hamul Bagh we meet with the Plantation of Colonel Money at Donagiree, and at Lohah the Plantations of Messrs. Richards, and adjoining those of Messrs. Barstow and Company at Silkote.

23. At the Head-Quarters of the Senior Assistant of Gurhwal, viz., Paoree, we find the fine Plantation of Chopea which was lately sold to Mr. Henry for Rupees 1,00,000.

24. As a great centre for Tea cultivation Paoree is admirably suited, commanding, as it does, good roads to the plains viâ Tuppubund and Hurdwar, and viâ Kotdwarrah and Najeebabad.

25. Leaving the Kohistan and proceeding to the Dehra Dhoon every where we find the Tea plants under cultivation, at least in localities where man can live. Many other localities there are in this magnificent valley fitted for this kind of cultivation, which, however, owing to its unhealthiness from the want of drainage, as in the Eastern Dhoon, or the entire want of water, as in the upper part of the Western Dhoon, cannot be inhabited. But by the Tea plant the Dehra Dhoon, which has remained, I may almost say, stationary for the last forty years, no successful attempt having been made to clear its vast waste jungles, is now being regenerated, and a vast stimulus given to farming; and in a few years, if the active and energetic measures now being adopted to bring the valley under cultivation with Tea be continued, this magnificent, and until lately neglected, spot will become one of the most important Districts of the North-Western Provinces.

26. The same remark, too, applies to the Kohistan of the North-Western Provinces, which in 1814 was considered by Government as so unprofitable as to be unworthy of retention. Heirs, therefore, to Hill lands which had, by right of conquest, become the possession of Government, were hunted out, and all parties who had been driven from their possessions in the Kohistan by the Goorkhas in 1803 were invited to return and reclaim what belonged to them, though they had not in any way assisted in expelling the invader.

27. A third of these lands are fitted for Tea cultivation, and if so cultivated would not only supply the whole of the Indian markets with Tea but that of Europe also.

28. In a former communication I estimated the quantity of waste and other lands fitted for cultivation with Tea throughout the Kohistan of the North-Western Provinces and Punjab and Dhoons, and shewed that by them the enormous quantity of 885,000,000 lbs. might be there raised. But in this estimate I excluded the Kohistan of Huzarah and Rawul Pindee, of Cashmere, Jummoo, and the protected Seikh States. The following estimate of the yield of the British Territory is more nearly the mark, and as a general return when in full bearing 100 lbs. per acre may be given :—

	Acres	100 lbs. per Acre.
Kohistan of Rawul Pindee and Huzarah ...	20,000	2,000,000
Kangra Valley ...	35,000	3,500,000
Kasloo	35,000	3,500,000
Mundee, &c	40,000	4,000,000
Protected Hill States ...	10,000	1,000,000
Jonsar Bawer ...	10,000	1,000,000
Dehra Dhoon ...	100,000	10,000,000
Western Gurhwal ...	180,000	18,000,000
Kumaon	350,000,000	350,000 000

a quantity equal to the whole export trade of China, and with high cultivation the figures might easily be doubled, and thus not only allow an immense quantity for the consumption of the Indian community, but at the same time afford a vast supply for export to other countries.

29. In February last, at the request of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, I proceeded to the Kohistan of the Rawul Pindee Districts and Huzarah, there to establish the Tea plant, which has been most successfully done, the plants removed from the Kangra Plantations and transplanted at Seelah now growing with vigour.

30. We have thus now the Tea plants thriving over 4° 30′ degrees of latitude and 8° of longitude, or from the Kali River in the east to Huzarah in the west, and from Dehra Dhoon in the south, to Ramaserai in West Gurhwal in the north, or over a tract containing upwards of 35,000 square miles. In this mighty tract, the whole of which might have been the property of Government had it not alienated away its just rights to others from a mistaken idea that its retention would be unproductive and unprofitable, there is a sufficient quantity of land fitted for Tea cultivation, which, if so used, would produce Teas capable of supplying the whole world.

31. The crops generally grown in the Hills yield but a small return to the cultivators, and thus they are obliged to look to other sources than the sale of the produce of their lands to procure means to pay their revenues. The Kumaon and Gurhwal Provinces, covering a tract of upwards of 19,000 square miles, yield little more than two lacs of Rupees annually to the State, shewing the poverty of the country. Tea, on the other hand, is a highly remunerative crop, and occupies the time and attention of millions of beings in the adjoining Kingdom of China, and is the means of yielding a large revenue to the State. India possesses within itself capabilities equally advantageous for the cultivation in having abundance of land fitted for the purpose, unlimited, and cheap labor, great rivers, and ere long an iron road for transmitting the produce to good and available markets; and last, not least, a climate equally well adapted for the growth of the plant, as has been proved by the Government Plantations scattered over the country.

32. By the Press it has been stated that the land fitted for Tea cultivation was limited and labor scanty. But both are great errors; land in the vast forest tracts abounds admirably fitted for the Tea plant, and when brought under cultivation with Tea, which is gradually being done and which the fine Plantations at Ayar Toli, Paoree, &c., have proved to be so well adapted for the purpose, Tea on them could be raised to a vast amount, and form a mighty export trade. In many Districts, too, in the Hills admirably fitted for Tea now covered with dense and impenetrable forests, as in Kuttyoor and Gungoli, there are no roads, or roads wholly unfitted for beasts of burden, nor can good roads be expected until the country yields a produce sufficiently valuable to pay the expenses of opening it up, and at the same time offer to Government some return for the labor and money which would require to be spent. Were Tea, therefore, generally introduced a produce would be forthcoming which would yield the requisite means to open up those hitherto neglected mountainous regions.

33. In six or eight years the Dehra Dhoon, particularly the western portion, will present one sheet of Tea cultivation. There we have the following parties actively and energetically carrying on the work:—Close to the Jumna we find the luxuriant Plantations of Messrs. Rind and Co., Messrs. McPherson and Co., and the Western Hopetown Tea Company. Here, too, there are some fine Plantations cultivated by Natives as Heera Lal, &c. Further to the eastward we come to the fine Tea Plantations of the Dehra Dhoon Tea Company with a capital of twenty lacs of Rupees, by whom Tea is now being manufactured in large quantity. The fine Plantations of Messrs. Dick, Messrs. Barlow and Co., Messrs. Forrest and Co., Messrs. Batt, Messrs. Swetenham, Messrs. Richards, &c.

34. By wealthy and intelligent Natives many fine Plantations have also here been formed, the most important being those of Lullah Ram Nauth and Nund Lall at Hurbujwallah; Dhoom Singh at Gurree; Kuniah Lall and Thakoor Dass at Neerunjunpore; Rajah Lall Singh at Nuthunpore, and Mahuat Preetram Doss at Umbawallah.

35. In the centre of the valley at Kowlaghir is the great Government Plantation, from which has sprung all the Plantations around.

36. The move, therefore, is now a gigantic one, and in the following Table G. I have attempted to shew approximately the quantity of land being brought under cultivation, and the men and capital thus employed. But it is a mere approximation, as monthly new parties are entering on this now highly popular field of enterprise.

37. To the Westward or Kohistan of the Punjab, and Kangra Valley, &c., an enormous amount of capital is also being invested in the undertaking, and the valleys and hill sides are rapidly being cevered with Tea plants, and that, too, in a country where ten years ago the Tea plant was unknown.

38. The work there done will form the subject of a Report to the Punjab Government.

39. But it is no longer an experimental Tea cultivation in the North-Western Provinces, it having passed from experiment to fact. It having been proved by data which cannot be gain-said that the cultivation of the Tea can be profitably conducted; that the Tea prepared is admirably fitted for the Home and Indian markets; and that, if properly conducted and backed by capital, the undertaking presents a safe and profitable investment.

40. This having been fully proved, and the field occupied by an immense amount of capital, the time, in my humble opinion, has come for Government to retire from the field and allow it to be occupied unfettered by the private capitalist.

41. Already many estates raised entirely from plants and seeds supplied gratis from the Government Plantations have changed hands for large sums of money, as the Hurbunswallah Estate in the Dehra Dhoon for £50,000, &c., and several others also raised from seeds and plants distributed gratis from the Government Plantations.

42. By many private Planters seeds and seedlings are now offered in any quantity and number for sale. This, therefore, shews that the field is fairly occupied, and that aid from Government is no longer required to induce parties to go on with the cultivation.

43. The move is already a national one, and the part which was necessary for a great, liberal, and powerful Government to play is completed.

44. Parties with the limited capital of a few thousands of Rupees are now rushing into the field to take up Waste Land and form Plantations from the seeds and plants given gratis from the Government Plantations, such individuals are rushing on their ruin, and must break down, or they must sell the Plantations thus formed, unless supported by capital. To form a Plantation is an easy affair; but to work that Plantation, prepare and pack Teas fitted for the market, and to forward such Teas to distant and available markets, is not to be done without money; and Tea cultivation to be highly remunerative must be conducted on a large scale. The local markets open at present for the produce of the Factories now in operation will soon be glutted, and thus cause the growers to seek markets for their produce in those of Europe, America, or Australia. But these markets cannot be reached without capital. For parties, therefore, with only a few thousands of Rupees to attempt to embark successfully in Tea speculations is, in my humble opinion, a mistake, and to these men the gratis distribution of seeds and plants, and the easy terms on which Waste Lands can be obtained in the Kohistan, are the primary inducements. But, as stated above, Government have fully played out their part, and the support so generously tendered for many years to private parties is now no longer required.

45. For Government now to part with their Tea Plantations the time, therefore, has come. I would, therefore, respectfully venture to suggest at the end of the present season that the Tea Plantations in Kumaon and the Dehra Dhoon be sold, in fee simple, to the highest bidder; that the sale be advertized in the Indian and Home papers, and that in March 1864 the highest tender above the upset price be accepted. This would give ample time to advertize the sale in the Indian and Home papers, and at the same time the produce of this season will then be all finished, sifted, and packed, and thus ready for removal.

46. I would further recommend that the Plantations be sold in three Lots.

1*st.*—The Plantations at Hamul Bagh, at or near Almorah, and at Ayar Toli, in Kuttyoor, with their dwelling-houses, factories, stock and block, and every thing complete for preparing and packing Teas, be offered for sale at an upset price of two lacs of Rupees.

2*nd.*—That the Plantations at Bheem Tal in Kumaon, with its factory, stock and block, and every thing complete for preparing and packing Tea, be offered for sale at an upset price of Rupees (20,000) twenty thousand.

3*rd.*—That the Plantations at Kowlaghir in the Dehra Dhoon, with the factory, &c., and stock and block and every thing complete for preparing and packing Teas, be offered for sale in fee simple at an upset price of two lacs, £20,000.

47. In the Home Markets Teas the produce of the Government Factories in the North-West Provinces and Punjab are well known, but seldom seen. The sample about to be transmitted consisting of three hundred 40lbs-Chests will shew to London Capitalists the kinds of Tea capable of being produced, and will thus assist, along with advertisement, to attract attention to the Plantations which are shortly to be thrown into the market. A detailed List shewing the kinds of Teas packed and forwarded to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India will shortly be transmitted for information.

The Tulwars (a sample of which should accompany each Tender) should be of the description worn by Sowars of the Irregular Cavalry, with wooden Scabbards covered with dark blue leather.

The Tulwars will have to be delivered at the Head-Quarters of the 42 Districts of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa in quantities varying from 100 to 800. The names of the Stations, quantity to be delivered at each Station, dates of delivery and other particulars can be learnt on enquiry at the Inspector-General's Office.

The price named in each Tender must include carriage and all other charges up to the time of the receipt of the Tulwars by the Officer in charge of the Police of each District.

The party whose Tender is accepted will be required to find good and sufficient security to the extent of Rupees 5,000 for the due fulfilment of his contract; he will receive an advance of one-half the contract price on his finding additional sufficient security. The balance will be paid in one sum on the Contractor producing a receipt in full from every Officer to whom he should supply Tulwars.

The Inspector-General does not bind himself to accept the lowest or any Tender.

Notice

Is hereby given that, under orders of the Board of Revenue, dated 12th of January 1863, the Khas Forests of Cachar, containing Caoutchoue trees, and bounded on the East by Munipoor; West by Sylhet; North by Assam; and South by Independent Tipperah, will be leased to the highest bidder on the 14th day of October 1863 in the Superintendent's Court.

The terms of this Lease will be as follows :—

1. This Lease will extend only to such lands within the boundaries as are not settled by private individuals for the purpose of cultivation.

2. This Lease will be for the exclusive privilege of collecting Caoutchoue within these Forests for a period of one year from the 1st of November 1863, and for which the sum of Rupees (as bid) will be paid

3. This Lease will not interfere with the existing rights of the Public to cut timber (other than Caoutchoue trees) or grass or bamboos, or to collect and gather any other products of the Forests, such as bees' wax, danmia, &c., nor will it interfere with the Government right of Elephant catching.

4. With a view to prevent the waste or permanent injury of the Caoutchoue trees by overtapping or otherwise the lessees will have to limit the period for collecting the gum to the interval from 1st November to 30th April.

5. And to provide for the loss of trees by injuries which may be done to them by parties collecting the gum the lessees will have to bind themselves to plant 400 Caoutchoue trees in the Forests, 200 to the North, and 200 to the South, of the River Burak.

6. Should the lessees, or their respresentatives, fail to fulfil the above engagements, or any of them, the Lease will be resumed; but previous to the resumption a formal notice will be served on the lessees requiring them to shew cause to the contrary. Failing good cause shewn the resumption will be embodied in a formal proceeding and duly recorded, the lessee forfeiting the amount paid for the whole year.

Government of India, Foreign Department.

Tea Cultivation in the Kangra Valley.

From the Secretary to Government, Punjab, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department, with the Governor-General,—(dated Lahore, 27th July 1863.)

I AM directed to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Viceroy, copy of a letter from Dr. Jameson, Superintendent, Government Botanic Gardens and Tea Plantations, giving a full and interesting Report on the progress of Tea cultivation in the Kangra Valley.

2. The Government of India is indebted to Dr. Jameson for the introduction of Tea into the Punjab, and his name should ever be connected with the success of its cultivation in Upper India.

3. His Report contains ample information of all that is being done, not only on Government lands but also by European Planters, and by Natives who, adopting the plan which has been found in China to answer so well, cultivate the plant in small patches and sell the leaves to the Government Factory. One Chieftain, Raja Jodbeer Chund, of Nadoun in British territory, and the Chief of Mundee, through his Wuzeer Goosain, have entered vigrously on Tea cultivation.

4. Dr. Jameson considers that the time has now arrived for abandoning the Plantation at Holta as a Government concern, and proposes to sell the Government Factory and lands at the end of the present working season, or in March 1864, and to leave the future growth and manufacture of Tea to private enterprize.

5. On this very important question, bearing so much on the future prospects of Tea cultivation, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor considered it advisable to consult the Planters, both European and Native, and to obtain the opinion of two experienced Officers, Mr. McLeod, Financial Commissioner, and Colonel Lake, Commissioner, Jullundhur.

6. The European Planters whose Estates are well established desire the sale. Those whose Estates are not for advanced ask for delay.

7. The Natives are opposed to the sale. They fear that they will not get the same price for their leaves from the Planters that they now receive from Government, and that they will also suffer by not getting seeds and plants.

8. Colonel Lake, after weighing the matter well, and with all his experience on the spot, considers that the Holta Factory and Estate should be sold, but not before the 1st November 1865. This would give two years more distribution of seeds and plants, and with two years' notice private persons would all be able to mature their arrangements for supplies of seeds and seedlings, and would then be altogether independent of Government aid.

Mr. McLeod likewise advises some delay in disposing of the Estates.

9. There is perhaps some doubt whether the Natives have not planted Tea on the understanding that the Government would purchase the leaves, and if so, they should not be suddenly abandoned without due notice.

10. Considering all the circumstances, the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to recommend that the sale of the Government Plantations and Factories at Holta be deferred till November 1865; the Government reserving the right of then declaring whether they will reserve the two small Gardens of Bhowarna and Nagrota for the distribution of seed.

11. Notice should be given at once that after November 1865 the Government will leave the Field, and that they only remain in it at present to foster still further the extension of Tea cultivation.

12. I am directed to add that each year brings additional demands for Tea seeds and plants.

The Lieutenant-Governor believes that the next two years will see an immense increase of Tea cultivation, especially amongst the Natives.

The Chiefs already mentioned in this letter have been complimented for their exertions, and recommended to extend their cultivation.

13. With regard to the new Field in the Hazara and Murree Hills, I am to state that the seedlings have not thriven well, but this is partly owing to the distance they were brought, and also to the want of care on the part of the Gardeners.

14. But the seeds have all germinated, and the young plants are thriving. Major Younghusband, who has had experience of Tea cultivation in the Kangra Hills, has reported that these plants are most promising. Some are now being transplanted on trial, but it is evident to the Lieutenant-Governor that the Gardeners require the superintendence of some person well acquainted with the Tea plant, and Dr. Jameson has been asked for such a Supervisor. Mr. McLeod also has seen the seedlings, and states that they promise well, and, with Dr. Jameson, considers that the Murree and Abbottabad Hills afford an encouraging field for Tea cultivation.

15. But it is evident that in these northern hills large tracts of waste land will not be available, and the Lieutenant-Governor would desire to see the plan tried here, which is followed in China, of each village setting up a small Tea plantation.

16. In order to encourage the cultivation and shew the way to improvement, the Government might hereafter establish a Factory for the purchase of leaves and the manufacture of Tea; the Government retiring from the Field, as private speculators came forward to occupy it.

17. After receiving the orders of the Supreme Government, the Lieutenant-Governor would propose to make public this correspondence, which contains so much that is interesting to all connected with Tea cultivation.

From the Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, North-Western Provinces, and Tea Plantations, to the Officiating Secretary to Government, Punjab,—(No. 305, dated 25th April 1863.)

In laying before you, for the information of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor, a statement shewing the manner in which the Government Tea Plantations in the Punjab have been worked during the last season, or from April 1862 to April 1863, I have high gratification in stating that during this period Tea cultivation has made great progress, and that there is now an immense tract covered with Tea bushes in the highest state of luxuriance.

2. In the Government Factory the out-turn of Tea has, during the last season, been pounds 16,125:—

Thus, Black Tea	... lb	15,691
Green Tea	... lb	434

of this quantity lbs. 1,720 have been prepared from leaves purchased from Zemindars.

3. This out-turn shews a considerable increase on that of last year (1861) viz., lbs. 2,539. The leaves, too, have been gathered with much greater care, and the proportion of fine Tea to coarse will be much greater. I say will be, as the sifting and picking of the season's crop is not yet finished, thus preventing me from giving the exact details.

4. The quality of the Tea prepared is also much improved, owing to the Native Tea-makers having become more expert and more careful in their work, and the Overseer Mr. Rogers, having, in compliance with the instructions given, paid much greater attention to the quality than to the quantity of the Tea produce.

5. The demand for Tea is on the increase, and the quantity sold and made over to the Commissariat Department is considerable.

6. A sale by auction took place at Dhurumsalah on the 14th October 1862, and the prices realized were fair average ones. For the Home Market a sample consisting of 250 chests of 40 lbs. each have been packed, a detailed list of which will afterwards be submitted.

7. By Mr. Cope it is stated that the consumption of Tea in Umritsur is equal to nearly lbs. 100,000. Samples, therefore, of the different kinds of Tea prepared in the Factory have been forwarded to a leading house, in order, if possible, to monopolize this trade.

8. By the Deputy Commissioner of Kangra, Mr. Egerton, the Overseer, has been requested to make up a hundred small packages of fine and coarse Tea for presents to parties on the British Frontier towards Thibet, to which he is about to proceed in order to encourage merchants to bring through the British territory the shawl wool produced in Ladak. Pending the sanction of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor, I have ordered the Overseer to make up the packages, which I trust will meet with approval, as samples distributed in this manner will act as a good advertisement for the Government Teas.

9. To the Commissariat Department at Lahore lbs. 4,813 of Green Tea have, in compliance with Government orders, been delivered for the use of the public service. The whole quantity of Tea disposed of and in store is shewn in Appendix E.

10. During the season a large tract of new land has been broken up and planted, and in conducting operations the Overseer Mr. Rogers has acted with vigor and energy.

11. Nor have private Planters been neglected. By them the large quantity of 775 maunds, or 28½ tons, were purchased for Rupees 14,060. This large sum His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has most generously remitted, it having been shewn that private Planters had been guaranteed the free distribution of seeds and plants.

12. Financially the result of working the Plantations may be thus considered:—

lbs. 16,125 of Tea at Rs. 1-8 ...	Rs.	24,187	8	0
1,155 maunds of Tea seed at 20 Rs. per maund ...	„	23,100	0	0
Total Rupees ...		47,287	8	0
Expenses incurred in working ditto ...	Rs.	20,000	0	0
	Rs.	27,287	8	0
But to this must be added the value of 2,000,000 of seedlings distributed, or about to be distributed, to Planters. Thus 2,000,000 at Rs. 3 per 100 ...	Rs.	60,000	0	0
Grand Total, Rupees ...		87,287	8	0

13. To be able to report from personal observation on the present state of Tea cultivation throughout the Kangra Valley, and the progress lately made by Planters, I, in January, February, made a tour throughout the District, and inspected all the best Plantations from Kangra to the Bier Valley, and with one and all I was highly pleased.

In the immediate neighbourhood of the Government property at Holta there are two fine Plantations belonging to the Nassan Tea Company and the Kangra Tea Company, both of which have broken up, and planted in a superior manner, much land, and their Tea plants were looking in the finest state of health. By both Companies some Tea has been made during the last season of excellent quality.

14. Proceeding about a mile to the eastward of the Government Plantations we came to a rich and luxuriant Plantation belonging to the Rajah of Nadoun, who has here erected a Factory, and is about this season to prepare Tea. To assist him I have placed at his disposal some skilled Native workmen.

Further to the eastward, at Bijnath, we find the fine property of the Bijnath Tea Company superintended by Captain Fitzgerald, where the Tea plant, which two years ago was represented by small seedlings, a few inches high, is now found to have attained a height of three to four feet, and assumed a fine basket slaped form and yielding large supplies of leaf, some of the land having yielded prepared Tea, through the Plantation is in its very infancy, to the amount of lbs. 200 per acre. Here, too, a Tea Factory has been erected, and all the appliances required to carry on its preparation with vigour brought together.

15. Crossing the Pass that separates the Kangra Valley from the Rajah of Mundee's country, we come to the fine Valley of Bier, the greater portion of which is still lying waste, admirably adapted to the cultivation of the Tea plant. The hill sides to the north and south now covered with dense jungle are also well fitted for the purpose.

Being made aware of this, and acting up to the advice tendered to him by the Commissioner Colonel Lake, the Wuzeer of the Rajah of Mundee, Wuzeer Gossain, has established several Plantations in the Valley, which I found to be in the finest condition, many of the plants being upwards of four feet high. In this fine Valley there will not be much difficulty in bringing under cultivation with Tea five thousand acres of land, which, with proper care, and when the plants are in full bearing, would yield lbs. 300 per acre, and thus give a return of lbs. 15,00,000, and in itself cause a considerable export trade.

By the Gossain, a Factory has been built, and by him the preparation of Tea will be commenced this season. Land, too, is being broken up by him with great vigour, upwards of 100 workmen being engaged on the work. In beds, too, he has many lacs of fine Tea seedlings, and large quantities of Tea seeds have been sown for extension. Here, therefore, we find a highly intelligent and prudent Native foreseeing the advantages that will accure to his country by such a cultivation as Tea, carrying on the work with energy and spirit, and vieing in the race of culture with the European settler of the adjoining district. The Rajah of Nadoun also deserves special notice, as by him a very fine Plantation, though small when compared to that of the Wuzeer Gossain, has been made, and a Tea Factory, as stated, erected. But the most extensive operations carried on in the Kangra Valley are those of the Nassan Tea Company, which during the last season have made great progress in their Plantations, having planted out a large tract of country. By them, too, a Tea Factory has been built, and during the season a considerable quantity of Tea will be prepared. In their Nurseries, too, they have upwards of twenty lacs of seedlings, all of which will be transplanted during the rains.

Second only to the Nassan Tea Company is the Kangra Tea Company, whose Plantations are situated to the west of and adjoining the Government Plantations. By them considerable operations have been carried on, several hundred acres of land having been brought under cultivation. A Factory, too, has been erected, and Tea in quantity prepared. In their Nurseries, too, are large numbers of seedlings reserved for planting in the ensuing rains. Holta, therefore, will in a short space of time present a great mass of Tea cultivation, than which a finer tract throughout the Kohistan is not to be found, and this, too, established on land which ten years ago was considered to be so bad as to be unfit for any kind of cultivation.

17. Proceeding to the westward from Holta we come to the fine but limited Plantation of the Bundla Tea Company, where the Tea plant is growing with great luxuriance. By them a Tea Factory has been erected, and during the season a small quantity of Tea was prepared, which will be greatly increased this seasons, as a considerable portion of their Plantations will give a return. By them, too, a large tract of forest land is being cleared, to enable them to extend their operations during the rains.

18. Further to the westward and close to Dhurumsalah we find the Kuniarah Tea Company and the Fir Tea Company, both of which are progressing in a favorable manner, and some miles further to the westward the Plantation of Colonel Burnett.

19. The small Plantations established by Natives are far too numerous to notice in detail. One only we may mention that of Tek Singh, who, on a waste piece of land below and to the south of Dhurumsalah, has formed a Plantation, from which considerable crops of leaves are now being collected and sold to the Government Factory. This Native has taken the lead in the Valley, and is a bright example to other Natives entering on the cultivation.

20. Proceeding to the eastward beyond Mundee we came to the Kooloo country in which Messrs. Knox and Gordon have established Plantations, which are progressing. Crossing the Sutlej and proceeding by the fine new Thibet Road to Kotghur we came to the excellent Plantation of Mr. S. Berkeley, which is advancing rapidly, upwards of two hundred acres of land having been brought under cultivation by him, and considerable quantities of Tea being prepared by skilled Native workmen supplied from the Government Factories.

21. Close to and in the immediate neighbourhood of Simla Messrs. Innes, Goad and Levinge, have formed Plantations.

22. To one and all of these Plantations and Factories skilled workmen have been furnished from the Government Establishments. In this manner alone the Government institutions have been highly useful, and without them private Planters could not have progressed in the highly satisfactory manner that they have done.

To all applicants, aid in the form of Chowdries for Tea Plantations and skilled Native Tea manipulators for Factories, large supplies of Tea seeds and thousands of seedling plants, have been granted; and the movement, which a few years ago was confined to a few experimental acres of land, has assumed a gigantic form, a form which may now be styled national.

23. The following Statement will show in a general form the land that has been taken up for Tea cultivation in the Kangra Valley, and in the Kohistan of the Punjab.

or a grand total of 9,518 acres, which, if all were brought under cultivation and highly cultivated, would yield 24,53,400 lbs. and thus afford in itself a considerable export trade. The map appended will give a general idea of the present condition and extent of Tea cultivation in the Kohistan of the Punjab and North-Western Provinces.

24. Tea, therefore, in the Kohistan of the Punjab is no longer an experiment. It has passed from speculation to fact. It has been established by incontrovertible data that in the Kohistan and Dhoons of the Punjab Tea can be grown and prepared and admirably fitted for the markets of India and Europe, and that the cultivation and preparation present a safe and profitable investment for capital.

25. The Field is now occupied on an extensive scale, as shewn above, by private Planters, and a large amount of private capital is invested in the undertaking. Most of the private Planters, too, have large number of seedlings at their disposal for extension; and in the Government Plantations at Holta there are 30,00,000 of seedlings for which there is not much demand, and are therefore at the disposal of any desirous of entering on the cultivation. The demands therefore of those who have up to date settled in the Kohistan have been nearly met to depletion, so far as seedling plants are concerned.

26. The prolongation therefore of the experiment on the part of Government is no longer necessary, nor required, and the time has arrived, in my humble opinion, when the Field ought by them to be abandoned and left open entirely to private enterprise and capital. I would therefore venture to suggest on the termination of the present season's operations that Tea cultivation in the Kangra Valley be by Government brought to a close, and that the Plantations and Factories with their stock and block be offered for sale at an upset price.

That the property be sold in fee simple and handed over to the higest bidder above the upset price advertized. That the sale be advertized in the English and Indian papers, and to admit of this, that the sale be deferred until 1st March 1864. This would allow ample time for advertizing in the Home papers and admit of the season's operations, now going on, to be closed, and the Estate thus completely ready for delivery to the purchaser.

27. As an upset price I would recommend the property to be offered, in fee simple, for two lacs of Rupees, the whole of the Government property in the Kangra Valley connected with Tea cultivation to be put up for this sum, and that it be made over in entirety, to the highest bidder, above the upset price on the 1st March. The Tea in store and the Tea now in preparation, or the crop of this season to be considered the property of Government, to be removed prior to making over the premises to the purchaser or purchasers.

28. I shall now briefly lay before you a statement shewing the steps taken by me to introduce the Tea plant into the Sind Saugor Doab, in compliance with the orders given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, in the interview I had the honor to receive at Lahore on the 26th February last, which were recorded by Sir R. Montgomery in his Minute of the same date, copy of which was forwarded to me at Kangra.

29. To carry out the orders received, I immediately proceeded to Holta in the Kangra Valley, packed 70,000 seedling plants, and as all the available Tea seeds of the Kangra Plantations had been disposed of, I sent orders for a supply to be at once sent from Saharunpore direct to Rawul Pindee. To form the Nurseries in the Kohistan of the Upper Doab of the Punjab I selected six mallies belonging to the Holta Plantations, men well acquainted with Tea cultivation, and who had for some years been there employed, and sent them in charge of the plants by Bullock train, as the season was rapidly advancing. I followed them on the 9th March, proceeding by express Mail Cart to Rawul Pindee, where I arrived on the 13th, and immediately, in compliance with the orders received in the Lieutenant-Governor's Minute, placed myself in correspondence with the Deputy Commissioner of the District, Major Cracroft, from whom I received every assistance, and in company with him examined a large tract of the Kohistan of Rawul Pindee and Huzarah. Shewing the route followed by me I append copy of a sketch map, for which I am indebted to Major Cracroft, and on which I have marked out the line of country traversed from the Konkurdurrah Pass, in Huzarah, to Owen, on the Jhelum, in the Kohistan of the Rawul Pindee District, or what was formerly known as S. E. Huzarah, but which has now been appended to the Rawul Pindee District.

31. We proceeded due north by east to Murree, vid Barakao, Seelah, and Trete. Shortly after leaving Barakao we enter the mountains, through which, by a gradual ascent, the fine road leading to the Sanatarium runs.

32. In the neighbourhood of Seelah, eighteen miles to the north by east from Rawul Pindee, in Lat. 33° 50", there are several localities well fitted for Tea cultivation. I therefore, having received from Major Cracroft a few acres of land here, established a Nursery for rearing seedlings, as it presented many facilities in irrigation from the Koorung River, and accommodation for mallies, &c. The whole of this District is composed of red sandstone alternating with red and green marls, dipping to the south-east under an angle of 35°, which further to the north are found alternating with a nummulitic limestone.

33. As a centre from whence Tea plants can be distributed Seelah is admirably adapted, as leading from it there is a good road and other advantages. Here, too, there is a Government Garden in which all kinds of European vegetables are growing, and fruit trees, as limes, peaches, oranges, plums, apricots, pomegranates, &c. On all sides it is surrounded by mountains composed of nummulitic limestone, whose vegetation consisted chiefly of Adhatoda Vulgaris "Bikoe," Ole and ferruginea Cow or Trietoon, Bombax heptaphyllum Simbhul, Urtica salicifolia, Gundaree, Banhinea purpurea Kubear, Dodonia Mackesonia Connultah, Calissa villosa Karounda, Syzigium jambolannur, Jamun or Jummoaar Chingurh, Acacia catechu, Khair, Emblica officinalis, Amliar Aolah, Zanthoxylon hostile Timbood, Cocculus laurifolius Berkow, Quercus undulata Bunni, Nerium odorum kunneera. On the mountains above, as at Murree, the following trees, &c., were common; Pinus excelsa, Picea webbeana, Phullunder, Quercus semicarpifolia Benowsgi, Taxus baccata Burmee, Populus pyriformis Sofaida, Cedus deodara Diar, Quercus incana Runh, Daphne Cannabina, Nuhur, Pyrus Nariolosa, Batinghi, Alnus Nepalensis, Ootees or Oodees.

34. As soon as the 70,000 seedling Tea Plants, which were sent by me direct to Seelah, have established themselves at Seelah, and seedlings raised from the seeds sent from Saharunpoor, which they will shortly be, plants will be available for distribution from this Nursery about the end of this season, and by them other Nurseries in other localities can be established at a small expense. From Seelah we proceeded to Murree, found it too high (7,262) to yield a paying crop of Tea. But in its neighbourhood there are many small localities adapted for the purpose, or at Saonli, &c.

35. At Murree the rock consists of sandstone highly impregnated with peroxide of iron. The strata are highly inclined, and dip to the N. W. by west under an angle of 35°.

36. Returning from Murree to Barakao we proceeded to the west vid Noorpoor, Mundla, and up the valley of that name. Here we found wild date trees, Phœnix dactylifera, abundant with mangoes, Cow (Olea ferruginea), and Bekoor (Adhatoda Vulgaris) and Zonatta (Dodonia Mackesonia) in great abundance, and the common Bamboo, Bambusa Arundinacea, in large numbers on the sides of mountains, with Euphorbia Pentagona marking the dryness of the locality.

37. Proceeding to the westward, viâ Syndpore and Shaldetta, we meet with the same kind of rocks and similar vegetation. From Shaldetta we proceeded by the magnificient new road planned and carried out across the Murree range of mountains into W. Huzarah, vid the Kukurdurrah Pass, by Major Cracroft. Here we found the fundamental rock to be nummulitic limestone and the country excessively dry and quite unfitted for Tea. We ascended the pass into Huzarah and proceeded to Kanitta over a dry and barren waste with here and there a little cultivation, and this was the general character of Western Huzarah, as presented to us from the Kukurdurrah Pass. We therefore resolved to proceed to the south-east portion of the Kohistan, it presenting geological characters, and thus agricultural properties much more promising than the country before us. We therefore returned to Shaldetta, hence along the new road to Rawul Pindee. Having dispatched the Tea plants and the mallies who had arrived to Rawul Pindee, to Seelah, we proceeded to Chirrah and from it examined the country as far as the Kuror Mountain. Here we found many tracts well fitted for Tea, but all more or less under cultivation with cereals.

38. From Chirrah we proceeded up the Narail valley to Narail. Here the fundamental rock was sandstone, dipping to the south-west under an angle of 70° to 75°. The upper and higher portion of the valley is covered with Cheer (Pinus Longifolia), and lower down the jungle consisted chiefly of Sonatta (Dodonia Mackesonia), Bikoor, and Cow, and in the ravines the Oleander was common. Close to Narail there were very fine mangoes, and in the lower part of the valley fine Toons (Cedrela Toona) and Kakur (Rhus Acuminata) a magnificient yellow grained timber well adapted for all kinds of furniture, the value of which does not appear to be appreciated or known. Turning the Narail valley we crossed some small ranges of sandstone and proceeded to the south down the Kahouta valley to a large village of that name. Over the whole of this country we frequently met with small pieces of land well fitted for Tea cultivation. but nowhere did we find any extensive tract lying waste fitted for the purpose. From Kahouta we proceeded to examine the forest of Pinjur, consisting almost entirely of Cheer Timber (Pinus Longifolia), and that two of the twisted fibred variety, a kind of but little value in the market, and of small scantling, all the finer timber having been cut and removed. Of second class timber there are still a vast quantity remaining, which, if properly husbanded (which it will no doubt be by the Deputy Commissioner, Major Cracroft), will soon become valuable. Further to the north is the Nurr Mountain, in altitude 6090 feet,* where some fine land fitted for Tea is met with.

39. Returning to Kahouta we proceeded almost due east to Owen on the Jhelum, passing over many fine tracts of cultivation, the chief cereals being wheat, with here and there rich fields of Torea or mustard plant (Sinapis Glauca).

40. From the cliffs of sandstone mountains, the strata of which dipped to the south-east at an angle varifying from 70° to 75°, plants of the lovely Incarreilla Emodi, a bignonicious plant, were seen in great profusion, their fine large pink blossoms forming a striking contrast with the dull sombre color of the rocks. Its locality, too, in rents in the strata, appeared very marked.

41. From Owen we proceeded south to Beor, where we met with numerous tracts well fitted for Tea cultivation. But as in other places in the Rawul Pindee District fitted for Tea cultivation all the land had been brought under cultivation with the plough. The population, too, here is dense. To establish, therefore, a large plantation a waste tract adapted for the purpose is nowhere to be found. From Beor we proceeded to Mutor, passing over very fine cultivation and land admirably adapted for Tea cultivation. Here we were again in the plains.

42. From this rapid statement it will be perceived that there is no large waste tract in Southern Huzarah fitted for Tea cultivation available. Nor is this necessary, as in commencing operations in Kumaon, Gurhwal, and Kangra small nurseries only were established, and from them the numerous plantations that now exist have taken their rise.

43. I append a map prepared in the Surveyor-General's Office, Calcutta, by order of Government, from information supplied by me, which will give His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor a a general idea of the site of the Tea Plantations in the Kohistan of the North-West Provinces and Punjab. In China, too, it is stated by Mr. Fortune that nowhere did he observe large plantations under cultivation with Tea. On the other hand it was confined to small nurseries of three and four acres. Each village had its own nursery of Tea to supply its own wants or sell to the wandering Merchants who at certain seasons of the year with cash in hand visited the District and purchased the Tea in an unsifted state.

44. The value and uses of Tea are generally known throughout the country. The people, too, seem anxious and willing to introduce it. All therefore that is required are plants and seeds, but more particularly the former, to be placed at the disposal of the Deputy Commissioner, Major Cracroft, who takes a high interest in the introduction of the cultivation into the District, and in whom the people appear to place the highest confidence. By him, therefore, there will be no difficulty in getting the Zemindars to plant out the Tea plant and to carry on the cultivation, and as soon as their plantations are sufficiently advanced to give leaves Government might then erect small factories at convenient places, work them with experienced native Tea manipulators with the leaves obtained from their own nurseries, and with those brought in by the Zemindars, they being purchased at the same rates as now given at the Kangra factories. This arrangement might remain in force a few years, or until the natives had seen the value of the cultivation and learnt to prepare Tea for themselves, and on having accomplished this Government could then retire, as foreign aid would no longer be necessary. By so acting Government would confer a great boon on the people and on the country at large, and Tea cultivation introduced by Government aid would thus be spread over the whole of the north-west and north-east frontier, from Huzarah to Kumaon, giving employment and livelihood to thousands of poor and needy cultivators.

45. In my Annual Report for 1861 I pointed out that all the Forest land was being sold, and that it was absolutely necessary for me to procure a tract of forest land to obtain timber for making tea chests, firewood, charcoal, &c., for the use of the Government factories, and solicited that two hundred acres of the forest land at Bundiaree, where I was then cutting timber, be annexed to the plantation for the purpose. With my request the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor was pleased to comply, and by me application was made to the Deputy Commissioner for the land. Up to date, however, it has not been assigned. When at Holta I brought the subject to the notice of the Officiating Deputy Commissioner, Major Mercer. But it still remains unsettled, and as all the forest land at the disposal of Government is shortly about to be sold by auction I again respectfully solicit that two hundred acres of forest land at Bundiaree, or in any forest near the Holta plantations, be reserved for the use of the Government factories. If this be not done timber for making chests, &c., will ere long be obtained with difficulty, unless at a highly enhanced rate.

46. Advertised for sale there are, amongst other tracts, two near Holta, viz., Chicheean of 172-2-25, and Kusmul of 82 acres=254-2-25, from which timber could be readily obtained. I therefore respectfully solicit that they be reserved for the use of the plantations.

From the Under-Secretary to the Government of India, with the Governor General, to the Secretary to Government, Punjab,—(dated Simla, the 22nd August 1863.)

With reference to your letter No. 121, dated 27th July, forwarding a letter from Dr. Jameson, giving a full and interesting report on the progress of Tea cultivation in the Kangra valley, I am directed to state that His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General approves of the proposal to sell the Government plantations and factories at Holta from the 1st of November 1865 on the terms suggested by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in the 10th paragraph of your letter. A Notification should be issued to that effect in the Punjab Gazette.

2. The papers will be published in the Supplement of the Calcutta Gazette.

3. A copy of paragraph 45 of Dr. Jameson's Report has been sent to the Public Works Department for information and consideration.

* For the altitudes of the mountains, &c., I beg to acknowledge my obligations to Captain Robinson, Superintendent, Trigonometrical Survey.

Government of Bengal.

Report on the Mahanundah and Kalindry Rivers.

From F. Laycock, Esq., Commanding State Yacht Rhotas, Rajmehal, to S. C. Bayley, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 7th August 1863.)

By desire of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, I have the honor to forward a Report on the Mahanundah and Kalindry Rivers, and to request that you will be so good as to lay the same before him.

Report on the Mahanundah and Kalindry Rivers as a shorter and more practicable route for Steamers proceeding from the Bhagiruttee up the Ganges during the rainy season.

Having proceeded up the Mahanundah River to Maldah, and from thence by the Kalindry and Ganges to Rajmehal, it has occurred to me that a considerable saving of time and fuel may be effected by Steamers and Flats proceeding to the upper Stations on the Ganges adopting this route during the rainy season.

From June to the middle of October the average passage of a Steamer and Flats from the entrance of the Bhagiruttee up the Ganges to the junction of the latter with the Kalindry (a distance of about seventy-five miles) is four days under favorable circumstances, but it is not unusual for Steamers with Flats to be a week getting only to Rajmehal, constant hard steaming against a current of from six to seven miles an hour with the necessity of anchoring in the same, the risk of losing anchors or of their being buried (the latter causing great delay), and the probability of leaving to work the Engines at one-fourth speed all night (unless fitted with disconnecting paddles), thus incurring an extra consumption of coal.

By adopting the route vid the Rivers Mahanundah and Kalindry, a distance of about ninety-five miles to the junction of the Kalindry and Ganges, these difficulties are avoided, and the distance easily run in twenty-four hours' steaming through a deep and reliable channel with convenient anchorage, and a current of not more than three and a half miles an hour to contend with, thus shewing a clear saving of at least one and a half day's time and fuel.

The Mahanundah is a clear and wide River, with no obstruction to inland navigation. Proceeding up in the Rhotas, August 1st, we carried deep water the whole way and anchored off Angrazabad in thirty-six feet mid-stream, the current running steadily about two and a half to three miles per hour.

We were thirteen hours under steam from the entrance of the Bhagiruttee.

The Kalindry joins the Mahanundah about three to four miles above Angrazabad.

It is somewhat narrower and more winding than the latter, the width of the reaches averaging about 4 to 500 feet, the current runs from three to three and a half miles per hour. Proceeding up in the Rhotas, August 5th, we carried soundings from twenty to thirty-six feet to the bar at the Ganges' junction, the least water on the bar eighteen feet, and that only for a very short distance.

It would be open for Steamers in the early part of the rainy season, and I have no hesitation in saying it will be found a far more sure and practicable route than steaming up the everchanging channels of the Ganges against a six or seven mile current.

Sahibgunge would be a convenient coaling Station for Steamers not having occasion to call at Rajmehal.

From S. C. Bayley, Esq., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Master Attendant,—(No. 247T., dated on board the Yacht Rhotas, the 14th August 1863.)

I am directed to forward herewith a copy of a letter dated the 7th instant, from Mr. F. Laycock, Commanding the Rhotas, together with a copy of its enclosure, being a Report on the Mahanundah and Kalindry Rivers as speedier and more practicable than the present route for Steamers proceeding from the Bhagiruttee up the Ganges during the rainy season.

2. I am to remark that the Lieutenant-Governor is fully convinced of the superiority of the proposed route over the ordinary route by the Ganges, and desires that the Report may be made as widely public as possible.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, dated 29th July 1863.

Read a Memorandum from the Officiating Civil Pay-Master, Fort William, No. 2323, dated the 29th May 1863, enquiring whether Mr. W. Sarson, an Uncovenanted Deputy Collector in Bengal, who was promoted to the Third Grade of Deputy Collectors during absence on privilege leave, is entitled to higher pay from the date of his promotion or from that of his return to duty.

Resolution.—The Hon'ble the President in Council observes that privilege leave stands on a different footing from all other leaves of absence, being only a month in the year allowed for necessary rest and recreation and given as much in the interest of the State as of the individual.

2. Accordingly advancement to a higher class during privilege leave does not bar payment of the higher salary from date of advancement if the promotion does not involve any increase or change of duties or responsibility. Mr. Sarson's claim should be allowed under this general rule.

No. 484.—Allahabad, the 29th August 1863.—The following Notifications issued by the Government of India, in the Home Department, are republished for general information:—

HOME DEPARTMENT.—No 5213.—Fort William, the 19th August 1863.—The President in Council is pleased to attach Messrs. J. C. Lieupolt and A. H. Harington, of the Civil Service, reported qualified for the Public Service, to the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and Oude.

Notification No. 383, dated 16th January 1863.

The inclusion of the Territory of Coorg in List of Native States abovementioned was an inadvertence Coorg being British Territory, though administered, for reasons of convenience, by the Commissioner of Mysore.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—No. 1219A.—Nynee Tal, the 19th August 1863.—The following Resolution recorded by the Hon'ble the President in Council, dated 31st July 1863, relative to the mode of estimating and charging for that portion expense of the Police which is incurred for the service of other Departments is published for general information:—

No. 3496.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, dated 31st July 1863.

READ the following papers regarding the revision of the Oude Police and the mode of estimating and charging for that portion of the expense of the Police which is incurred for the service of other Departments:—

Home Department's endorsements Nos. 1939, 2315, and 2544, dated 21th March, 8th April, and 18th April 1863.

Letters from the Inspector-General of Police in India, Nos. 27 and 45, dated 12th and 19th February 1863, and a further letter dated 7th May 1863.

RESOLUTION.—The point referred for the consideration of the Financial Department by the Home Department's Resolution of the 24th March 1863 is the mode of estimating and charging for that portion of the expense of the Police which is incurred for the service of other Departments.

2. At present the various Departments are required to pay in cash for the Police Guards supplied to them out of a Budget provision in their own Departmental Estimates.

3. These cash payments between Departments have, after two years' experience, proved so embarrassing in practice that the President in Council directs that henceforth the pay of the whole of the Officers and men of each Force shall be drawn in one Bill, or, if found more convenient, in separate Bills for each District; but the debit against the Police Budget grant will be in the aggregate for the charges in the entire Presidency or Province, and not according to the District distribution of the charges.

4. The only case in which any demand for re-payment will have to be made will be when special services are performed for private Companies, Theatres, &c., or when payments are authorized by the Police Act.

5. As a rule it is not desirable to introduce changes of system and extensive transfers in account after the Budget has been settled and payments according to the Budget allotment have begun; but cash payments for Police supplied to Departments have proved so inconvenient that the general rule must in this case be set aside.

6. Accordingly it is directed that the sums noted in the accompanying Statement, which have been taken for Police in the other Departmental Estimates for this year, be transferred to the Head of Police of the respective Presidencies and Provinces, and that the necessary adjustments of payments already made by Departments be arranged by the Deputy Auditors and Accountants-General.

7. The Police Estimate for next year should include the whole of the expenditure for that branch of the Service.

8. The Hon'ble the President in Council at the same time desires to preserve an equivalent for any economical check that may have attended the inter-departmental cash payments which are now abolished.

9. This check will be ensured by throwing more responsibility than has hitherto been done on the Department providing for the Service.

10. The Officers of Police are the proper authority for determining the strength of a Treasure or Prison Escort, or the number of men sufficient to guard a Jail or a Lock-up; for, in all such cases, the Police Department is responsible for the safe custody of the people or property placed under their charge; and the Home Department will accordingly be requested to give directions that every application for Police Guards shall be scrutinized by the proper Officers of Police.

11. In the event of dispute or difference as to the strength of Guards required, or as to their employment at all, the matter should be settled by the Head of the Department from whom the requisition has come, in communication with the Inspector-General of Police, a final referrence being made, if necessary, to the Local Government.

12. The abolition of inter-departmental cash payments should be accompanied by a careful revision, by each Inspector-General of Police, of the Guards of every sort now supplied to Departments.

13. The reductions effected in this direction in the Oude Police encourage a hope of similar economy, by a like careful revision, in other Presidencies and Provinces.

14. Further, with a view of watching over the demands of the several Departments for Police Guards, the Police Department should be required to keep up carefully prepared Distribution Lists of the entire Police Force.

15. By a reference to these Lists it may be immediately ascertained whether an undue increase has taken place in the number of Guards required for any particular service.

16. These Distribution Lists will also enable the Government to form a correct estimate of the cost of Police under the several heads of Jail Guards, Treasure Escorts, &c.

Grants for Departmental Police Guards transferred, under paragraph 6 of the Financial Resolution No. 3496, dated 31st July 1863, from the undermentioned Departments of the several Presidencies and Provinces to FIV., Police, of the same Presidencies and Provinces.

No. 129.—Allahabad, the 25th August 1863.—The following Resolution published by the Government of India, in the Financial Department, relative to the grant of cumulative privilege leave to Uncovenanted Servants is re-published for general information :—

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—No. 3478.—Fort William, the 31st July 1863.—Read endorsement from the Foreign Department, with His Excellency the Governor General, No 465, dated the 13th July 1863, forwarding for consideration a reference from the Punjab Government connected with the grant of privilege leave to Uncovenanted Servants.

RESOLUTON.—Section XVI. of the Uncovenanted Service Absentee Rules having deprived Uncovenanted Officers of accumulating privilege leave after twenty-two or thirty-three months' consecutive service, the Punjab Government enquires (1) whether an Officer who had accumulated his leave previous to the issue of the present Rules can be still held entitled to it; and (2) whether cumulated privilege leave sanctioned before the issue of the new Rules, but not availed of up to the time they came into force, can still be available.

The Hon'ble the President in Council determines that Uncovenanted Officers who were entitled to accumulated privilege leave under the old Rule when the new Rules were issued will be allowed two or three months leave in the same manner as if the old Rule still remained in force

Government of Bengal.

Report on the state of the Salt Market during the 1st Quarter of 1863-64.

From T BRUCE LANE, ESQ., Officiating Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 19th August 1863.)

A GROTE, ESQ.

I HAVE the honor, by direction of the Board of Revenue, to submit the following Report on the state of the Salt Market during the 1st Quarter of 1863-64.

2. From the Statement on the margin it will be seen that the quantity of Government Salt sold under Rowannahs by the Board was only maunds 1,37,260, the average monthly sales being maunds 45,753. The entire sales of the Quarter fell short of the sales of the previous Quarter by maunds 84,504, but the sales in that Quarter rose exceptionally in April as already explained, owing to an impression among the Dealers in Salt that the Duty was to be increased from the 1st of May.

May 1863 ..	...	... Mds.	47,775
June "	...	... "	44,870
July " ...	..	"	45,615
	Total	Mds. ...	1,37,260

The figures in the margin shew that the sales of Government Salt are steadily decreasing. The sales of Tumlook Salt far exceeded, as heretofore, the sales of the other kinds, the proportion to the aggregate sales of the Quarter being about two-thirds.

1st Quarter of 1862-63...		Mds	2,01,000
2nd "	"	"	1,86,000
3rd "	"	"	2,21,764
4th "	...	"	1,37,260
1st "	of 1863-64 ..	"

3. Under Government Order No. 2769, dated 9th ultimo, the Board issued a notice on the 15th idem that Pungah Salt in the Sulkea Golahs had been withdrawn from sale until the clearance of the Government stock from the Ghoosery Golahs. Since the 15th, therefore, the sales of Balasore Salt have ceased, while those of Hidgellee Salt from Ghoosery have scarcely increased, only maunds 1,250 having been sold in the last fortnight of July. The tendency of the order, as far as the Board have yet been able to observe, has been, as they anticipated, to increase the demand on the Narainpore and Hidgellee Local Depôts rather than to relieve the Ghoosery Depôt. Since the 1st instant, however, the sales at the latter Depôt are shewing more activity.

4. The sales of Excise Salt during the Quarter were maunds 11,039 against maunds 14,675 of the previous Quarter. The year's manufacture as yet has been about maunds 27,000 in excess of that of 1862.

5. The following Comparative Statements shew the quantities of Salt which have passed the border Chowkeys of Baboogunge up the Hooghly and Gopaulgunge en route to the Gorai, and which have been dispatched into the interior by the East Indian and Eastern Bengal Railways :—

6. The following Statement shews comparatively the importations and clearances of Sea-imported Salt during the Quarter. There was a slight decline from sales of the previous Quarter:—

7. The shipments of Liverpool Salt appear from the Board of Trade Tables to have been in April 1863 ... Tons 13,880
May „ ... „ 20,336

Total Tons 50,871, or mds. 13,84,821. When the Mail of the 3rd July left England 14,850 Tons, or maunds 3,22,583, had been shipped for export to this country on Vessels then loading. Of the shipments made in February 1,438 Tons, or maunds 39,145, on the Nora, were lost by the burning of that Vessel by the Alabama.

8. The price of Liverpool Salt fluctuated between 60 and 70 Rupees per 100 maunds in May, and up to the 1st week in June; it then fell to 60 Rupees, at which it now stands; the clearances from Pond are consequently few in number. In May Madras Kurkutch sold so low as 28 Rupees per 100 maunds, but from the middle of June the price rose to 52 Rupees, and, with slight fluctuations, continued at that price to the end of the Quarter. This increase of price seems to be owing to a decrease in the importations from Madras. Bombay Salt also improved in price during the Quarter, the average being about 34 Rupees per 100 maunds; in July it was selling at 42 Rupees.

9. As the trade in Kurkutch Salt is increasing in importance, and is extending to some of the lower Marts of the North-Western Provinces, the Board direct me here to quote the quantities of Salt notified by the Madras Board as available for exportation on private trade at their several Depôts on the first day of each of the three months composing the Quarter under review and the corresponding Quarter of the previous year.

Notice

Is hereby given that, under orders of the Board of Revenue, dated 12th of January 1863, the Khas Forests of Cachar, containing Caoutchoue trees, and bounded on the East by Munipoor; West by Sylhet; North by Assam; and South by Independent Tipperah, will be leased to the highest bidder on the 14th day of October 1863 in the Superintendent's Court.

The terms of this Lease will be as follows:—

1. This Lease will extend only to such lands within the boundaries as are not settled by private individuals for the purpose of cultivation.

2. This Lease will be for the exclusive privilege of collecting Caoutchoue within these Forests for a period of one year from the 1st of November 1863, and for which the sum of Rupees (as bid) will be paid.

3. This Lease will not interfere with the existing rights of the Public to cut timber (other than Caoutchoue trees) or grass or bamboos, or to collect and gather any other products of the Forests, such as bees' wax, dammia, &c., nor will it interfere with the Government right of Elephant catching.

4. With a view to prevent the waste or permanent injury of the Caoutchoue trees by over-tapping or otherwise the lessees will have to limit the period for collecting the gum to the interval from 1st November to 30th April.

5. And to provide for the loss of trees by injuries which may be done to them by parties collecting the gum the lessees will have to bind themselves to plant 400 Caoutchoue trees in the Forests, 200 to the North, and 200 to the South, of the River Burak.

6. Should the lessees, or their respresentatives, fail to fulfil the above engagements, or any of them, the Lease will be resumed; but previous to the resumption a formal notice will be served on the lessees requiring them to shew cause to the contrary. Failing good cause shewn the resumption will be embodied in a formal proceeding and duly recorded, the lessee forfeiting the amount paid for the whole year.

Deviation of the Compass in Iron Ships.

From F J. EVANS, Esq., Master Superintendent, to the Hydrographer to the Admiralty,—(dated Compass Department, Admiralty, the 18th June 1863.)

HAVING followed your instructions to attend at Greenhithe to watch the swinging of the Ship City of Sydney by the Owners, I beg leave to report certain points of interest in connection with the magnetism of this Ship, the arrangement of her Compasses and their bearing on her safe navigation, which I consider of sufficient importance to bring to your notice.

2. The City of Sydney (chartered by Government) is a new iron sailing Ship of 1,180 tons, fitted with iron lower masts and rigging, steel lower yards, tauntly and squarely rigged, and generally built and equipped for speed. On her poop deck supported by iron beams was originally fitted two low binnacle Compasses, one close to the wheel which is over the rudder head, and the other on the break of the poop before the mizen mast; this latter was re-placed, at my suggestion, by a superior Azimuth Compass and elevated much higher from the deck, in order that astronomical or other bearings might be accurately observed at all times. Midway between the iron main and mizen masts, elevated 20½ feet on a skeleton framework above the upper-deck, is the third Compass 9 feet above the level of the poop deck, with which it communicates by a small wooden bridge. This Compass, which can be illuminated at night, is therefore isolated as far as it can be from the general iron of the Ship.

3. The following are the general results of the errors observed in the three Compasses with the Ship on an even keel.

4. The elevated Compass, notwithstanding its position, has a maxium deviation of 35½°; the Azimuth or Standard Compass a maxium deviation of 24½°; and the steering Compass has a deviation of 5½ points, which was finally reduced to one point by the application of three powerful magnets secured to the deck near it.

5. These large errors which from the fittings of the Ship do not admit of remedy become very complicated under certain inevitable conditions.

1*st.*—The Azimuth Compass placed in as favorable a position as circumstances will permit has the large error of 1½ degrees of deviation for every degree of heel of the Ship, the north end of the needle being drawn to the high or weather side of the Ship. This I ascertained by a series of magnetic experiments. This serious error will gradually decrease as the Ship goes to the southward; in the southern hemisphere it may be even reversed, and the north end of the needle drawn to the lee side of the Ship. The elevated Compass will probably be free from the large heeling error and thus serve as a check on the Azimuth Compass.

2*nd.*—The steering Compass cannot act in the southern hemisphere with the arrangement of magnets which now correct it. New conditions of magnetism will arise which the Captain must be prepared to meet; he will be obliged to remove the magnets, and probably also to move the Compass forward, or to elevate it. Experience and experiment will alone settle this point.

3*rd.*—The Ship is recently launched (21st March) and experience conclusively shews that the magnetism of an iron Ship does not attain its normal or settled condition till some twelve months sea service after leaving the Stocks, and at the early period the changes are sudden and uncertain. A striking example of this change was afforded by the Great Eastern. In this ship, in a Compass favorably placed, the deviation in certain directions of the Ship's head changed nearly three points in the first nine months' service.

6. To the foregoing must be added that the present Master of the City of Sydney has never commanded an iron Ship, and although personally

I found him observant and thankful for any information respecting the working of his Compasses, still he must have much requisite practical knowledge to gain on the subject.

7. The City of Sydney presents one of the numerous instances of want of attention among iron Ship-builders and Owners to preliminary arrangements for the Compass in the progress of building and equipping iron Ships. In a Ship where iron so thoroughly takes the place of wood her ultimate safety demands some attention to details affecting it. In the absence of legislation on this subject the case of the City of Sydney supplies two points deserving the attentiou of the Government Authorities when chartering iron Ships, and especially those intended for passengers, troops, and emigrants.

1*st*.—The inexpediency of chartering an iron Ship which has not made at least one previous long sea voyage. A Ship having made one ocean voyage has shewn her action on her Compasses, even if she has not acquired her ultimate condition of magnetism.

2*nd*.—The necessity of the person in command having had experience in actual charge of some iron Vessel in a long sea voyage, and, if possible, in the Ship about to be chartered.

Respectfully submitting these points for your consideration

Government of Bengal.

Introduction of the new Police system into the Districts of the Assam Division.

From Major H. Raban, Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Assam Circle, to the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 624, dated the 6th June 1863.)

In compliance with instructions contained in your letter No. 1120 of the 12th February 1863, I have now the honor to submit, for the Lieutenant-Governor's information, a Report of my proceedings with regard to the introduction of the new Police system into the Districts comprising the Assam Circle.

2. My appointment as Deputy Inspector-General with powers of Inspector-General in that Circle dates from the 29th of April last, and at the same time the Officers as per margin were nominated to assist me in carrying out the duties of the several Districts.

Lieutenant W. E. Chambers	District Superintendents, 3rd Class.
„ J. C. Daunt, v. c.
„ Worsley	Assistant Superindents, 1st Class.
Mr O. S. Stack
„ J. A. Floyd	Assistant Superintendents, 2nd Class.
„ R. T. O'Connor
„ H. Hume.
„ C. W. Malpas
„ A. C. Bolst	Assistant Superintendents, 3rd Class.
„ C. D. McSweeney
„ T. W. Lorimer
„ C. J. Cawley

Owing to various circumstances chiefly connected with the difficulty of transit I was unable to leave Calcutta till the beginning of June, when most of the Officers abovenamed accompanied me, the remainder having started a short time previously.

3. My first destination was the Kassyah Hills, where, in consequence of the then only partially checked rebellion in Jynteah, a re-organization of the Police seemed most urgently called for; and taking with me Messrs. Worsley, Stack, O'Connor, Hume, and Malpas I proceeded to Cherra Poonjee, at which place I arrived on the 1st July.

4. I at once, pending the confirmation of Government, placed the organization of the Police of the Hills in the hands of Lieutenant Worsley, who was from time to time assisted for some months by Messrs. Hume and O'Connor, both of whom have received previous training in drill, the one in Her Majesty's, Army the other in the Bengal Military Police, and means were taken for instructing Messrs. Stack and Malpas in such an amount of drill as might enable them hereafter to superintend the instruction of the Police in other Districts.

5. I remained only a fortnight at Cherra Poonjee to make myself acquainted with such matters as would enable me to report on the requirements of the Kassyah and Jynteah Hills, and then having put matters in train for the embodiment of the old Police and the enlistment of Kassyahs for the new, and having first paid a short visit to Jowai, the Head-Quarters of the Military Force in the disturbed District, for the purpose of seeing and consulting with the Deputy Commissioner, Captain Morton, I proceeded across the Hills vid Nungklow to Gowhatty.

6. On my way to Cherra I left Lieutenants Daunt and Chambers at Dacca, directing the former to proceed to Gowhatty, the latter to Gowalparah, to take measures for the introduction of the new system. To Lieutenant Daunt I assigned Messrs. Bolst, Lorimer, and Cawley; to Lieutenant Chambers, Messrs. Floyd and McSweeney, as Assistants. Their instructions were to make themselves and their Assistants conversant with the working of the Police and of the Courts with which the Police were concerned, as also with the state and requirements respectively of the Kamroop and Gowalparah Districts, and to instruct the Assistants in drill, but not, for the present, to assume full charge of the Police of those Districts. These Officers joined their respective Districts in the beginning of July. I had previously placed myself in communication with the Commissioner of Assam, requesting that facilities might be given to Officers in every District for the acquisition of such information as I have spoken of.

7. I reached Gowhatty on the 24th July, where I joined the Lieutenant-Governor, and in company with him visited the several Stations in Assam, and from the information I was able to obtain personally, as well as from the statements which were furnished me both by Colonel Haughton, the Officiating Commissioner, and by the Deputy Commissioners of the several Districts, I was enabled to draw up a set of comparative Statements embodying the then condition of the Police and the proposed assignment for each District under the new system. These were submitted, with my letter No. 87, dated 29th August 1862, to the Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, and received His Honor's conditional approval in a letter from the Junior Secretary,

No. 385T., dated 1st September 1862. I may add that corrected Statements were furnished with my letter No. 167 of the 24th October, and these, with certain modifications, have been also approved in letter, No. 2593, from the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to my address, dated 1st April 1863.

8. Early in September I returned to Cherra Poonjee, where I found the organization proceeding steadily under Lieutenant Worsley, and though there was a disinclination on the part of some of the few members of the old Police to continue service under the stricter rules of discipline which were now to be enforced, there seemed to be no difficulty in obtaining good recruits from amongst the Kassyah population. But I shall enter more fully into details of this and other Districts when treating of them separately in a subsequent part of this Report.

9. After remaining in Cherra Poonjee for about two months, during which I was employed generally in drawing up Circulars and instructions for the guidance of the Officers of the Force (and specially for a part of the time on the Committee which was directed to assemble for the selection of site for a new Station and Sanitarium in the Kassyah Hills), I again left for Assam in the beginning of November, marching across the Hills by the route which was proposed to connect Shillong with Gowhatty, having previously, in the month of September, despatched Mr. Stack to the Durrung District, and Messrs. O'Connor and Malpas to Nowgong.

10. Captain Forsyth had in the meantime been appointed to the Luckimpore District, and I directed Lieutenant Howey, who had also been subsequently appointed, and Mr. Cawley to join and do duty in that District. Mr. McSweeney, whose health had suffered at Gowalparah, was moved to Durrung, and his place at Gowalparah was afterwards filled by the appointment of Mr. Daly.

11. Arriving in Gowhatty about the middle of November I remained there for about a fortnight making arrangements for taking the full Police charge of Kamroop, which had been delayed by causes which will be explained in my separate remarks on the District.

12. From Gowhatty I proceeded by water to Gowalparah, and after remaining for four days and looking into the working of the system in the Head-Quarters Division, I went on by water, accompanied by Lieutenant Chambers, the District Superintendent, to Dhoobree, and from thence by land three marches to Poondeebaree and Pettah in the Goorlah Pergunnah. These are posts close to the Bhootan Frontier, which it has been proposed to occupy hereafter, at least partially, by parties of Police, relieving thereby, either in whole or in part, Detachments from the Line by which they are now occupied.

13. I wish to submit hereafter a special Report on the subject of the Frontier posts of the several Districts of Assam, and with regard to these posts of Poondeebaree and Pettah, I would now only remark that, so far as I could judge, the two posts might well be concentrated in one, and that the position of Pettah seems in every respect more desirable than that of Poondeebaree.

14. Returning to Dhoobree we crossed the Brahmaputra and visited Luckeepore, the residence of Pirthee Chunder Rae Bahadoor, the Metachparah Zemindar. At this place there is a weekly Hât during the dry season, largely frequented by the Garos. From thence two marches brought us back to Gowalparah.

15. I remained here four days and then started on my return to Gowhatty, accompanied, as far as the borders of his District, by Lieutenant Chambers, and visiting en route Kamarpottar Station in the Gowalparah District, and Choygong in Kamroop, I reached Gowhatty on the 25th December and remained there till the 9th of January. Captain Fagan, who had been appointed to the District, having arrived two days before, I again left the Station.

16. On the 9th I marched from Gowhatty in company with Major Agnew, the Officiating Commissioner, who was proceeding in circuit to Upper Assam. We reached Nowgong in seven days, encamping on the second day at Nungkla, where a large Hât is held weekly, frequented by Kassyahs, Meekirs, Lallungs, and others, and having halted one day at Nellie, where for some months past a Military post has been established in consequence of inroads made by the Rebel Jynteah Kassyahs, on the 15th arrived at Nowgong, passing through the country the scene of the tumultuous assemblies which resulted in the death of Lieutenant Singer. The people seemed perfectly tranquil and we received nothing but civility.

17. In Nowgong I remained till the 21st, during which time I was engaged in inspecting such men as had been entertained for the new Police, visiting the Station and Office and the several Guards, fixing on a site for Lines, &c. I found that Mr. O'Connor, who had been for a few weeks in full charge of the District, had been obliged to leave on account of sickness; and as Lieutenant Johnston, who had been designated for the Seebsagur District, was with me, I determined on transferring him to this District, pending the approval of Government. Mr. Malpas, Assistant District Superintendent, was at the same time directed to proceed to Assaloo, in North Cachar, where an Officer was much required for the charge of the large body of Police at that Station.

18. On the 21st I marched towards Golaghat, visiting on the second march Koliabur Station. From hence the route lay through a very thinly inhabited country, not more than two or three small villages being seen in the course of four marches. On the 28th I reached Golaghat, a Sub-Division belonging partly to the Nowgong, partly to the Seebsagur District. This will be the Sub-District of the Seebsagur Police. I made the usual inspection of the Thannah buildings, Guards, &c., and after halting here a day I accompanied the Commissioner to the Namber Forest, and visited the Bur Pathor Military Post, where a massacre, supposed to have been the work of the Angami Nagas, took place last year; and also the Jamagoorce Post on the skirt of the Namber

Forest. We returned to Golaghat on the 1st February.

19. From Golaghat I made two marches to Jorehaut, which I reached on the 4th: visited the Thanna buildings and inspected the Guard of the Seebsagur Militia. From hence three marches brought me to Sesbsagur, where I arrived on the 7th and remained till the 11th. During this time I was engaged in making arrangements at the Seebsagur Press for the printing of the Vernacular and other Forms required for the use of the Police. I also inspected the Militia Company and visited the Police buildings. Owing to the want of Officers the organization of the Police has not yet been commenced in this District. From Seebsagur I diverged from the direct road to Debroogurh for the purpose of visiting Jeypore. Three marches through a very jungly, sparsely inhabited country brought me to this place, where I inspected the Thanna buildings, &c. This is also in the Seebsagur District.

20. From Jvepore to Debroogurh is two long marches and midway lies the Police Station of Tingrai, in the Luckimpore District, where I halted for the night. On the 16th of February I reached Debroogurh, where I remained till the 22nd of that month. Here I made the customary inspections of Guards, buildings, &c. On the 22nd I left with the Commissioner by Steamer en route to Suddyah, visiting in my way the post of Poba Mookh on the right bank of the Brahmaputra, established for the prevention of Abor raids. We failed in reaching Suddyah by water, but leaving the Steamer we made our way thither on elephants on the 28th of February. I made the usual inspection and on the following day returned to the Steamer.

21. Returning rapidly down stream, after some detention at the Dihong Dibong Mookh, we reached Tezpore on the 7th. I remained here the whole of the 8th, and as the Commisisoner was obliged then to return to Gowhatty I accompanied him and we arrived there on the 8th of March. I have thus visited every principal Station in Assam twice in less than a twelvemonth.

22. I remained at Gowhatty for some, days, being employed in disposing of arrears of correspondence as well as in inspection of the Kamroop Police, &c., and on the 20th I left for Cherra Poonjee en route to Sylhet and Cachar, in which Districts I had received instructions to organize the Police under the new system. Travelling across the Hills I reached Cherra Poonjee in five days. Here I had an opportunity of conferring with Colonel Haughton on the embodiment of the temporary Police which had been sanctioned for the Jynteah Hills, and a good deal of miscellaneous work had to be got through.

23. On the 11th of April I left Cherra Poonjee for Sylhet, reaching that place on the same day. I remained here till the 30th April engaged in making enquiries about the existing Police and the future requirements of the District, as well as conferring with Captain Drew as to the transfer of a portion of the Kamroop Regiment for the future Police. This finished my proceedings to the end of the official year, and I now proceed to take in detail the several Districts in the Assam Circle and to note briefly what has been done in each separately towards the introduction of the new system of Police.

24. Gowalparah.—This District was the first in Assam into which the new system was introduced. Lieutenant Chambers arrived, as I have stated, in the beginning of July, and immediately set to work to make himself acquainted with the requirements of his District. He was able to take over full charge of the Police on the 1st October, but in the mean time he had been engaged in entertaining recruits, establishing a school for the instruction of the Police, and drilling both the recruits and such men of the old Police as appeared fit for service. He had also visted some parts of the District which he was able to reach by boat. During the past cold weather and up to a late date he has been very active in making himself thoroughly acquainted with all parts of his District. In Gowalparah there was no semi-military body, Militia, or other to form a nucleus for the new Police, but recruits are more readily procurable here than elsewhere, and up to the end of April the entire sanctioned strength of the lower grades has been nearly completed. Here, as elsewhere in the Assam Circle, great difficulty has been experienced in finding efficient men to fill up the higher appointments of Inspector and Sub-Inspector.

25. The original Stations (Thannas) and Outposts in this District have been all occupied by the new Police, but no steps have yet been taken to occupy the Fronter posts, which it was proposed should be taken by the Police. This is in consequence of the want of arms and accoutrements. A portion of the carbines with which the Police are to be supplied have been indeed received, but neither ammunition nor accoutrements have been supplied, and without these the arms are useless.

26. Lieutenant Chambers has proved himself a very active, intelligent, and efficient Officer. He has most thoroughly interested himself in his work and has been indefatigable in the discharge of his duty. He has been assisted by Messrs. Floyd, McSweeney (for a short time only), and Daly. Mr. Floyd is a thoroughly painstaking and hardworking Officer. He has been for some months past in charge of the Sub-District Dhoobree. Mr. McSweeney was constantly suffering from sickness during the time that he was at Gowalparah, but he always shewed himself most anxious to become acquainted with his duty. Mr. Daly is a very intelligent Officer and has displayed much aptitude for acquiring a knowledge of Police work.

27. Kamroop.—The organization in this District, as in Gowalparah, was commenced early in July, and Lieutenant Daunt, to whom it had been assigned, was working most assiduously; but unfortunately at the beginning of August he was seized with fever, which completely prostrated him and compelled him to leave Gowhatty, and eventually to take sick leave to England. Captain Fagan, who was appointed to succeed him, did not reach Gowhatty till the beginning of January. In the mean time having myself gone to Gowhatty in November, I made arrangements for taking over full Police charge of the District from December the 1st, the duties being carried on by Mr. Bolst partly under my own supervision. Captain Fagan almost immediately on his arrival went into the District with the Deputy Commissioner and visited all his Stations on the north bank of the Brahmaputra. He had hoped to obtain recruits in that part of the country, but he failed in doing so. Indeed, it seems impossible to procure recruits from purely local sources, and Captain Fagan has had to seek them in Gowalparah. Up to the end of April, by the absorption of a large portion of the old Police, he has brought up his Force to over two-thirds of the sanctioned strength, but many of the men thus absorbed will have to be discharged when better material can be found. I hope to be able to procure the transfer of a portion of the men of the Kamroop Regiment for this District. The work is now being carried on in all Stations in this District under the new system.

28. Lieutenant Daunt was an Officer of great energy and thoroughly devoted to the work. The loss of his services was very serious. Captain Fagan, who, as I have said, joined only in January, made the best use of his time during the remaining portion of the cold season, and has acquired a very good knowledge of his District. He is very attentive to his duties, and is, in my opinion, a highly intelligent Officer. He has been assisted by Mr. Bolst, who will, I think, make a very good Officer. He has lately been transferred (temporarily) to the Nowgong District, of which he is at present in charge. He has always shewn great zeal and has exerted himself to become acquainted with his duties. Mr. Lorimer was also attached to this District for some months. He is thoroughly hardworking and most anxious to perform all that is required from him. He was transferred in January to Seebsagur and eventually to Durrung, where he is at present in charge of the District. Mr. Savi has been lately appointed as an Assistant in this District. He is very attentive and anxious to acquire a knowledge of his duties, but he has had no opportunity of acting independently.

29. Nowgong.—This District has been specially unfortunate. In September 1862 Mr. O'Connor, First Class Assistant District Superintendent, was sent to take charge of the District. He was accompanied by Mr. Malpas. Mr. O'Connor was, on his arrival, very active in making himself acquainted with his District, and visited every Thannah except those in the Hills. In December orders were received from Government to hasten the arrangements for the full organization of the Police of the District, and Mr. O'Connor was in consequence instructed to take over full Police charge from January 1st 1863. This was done, but a few days afterwards that Officer was attacked by a severe fever, and when I arrived at Nowgong in the middle of January I found that he had been obliged to seek medical advice at Tezpore, and eventually he left the Province on sick certificate and was transferred to another Circle. I have already stated that under these circumstances I placed Lieutenant Johnston in charge, but he had not been a month in Nowgong before he too was attacked with fever, which compelled him to leave the Province and proceed on sick certificate to England. Mr. Malpas had, as I have said, been sent to Assaloo. Mr. James, who had been appointed an Assistant, and joined only in February, was without any experience. I therefore placed Mr. Stack in charge of the Nowgong District in addition to his own, sending also Mr. Bolst to assist him. Mr. Stack had not been long in charge when he too was seized with fever, and like his too predecessors was forced to leave Assam, from which he has since been transferred. Mr. Bolst has been in charge of the District since the first week in April. The organization under these drawbacks has proceeded but slowly. There was a nucleus for the new organization in the Nowgong Militia, but a large portion of the men composing this Force were utterly worn out and useless, and many have had to be discharged. It is particularly difficult, moreover, to find efficient recruits in the District. Up to the 1st of May the Force stood at less than two-thirds of the sanctioned strength.

30. Mr. O'Connor, who had first charge of the Nowgong Police, was very active and energetic, and in Lieutenant Johnston, who succeeded him, I lost a very excellent Officer. Mr. Stack will be spoken of in connection with the Durrung District. Of Mr. Malpas, Assistant Superintendent at Assaloo, I have formed a very high opinion. He is an Officer on whom I can thoroughly depend. Of Mr. Bolst I have already spoken: he is working steadily at Nowgong. Mr. James has all the qualifications for a good Officer, but his appointment is very recent, and he has suffered much from ill-health since he joined. Captain Ross has been appointed to the District, but has not yet joined.

31. Seebsagur.—I have had no Officer to commence the organization in this District. It has been stated under what circumstances Lieutenant Johnston was transferred to Nowgong. Lieutenant Davis, who has been subsequently appointed, had not joined up to the 1st May.

32. Luckimpore.—Captain (now Major) Forsyth received his appointment at the beginning of October, and assumed charge of the District from the 1st November. Lieutenant Howey and Mr. Cawley were sent as Assistants. The organization has been proceeding steadily, and Major Forsyth was very zealous in the discharge of his duty. The Luckimpore Militia formed a basis for the establishment of the new system; but in this, as in the other Levies, there was a large proportion of worn out and useless men whom it has been necessary to weed out. The importance of this District, with reference to the new system, consists mainly in the number of Frontier posts which it is intended that the Police should have charge of. Some of these we should now be in a position to occupy were the Police properly armed and equipped. All the ordinary Stations have been for some time provided for under the new system. Up to the end of April nearly four-fifths of the whole sanctioned Force had been entertained.

33. Major Forsyth is an Officer in whom I have been able to place the fullest confidence, and he was peculiarly adapted for his position in the Luckimpore District from his knowledge of the Frontier. He was obliged, by continued ill-health, to leave Assam on sick certificate early in April, and I learn with regret that he has received a medical certificate to the effect that he ought not to return to Assam. Lieutenant Howey shewed himself a remarkably intelligent Officer during the time he remained in the Luckimpore District; but having been permitted to make an exchange of appointment with Lieutenant Jonnston, he left Assam in February. Lieutenant Johnston, who joined at Debrooghur at the end of March, has been in charge since the beginning of April, when Major Forsyth left. He has some knowledge of the District, and is extremely anxious to do his duty, and will in time make a valuable Officer; but in my opinion an Officer of higher standing and long experience is required for this District. Mr. Cawley has not hitherto displayed any high qualifications though he appears perfectly willing. He has been lately in charge of the Sub-District Luckimpore.

34. Durrung.—Mr. Stack was directed in September to join this District, and he reached it early in October. He was accompanied by Mr. McSweeney, who, on account of ill-health, had been transferred from Gowalparrah. Mr. Stack took great pains to make himself acquainted with his District, and assumed full charge on the 1st November. Recruits are with difficulty obtained in Durrung, and the numbers as sanctioned have not been completed. It is hoped that some men from the Kamroop Regiment may be induced to take service in this District.

35. Mr. Stack was an Officer of considerable experience as a Deputy Magistrate, and was thus most useful in the introduction of the new system. He was also most active and intelligent. As I have mentioned, in speaking of the Nowgong District, he was for a time put in charge of that District in addition to his own. Unfortunately he was attacked by fever at the latter end of March and was compelled to leave. His services have since been transferred to another Circle. Of Mr. McSweeney I have already spoken as connected with Gowalparrah. The state of his health obliged him to quit Assam in December, and he also has been transferred to another Circle. Mr. Lorimer was transferred to this District in January, when I found it necessary to remove Lieutenant Johnston to Nowgong. Since Mr. Stack's departure he has been in sole charge of the District, as Mr. Brownlow, who has been appointed, has not yet joined. Mr. Lorimer is very painstaking and thoroughly anxious to do his duty, but I do not at present consider him capable of properly exercising the charge of a District.

36. Cossyah Hills.—Lieutenant Worsley, who, as I have mentioned, was put in charge of the Police of these Hills in July last, assumed full charge on the 1st October. He was assisted in some degree for a short time by Mr. Hume, who was appointed to the Kamroop District, but who was kept here temporarily in consequence of the disturbances in the Jynteah Hills. Bhor Sing, a first cousin of the present Rajah of Cherra, and the next heir, was appointed in September an Assistant in the Police. Lieutenant Worsley was successful in entertaining a large number of Kassyah recruits, and on his services being urgently required, he filled up his numbers with a few Goorkhas and others when he was able to pick up. The services rendered by the Kassyah Police during the latter part of the recent disturbances have been prominently brought to the notice of, and acknowledged by, Government, and need not further be spoken of here.

37. Lieutenant Worsley is a most active, energetic, and intelligent Officer, and the utmost credit is due to him for his management of the Kassyahs, who require very careful treatment. He appears to have succeeded in attaching many of them to himself personally. Mr. Hume gave me satisfaction whilst he remained in the Hills, but at the end of November he was ordered to leave on medical certificate, and has since gone to England. Assistant Superintendent Bhor Sing has, I think, fully answered the expectations that were entertained when the Lieutenant-Governor conferred the appointment upon him. He has been on all occasions present with the Police when employed in operations against the rebellious Hillmen, and I make no doubt that the example shewn by himself and his cousin, Hajun Manick, who has joined the Police as an Inspector, has had great effect in inducing other Kassyahs to enter the service.

38. The formation of the temporary Police sanctioned for Jynteah has been commenced and will be pushed on as quickly as possible; but I am somewhat doubtful of being able to entertain the full sanctioned number before some weeks shall have elapsed.

39. In all the Districts of Assam Proper, with the exception of Seebsagur, the organization of the Police is being steadily proceeded with. The Militia Company and the whole of the old Police Establishments will have been absorbed before the 1st of May. Instruction has been uniformly introduced both in drill and in the duties of Police as laid down in the Code of Criminal Procedure and in Act V. of 1861. But I must take the opportunity of pointing out the serious disadvantages under which I have labored in the loss of so many Officers just when they had begun to be useful, and when their services were most valuable. At the time I am now writing there is not a single District in the Assam Circle, except the Kassyah Hills, which has its proper complement of Officers present. Since the latter paragraphs were written I have learned that both Lieutenant Chambers and Mr. Daly, of the Gowalparrah District, have gone away sick in anticipation of leave, and out of thirteen European Officers who were first appointed to the Assam Circle only five now remain; whilst, taking the whole list of appointments from first to last, I have lost the services of ten Officers who had already acquired both Departmental and Local knowledge. At the time of writing there are only two Districts out of seven, viz., Kamroop and the Kassyah Hills, which are under such superintendence as I should desire to have. Added to this are difficulties connected with the material for the Police, which are not easily overcome. The higher classes have a very strong objection to undergoing the course of instruction in drill which is necessary to make them efficient Officers under the new system; the lower classes, from which recruits are drawn are, most lamentably ignorant; indeed, in most cases, half savages; and at the same time they are generally so sufficiently well off as to be careless about the inducements which are offered them to take service under Government. There is a minor difficulty which has caused, at least, great inconvenience to the Officers in charge of Districts, viz., the almost impossibility of procuring efficient Writers for the Establishment which has been sanctioned. In many cases Officers have been compelled to do the whole work of their Offices with their own hands, or with such assistance as could be given them by the subordinate Officers of Police. I may add that I have suffered from this difficulty myself. At on time the whole of my Establishment left me in a body, and for a period of several weeks I had only one Clerk to do the whole work of my Office.

40. Your letter directs me to state what I propose doing towards the completion of the new Police arrangements. Everything, as I have shewn I trust sufficiently fully, is already in train for such full completion in all the Assam Districts except Seebsagur, and this awaits only the arrival of Lieutenant Davis, who has been appointed to the charge of the District.* I trust to be able to report by the end of June that the Militia Company, as well as all existing Police Establishments, have been absorbed in this District, and from the 1st July it is proposed that the whole Police arrangements shall be carried on under the new system.

* Lieutenant Davis has reported his arrival and his commencement of preliminary arrangements.

41. It remains to mention the two Districts, Sylhet and Cachar, which have for the present been added to the Assam Circle. In each of these Districts measures have been taken towards the introduction of the Police. In Sylhet arrangements have been made for taking over a portion of the Kamroop Regiment and transferring them to the Police of this District, and all information necessary for the completion of a comparative Statement of the strength and the cost of the existing Police and of that which it is intended to propose for the future has been obtained. So soon as a District Superintendent shall have been appointed there will be nothing to hinder his commencing work at once.

42. In Silchar the Kookey Levy has been already absorbed, and from the 1st June all Establishments hitherto belonging to the Police will be drawn for under the new system. Here, too, all that is wanted is an Officer to carry on the duties. Captain Crawford, who has been appointed, has not yet arrived.

43. I am directed in your letter to furnish "a Statement shewing comprehensively the financial results of the organization of the new, and the reduction of the old, Police." This, as I understand by a Memorandum received from the Inspector-General, is intended to be brought up to the end of December 1862, and accompanying my Report will be found an Abstract drawn up in a form as furnished by Mr. Carnac. But this of course is not the Statement "which your letter contemplates." It will be seen by my Report that it is at present impossible for me to furnish any Statement that would give the information sought for. In no single District in this Circle has the organization been carried out to the sanctioned extent, and indeed the absorption of all former Establishments was only carried out during the month of April. In two Districts, Gowalparah and the Kassyah Hills, full charge was assumed only from the 1st October 1862; in Durrung from the 1st November; in Kamroop and Luckimpore from the 1st December; in Nowgong on the 1st January 1863, and in Seebsagur no charge has yet been assumed.

44. I propose, however, calling on all Officers in charge of Districts to furnish me with a Statement shewing what has actually been expended in each District during the present year, from January up to the end of June, on every account, with drawbacks on account of such Jail and Treasury Guards, Escorts, &c., as may have been supplied, and I will contrast this with an average expenditure for six months under the old system. Even this, however, will not give the ultimate result of the expense of the new system as compared with the old in the Assam Circle. The very largest drawback which may fairly be credited to the Police will be the occupation of most, or at least many, of the Frontier posts which are now held by Detachments from the Line. These, as I have before said, we cannot attempt to occupy till the Constables are fully armed and equipped. About half the quantity of Carbines required for Assam Proper been received, but they are accompanied neither by Ammunition nor Accoutrements, and are consequently, for the time being, entirely useless. Till we shall have received such charge of these posts as may be contemplated no Statement can contain a fair comparison of financial results.

P. S.—A copy of the above has been forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police.

Statement shewing, separately District by District, the number of Guards and Escorts furnished by the District Superintendents of the Assam Circle, together with the Cost from the date of assuming charge up to 31st December 1862.

H. Raban, Major,
Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Assam Circle.

Resolution of the Government of Bengal, Fort William, the 8th August 1863.

READ a letter No. 624, dated the 6th June last, from Major H. Raban, Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Assam Circle, containing a report of his proceedings in regard to the introduction of the new Police into the Districts of the Assam Division.

DISTRICT OF GOWALPARRAH.

The Lieutenant-Governor observes that in this District the lower grades of the new Police were nearly brought up to the sanctioned strength by the end of April last. The Thannahs and Outposts have been occupied but not the Frontier posts owing to the want of arms, ammunition, and accoutrements. His Honor desires to have a further report shewing what has been, or is being done, to complete the necessary equipment of the Police in this District.

DISTRICT OF KAMROOP.

2. It is satisfactory to find that in this District good progress has been made in the organization of the Force, and that the new system is in work at all the Police Stations.

DISTRICT OF NOWGONG.

3. The progress made in this District is not so satisfactory as in Kamroop, and this is ascribed to the difficulty in finding efficient recruits. This difficulty, it is hoped, no longer exists, as the disbandment of the Kamroop Regiment must have placed ample material in the hands of the Deputy Inspector-General. The Lieutenant-Governor wishes to have a report shewing what further progress has been made since the close of April last.

DISTRICT OF SEEBSAUGOR.

4. Nothing has been done in this District. A special report regarding it is required.

DISTRICT OF LUCKIMPORE.

5. The progress made here is satisfactory. The Frontier posts, as in Gowalparrah, have not been occupied for want of arms, &c. The Lieutenant-Governor wishes to be informed what steps are being taken to supply the want in this District also.

DISTRICT OF DURRUNG.

6. It is stated that owing to the difficulty in obtaining recruits the new Force has not been completed, but it is not stated what progress has been made.

COSSYAH AND JYNTEAH HILLS.

7. The Police in this District have been completely organized, and the Lieutenant-Governor was glad to notice the favorable mention made of the services rendered by them during the latter part of the late disturbances.

GENERAL REMARKS.

8. Great credit is due to Major Raban, the Deputy Inspector-General, for his exertions in the organization of the Police in Assam, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires to convey to that Officer an expression of his appreciation of the zeal and energy which he has displayed.

9. His Honor also notices with satisfaction the favorable mention made by the Deputy Inspector-General of the undermentioned Officers, viz.,—

10. Major Forsyth, Captain Fagan, Lieutenants Worsley, Chambers, Johnston, Daunt, and Howey, Messrs. Stack, Malpas, and Bolst, and Baboo Bhor Sing.

The terms of this Lease will be as follows:—

1. This Lease will extend only to such lands within the boundaries as are not settled by private individuals for the purpose of cultivation.

2. This Lease will be for the exclusive privilege of collecting Caoutchoue within these Forests for a period of one year from the 1st of November 1863, and for which the sum of Rupees (as bid) will be paid.

3. This Lease will not interfere with the existing rights of the Public to cut timber (other than Caoutchoue trees) or grass or bamboos, or to collect and gather any other products of the Forests, such as bees' wax, danmia, &c., nor will it interfere with the Government right of Elephant catching.

4. With a view to prevent the waste or permanent injury of the Caoutchoue trees by over-tapping or otherwise the lessees will have to limit the period for collecting the gum to the interval from 1st November to 30th April.

5. And to provide for the loss of trees by injuries which may be done to them by parties collecting the gum the lessees will have to bind themselves to plant 100 Caoutchoue trees in the Forests, 200 to the North, and 200 to the South, of the River Burak.

6. Should the lessees, or their respresentatives, fail to fulfil the above engagements, or any of them, the Lease will be resumed; but previous to the resumption a formal notice will be served on the lessees requiring them to shew cause to the contrary. Failing good cause shewn the resumption will be embodied in a formal proceeding and duly recorded, the lessee forfeiting the amount paid for the whole year.

Jurisdiction of the Court.

X. Any Court of Small Causes constituted under this Act may entertain and take cognizance of suits to enforce the specific performance of contracts, when the penalty or liquidated damages to which the defendant would have been liable, if the suit had been brought for the recovery of such penalty or liquidated damages, shall not exceed the amount to which the jurisdiction of the Court is limited.

Suit may be entertained for specific performance of contract.

XI. A suit for the specific performance of a contract may be instituted whether the contract shall have been partially performed or not. If the contract be to perform a number of separate or successive acts, the Court may order the defendant specifically to perform any one or more of such acts without ordering him to specifically perform the entire contract, imposing such terms (if any) upon the plaintiff as shall seem to the Court to be just. The Court may make an order for the specific performance of a contract or of any part of a contract in the absence of the defendant, and on the ex parte application of the plaintiff, whenever it shall be satisfied that the plaintiff is likely to be materially prejudiced if any delay take place in the making of such order, and that the application is made bonâ fide. The imprisonment shall be subject to all the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to imprisonment.

Order how enforced.

XIII. If it shall appear to the Court that the order for specific performance was applied for on insufficient grounds, or if the plaintiff's suit is dismissed or judgment is given against him by default or otherwise, and it shall appear to the Court that there was no probable ground for instituting the suit, the Court may on the application of the defendant award against the plaintiff such sum, not exceeding the amount to which the jurisdiction of the Court is limited, as it may deem a reasonable compensation to the defendant for the expense or injury occasioned to him by the institution of the suit, or by the making an order for specific performance. An award of compensation shall bar any suit for damages in respect of the institution of the said suit or of any order made in it.

Compensation may be awarded if application for specific performance is improperly made or an ex parte order improperly obtained.

XIV. Wherever a Court of Small Causes is constituted under this Act, no suit cognizable by such Court shall be heard or determined in any other Court having any jurisdiction within the local limits of the jurisdiction of such Court of Small Causes. Provided that nothing in this Act shall be held to take away the jurisdiction which a Magistrate, or a person exercising the powers of a Magistrate, or an Assistant or Deputy Magistrate, can now exercise in regard to debts or other claims of a Civil nature; or the jurisdiction which can be exercised by Village Moonsiffs, or Village or District Punchayets, under the provisions of the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

The object of this Bill is to provide judicial machinery which may dispose of the petty Civil litigation of those parts of India to which it may be possible to extend it, without compelling the litigant to have recourse to an appeal, but, at the same time, without depriving him in any considerable degree of the securities for justice which are at present afforded by the appeal system.

The Bill proceeds on the assumption that the smaller litigation of the country may be separated from the larger, and on the principle now recognized in England and Scotland, that different judicial machinery may be applied to the smaller suits from that which is ordinarily employed in dealing with cases of which the importance is greater, and in which larger interests are at stake. It is essential to the system to which this Bill relates, on the one hand, that the decisions of the Judicial Officers appointed under it should be final, and, on the other hand, that the qualifications of those Officers should be such as to afford a guarantee for justice, equal or nearly equal to that which is now afforded by the opportunity for correcting mistakes furnished by the power of appeal.

The difficulty of finding such Judicial Officers in India, without taking away an undue number of qualified persons from other not less important duties, is no doubt the chief obstacle to the system provided by the Bill, and it is therefore probable that this system can only be introduced gradually. It is believed, however, that this difficulty has much diminished of late.

If the Bill is passed by the Council and receives the Governor-General's assent, it will probably become law at the same time as the Registration Bill which is still under consideration. The two measures cannot be considered apart from one another, since the securities provided by the Registration Bill are calculated to mitigate or remove the objections of those who think that undue advantages are given to fraud and surprise by any judicial system which disposes of suits in India by a single decision.

The basis of the system of the Bill is the Small Cause Court, but the arrangements contemplated will differ considerably from those now in existence. Whenever this measure is brought by the local Government into operation in any district, Small Cause Courts will be established at various points of that district, either singly or in groups. To each of these Courts, whether it be single or one of a group, will be attached an Officer called a Registrar, whose functions are described in the Sections of the Bill from XXXIII to XLI. He will be constantly in attendance at the Court, and will be its chief Ministerial Officer, acting generally under the directions of the Judge. It will be his duty to receive all plaints and documents, issue all notices, and to keep the files of the Court in order for the Judge. He is further empowered to reject plaints (subject to reference to the Judge), to receive and enter up judgments by confession, and to execute decrees. Moreover, it will be in the power of the local Government to invest any Registrar, of whose capacity it is assured, with jurisdiction in cases up to a certain small amount which at present is stated pro formâ in the Bill at twenty Rupees.

Over each Court, or over each group of Courts, a Judge will preside. In towns and densely populated neighbourhoods a single Court with a single Judge will probably be established by the Local Government. In districts less thickly peopled the Courts will be distributed in groups, to each of which a Judge will be assigned. The Local Government will make rules regulating the time and manner of his circuits. It is to be remarked that, when he arrives at each Court, he will probably be able to address himself at once to strictly Judicial business, all business of other descriptions having been disposed of by the Registrar. The nature of the Judge's jurisdiction and the mode of exercising it are defined, and the occasional reservation of cases for the opinion of the High Court is regulated exactly as in the Small Cause Court Acts now in force. The limit of jurisdiction is 500 Rupees, to be increased by the Local Government, in special cases, to 1,000 Rupees. In any suit for a sum exceeding 500 Rupees the High Court will have the power to order the Court to state a case and refer it for the decision of the High Court.

It not unfrequently happens in India that the business of the Civil Courts is subject to great and sudden augmentation, either periodically or at irregular intervals. To meet these contingencies, and to prevent the regular work of the Judge from being inconveniently disturbed by them when they occur, some provisions have been inserted in Sections XVI, XVII, and XVIII. Power is there given to the Local Government to appoint Judges Extraordinary, that is, it may "invest any person with the powers of a Judge of a Court of Small Causes for a limited period or for specific periods in each year;" and persons so invested will aid in the work of a Small Cause Court, in conjunction with the ordinary Judge, under rules which the Local Government will prescribe. These Sections are chiefly intended to render available by the local Government the services of gentlemen practising at the Bars of the various Courts. It is found in England, that though it may be difficult to tempt Barristers in the enjoyment of large practice to accept permanent appointments, yet comparatively small inducements will lead them to undertake periodical duties, either as Recorders or as Judges in certain Local Civil Courts. Provision is, however, made in Section XVIII that no person shall be invested with these powers in any place in which he practises.

Sections X to XIII have been framed to meet complaints of certain practical grievances which have been addressed to the Government. It is believed that under the Code of Civil Procedure and under the general Law, the powers there mentioned might, without special provision in this Act, be exercised by a Small Cause Court. But to prevent all misapprehension it is in those Sections expressly provided that the Judge of any Court constituted under the intended Act may decree specific performance of a contract, whether the contract shall have been partially performed or not; that when a contract is to perform a number of separate or successive acts, he may order the defendant to perform any one or more of such acts without ordering the performance of the entire contract; and that under certain conditions he may make ex parte orders for specific performance, imposing on the applicant for the order such terms as will meet the exigencies of justice.

These powers being exercised under the Act without appeal ought only to be confided to a Judge of knowledge and capacity. And no doubt the difficulty of finding Judges of this description is the true limit to the operation of this measure. But as has been before stated, it is believed that the number of persons fairly qualified by familiarity with law tends steadily, from various causes, to increase in India; and it is to be remarked, besides, that the younger Members of the Covenanted Civil Service, coming to India at a more advanced age than formerly, and having previously devoted a greater share of their time to legal study, will probably supply reasonably qualified Judicial Officers at a comparatively early period of their service in the country. These points are, however, for the decision of the Local Governments.

The Judges are to be under the control of the highest Court of Appeal in each Province, and they may be removed at pleasure by the Local Governments. Power is given to the Local Government to direct a second Judge, Ordinary or Extraordinary, to sit together with the Judge of any particular Court, and this power might be advantageously used to ascertain the manner in which the business of that Court is conducted.

It was originally intended to include in the Bill all the procedure, extracted from the Code of Civil Procedure, which is applicable to Small Cause Courts. But it was found that the measure would thus be rendered inconveniently bulky. It is, accordingly, the intention of the Government to propose the re-enactment of the Civil Procedure Code, introducing into it certain modifications which, since it became law, have received legislative sanction. The Sections applicable to these Courts will be separately marked, and when extracted, will form a Manual of Small Cause Court Procedure.

This subject is submitted to the Council of the Governor-General for making Laws and Regulations, not simply for the sake of uniformity throughout India, but because it would appear that, under the High Courts' Act, and the Letters Patent of the various High Courts, the local Legislatures cannot effectually regulate the relation of Small Cause Courts, constituted under any new Act, to the highest Courts of Civil Appeal. No attempt is, however, made in this Bill to settle the relation which the system established under this Act is to bear to the judicial system in operation for the disposal of cases which, either from their amount or their nature, do not fall within the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Courts. That would appear to be a matter peculiarly within the province of the Local Governments. Inasmuch, however, as the information which had reached the Supreme Government leads it to believe that a very large proportion of the litigation of the country, even as much as 80 per cent, is within the limit of the jurisdiction of the Courts now proposed to be established, it would seem probable that, whenever this Act is extended to any District, the ordinary judicial machinery may be very considerably contracted.

Government of India, Foreign Department.

Out-turn of Cotton in the Central Provinces for the Season 1862.

From CAPTAIN HECTOR MACKENZIE, Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, to COLONEL H. M. DURAND, C. B., Secretary to Government of India, Foreign Department, with the Governor-General,—(dated the 18th August 1863.)

IN my letter No. 307 of the 19th January last an Estimate of the Cotton crop for this season 1862, compared with the out-turn of the season preceding, was submitted for the information of His Excellency the Governor-General of India. I am now desired by the Officiating Chief Commissioner to submit the result of enquiries into the actual out-turn of Cotton estimated after the close of the season 1862.

2. The information will be found abstracted in the Statement accompanying this letter, and I am to offer the following remarks on the subject.

3. The season 1862 has been alomst universally a bad one in respect to the Cotton cultivation. There has been too much rain, and over-moisture is inimical to the development of the plant. Our previous expectations of the gross out-turn have consequently not been fully realized. Thus, whilst the yield was estimated at above forty-seven millions of pounds, the actual out-turn, as estimated at the close of the season, only amounts to about thirty-seven millions of pounds, that is about ten millions of pounds less. The injury done to the crop by the superabundance of rain is, however, not fully represented by the deficit of out-turn just mentioned, for it has since been considered that a larger area was under Cotton cultivation than that stated at the beginning of the year. Thus instead of 5,86,650 acres being under Cotton, as was supposed, there were 6,28,021 acres, or an increase of 41,371 acres. This area of 6,28,021 acres has been ascertained from actual field measurements, field by field, in the Saugor and Jubbulpore Divisions and in almost the entire tract forming the Nagpore Division. It has only been assumed in the Chutteesgurh Division, where the survey has not as yet made much progress. Thus, whilst out of a total area of 6,28,021 acres no less than 5,63,863 acres is the proportion ascertained in the minutest detail from actual field measurements, only 64,158 acres (Chutteesgurh) is the portion taken from local enquiry. This section of the area for Chutteesgurh, thus ascertained by enquiry is, however, believed to be much below the truth. In fact, the statistics of Trade for the Chutteesgurh Division give evidence of a larger Cotton field in that extensive tract of country than is represented by the area given. Thus, by the figures given in the Returns, the total area under Cotton cultivation during the past season may safely be set down at not less than 6,28,021.

4. This Area Return will, the Officiating Chief Commissioner hopes, be found as complete as possible for all Districts save Chutteesgurh. It rests on the firmest that can be obtained and will form a starting point for future statistics.

5. In a good season the yield per acre of Seed Cotton is four maunds or 328 lbs., and according to the native method of cleaning the yield of cleaned Cotton Wool is one-fourth or 82 lbs. per acre. In some Districts the yield has been as high as 115 lbs. cleaned Cotton per acre. But taking it at the average of 82 lbs. the total out-turn of the first season might have been as much as 51½ millions of lbs., whereas the highest estimate has only reached 47 millions, and whereas we have only had about 37 millions lbs., or about 14½ millions lbs. less, and this would more properly represent the injury sustained from the inclemency of the past season.

6. The prospects for the season 1863 are, as far as they are as yet known, encouraging. That a larger area will be brought under Cotton cultivation than even the past season, when it was higher than it was ever known before, is pretty certain. What that increase is will be known in the course of next month, when the information shall have come in from all the Settlement Officers in the Districts. That there will be a considerable increase there can be little doubt when the steadily rising demand and the range of prices are considered. Cotton is now selling in the market at Nagpore at 16 pence the lb. This is, of course, the retail price, the wholesale rate must be lower. But this local retail price is indicative of a very large exportation of Cotton from these Provinces, and there must be a very small stock reserved for home consumption when the English market prices of Indian grown Cotton can be demanded here and find purchasers.

7. The estimated exportations during the recent spring and summer months of 1863 amounted to a little more than 27 millions lbs., and 3¼ millions lbs. are awaiting exportation as soon as the roads shall be open after the monsoon. Thus some 30¼ millions lbs., or 13,616 tons, will have been exported out of the total out-turn of the past season of about 37 millions lbs.

8. At all the Cotton marts the Cotton is bought and sold by the "boja" or "load" made up by the two bales carried by a pack bullock. The weight of the boja is 262 lbs. The price per boja has fluctuated considerably. It rose from 40 to 141 Rupees within the year. It stood longer, however, above the mean of these two prices, so that 100 Rupees per boja would fairly represent the average selling price during last year. At this rate, then, the value of the Cotton estimated as exported, or for exportation, would appear to be Rupees 1,16,41,200, or upwards of a million sterling.

9. The greater portion of Cotton Export has taken advantage of the opening of the Rail to Mulkapore in Berar, and gone by that route to Bombay for shipment to England. The route to Mirzapore, formerly the one most preferred, has now been entirely given up, except perhaps for the small produce in the Districts lying on the northern confines of these Provinces. A small traffic goes down by the Mohanuddy to Cuttack on the eastern coast.

10. During the past month a quantity of acclimatized American Cotton Seed received from Dharwar has been distributed among the Farmers in the best Cotton growing Districts, also a small quantity of Egyptian seed. It is hoped that the success of the present sowings with the foreign seed will be greater than that of the last season, when it almost entirely failed. The sowings were made too early in the season for foreign seed, and the failure is partly attributed to this. This year the sowings with foreign seed will not commence till the beginning of August, and better results are looked for. Some experiments on a small scale last year succeeded admirably. Those plants that survived the extreme humidity of the early rains grew up into strong healthy plants and to a height far surpassing that of the indigenous plants, the yield of Cotton being in proportion large.

11. In conclusion, I am desired by Mr. Temple to submit that the statistics of the Cotton cultivation in these Provinces, above supplied, may prove useful to the Chambers of Commerce of Calcutta and Bombay.

Government of India, Public Works Department.

Receipts from the East India Railway.

Note by the Assistant Consulting Engineer, Government of Bengal, Railway Department,—(dated the 17th August 1863.)

The Revenue Account for the half-year ending June 1863 has just been received from the Agent. Its results are invested with a peculiar interest from the circumstance that this is the first period during which the Calcutta Line has enjoyed the advantage of direct communication with any of the great cities on the Ganges.

The gross amount earned was ... Rs. 43,05,489

Profits Rs. 21,82,703

The profit realised in the previous half-year aggregated Rupees 9,53,692, and in the corresponding half of the previous year Rupees 12,20,555.

The distance run by Trains was 10,62,486 miles in 1863

and 6,46,990 }

and the Return per Train mile in each of these half-years (inclusive of Steam Ferry Receipts)—

Rs. 4 0 10 in 1863,
„ 3 1 2 in the last,
and „ 3 11 9 in the first-half of 1862.

The open length consisted of—

533½ miles of Trunk Line.
and 19¾ miles of River Branches.

or 607¼ miles in all during the entire term, while the average distance open in the preceding half-years was 386 and 345 miles respectively. The Returns per mile open were—

Rs. 7,093 0 11 in 1863,
„ 5,776 0 1 in the last,
and „ 7,003 11 2 in the first-half of 1862.

The Coaching Traffic realised Rupees 18,33,683, of which sum Rupees 13,07,014 were derived from Third Class Passengers alone; the other two classes yielding an aggregate of not more than Rupees 2,65,800, and the remainder consisting of freight on Parcels, Luggage, Carriages, &c. The highest amount before earned from conveyance of Third Class Passengers never exceeded Rupees 6,80,000, nor the total of Coaching Receipts Rupees 9,63,000.

But the greatest improvement is shewn in the Merchandize Receipts, where the previous results have been more than doubled. Ordinary goods carried for the public brought in a revenue of over 14½ lakhs of Rupees against 5,81,900 in the first half-year of 1862. Railway materials have been carried to a far less extent than before; this, however, is not at all to be regretted, as the service has hitherto displaced the paying traffic.

Coal carried for the public has increased very slightly, which is not surprising considering that the Tariff charge is prohibitory for long distances. On the other hand the quantity of Coal for Railway use conveyed in this half-year was

and 4,92,734 „ in the early half of 1862.

The Steam Ferry earnings shew a serious falling off, due to the small realizations from towage of vessels. At the same time the working charges have increased considerably. The item of salaries and allowances of Captains and Crew has for some years past exceeded the total sum derived from the Railway service, but heavy expenses for repairs appear to have been incurred this season, and an entry also occurs of Rs. 7,330 for compensation to cargo boats damaged on the river. It is questionable whether the existing rates of charge are altogether fair to the Ferry Steamers, and the present result may afford fair ground for proposing a re-adjustment. The addition of a low terminal charge, for instance, to be carried to the credit of the Ferry service might be attended with advantage to the Company, while it would scarcely be felt by the public. It is also for consideration whether economy in working might not be promoted by the introduction of a class of vessels better suited for plying between the Landing Jetties.

The working expenses have amounted to 49·3 and the profits to 50·7 per cent. of the gross earnings. But it is to be noted that whereas 607 miles of Railway have been employed for traffic in this half-year only 344 miles have been maintained at the cost of Revenue, the expense of upholding the other portion being a charge on capital for the first year after opening. In the preceding half-year the working expenses amounted to 57·2 and the profits to 42·8 per cent. of the earnings, and in the first-half of 1862 to 49·5 and 50·5 per cent. respectively. It is scarcely necessary to add that in Bengal the last half of a year is invariably the least productive to a Railway, owing to the prevalence of the rains and the consequent facilities afforded for competitive river navigation.

Taking the outlay on construction at £21,000 per mile, the dividend for the half-year would be 1·56 per cent., or at the rate of 3·1 per cent. per annum. On this basis of cost, the dividend for the last half-year of 1862 attained 2·1 per cent. per annum. For the previous half-year £19,000 per mile has been reckoned as the approximate expenditure in a review already submitted to Government, and the rate of dividend stated at 3·4 per cent.

That the gross earnings should in this first half-year have increased in a ratio so much higher than the mileage of the Trains cannot but be regarded as a most assuring feature in the Account, and the result may be accepted as an earnest of the prosperity which awaits the Railway on completion of the one link now wanting to connect the metropolis of India with the heart of the upper trading-districts.

Government of Bengal.

Proceedings of the several Agricultural Exhibition Committees in Dacca.

From F. B. Simson, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of Dacca, to the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 173, dated the 26th August 1863.)

With reference to your letter No. 3194, dated the 27th June last, I have the honor to submit, for the information of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, the following Abstract of the Proceedings of the several Agricultural Exhibition Committees of this Division for July last:—

2. Dacca.—I regret that my unavoidable absence at Sylhet prevented my presiding at the Meeting which was held here. Mr. Reynold, the Officiating Collector, took the Chair, and briefly explained the objects of the Meeting, and laid the correspondence relating to the Exhibition before the Committee.

3. In the discussion which ensued it appeared to be the opinion of the Committee that Dacca could do nothing in the Department of Agriculture and Implements, and very little in the Department of Live Stock, but that excellent specimens of country produce might be sent from the District. It was agreed, however, that enquiry should be made for specimens of Live Stock suitable for exhibition Mr. Wise and Khajeh Abdool Gunny expressed an intention of exhibiting in this Department. In the Department of Country Produce the Committee thought that Rice, Safflower, Indigo, Jute, Oil Seeds, &c., would be proper objects of exhibition.

4. Copies of Prize Lists were distributed to the Members of the Committee, at whose suggestion the Collector has indented for some more copies for the purpose of giving the widest publicity to the objects of the Exhibition.

5. Mymensing.—The object of the Exhibition was explained to the Zemindar Members of the Local Committee, who were requested to publish the contents of this Government Notification in their respective Estates, with which view copies were given to them. Prize Lists have been sent for from Calcutta.

6. The Meeting adjourned till the 15th instant, the Members having engaged to ascertain, as far as possible, the likelihood of any Live Stock or products of a superior quality being procurable in the District; but the opinion was generally held that the difficulties of the land journey would prevent any animals reaching Calcutta in good condition.

7. Furreedpore.—A Meeting of the Members of the Committee was held last month, when a letter was addressed to the Honorary Secretary in Calcutta for copies in English and Vernacular of the Prize Lists for circulation through the District, and some of the leading inhabitants have been requested to lend their aid to the Committee in carrying out the objects of the Exhibition.

8. Sylhet.—Two Meetings of the Committee were held in Sylhet when the object of the Exhibition was explained, and the people were invited to send specimens of all kinds of produce. The Collector remarks that the inhabitants of the District are extremely poor, and the Members of the Committee not sufficient in number to enter into any large outlays, but he trusts that Sylhet will not be backward in the race of competition. Its products, he says, are very limited, while the neighbouring Districts have larger natural means at their disposal. At the next Meeting specimens of all kinds will be exhibited and arrangements considerably matured.

9. I had the honor to preside at the third Meeting on the 17th instant, when collections were made for expenses and measures taken for more widely notifying the objects of the Exhibition.

10. The following Resolution was made by the Committee for the consideration of Government, which is accordingly hereby brought to His Honor's notice:—

11. That one of the Government Steamers at the disposal of the Commissioner of Assam may be allowed to take a trip vid Cachar and Sylhet to Calcutta for the purpose of conveying Live Stock and produce from these places to the Exhibition, as in ordinary boats: the passage takes up so much time and is so uncertain that Live Stock would fall off and appear to a disadvantage, and produce of various kinds would also deteriorate.

12. No Reports have been received from the Collector of Backergunge.

13. Cachar—"The Proceedings of the last Meeting were read. It was pointed out by Captain Stewart that many of the articles proposed for exhibition at the last Meeting were not such as were to be exposed for competition at the Exhibition according to the Prize List since circulated.

"Agreed, that the Committee send only such articles as are exposed to public competition. Captain Stewart informed the Meeting that he had appointed Colonel McCulloch, at present in Munipore, and Captain Clarke, of North Cachar, Members of the Local Committee, to act in the Sub-Committees of the Live Stock and Country Produce Departments. The measure was approved.

"Read and appended to the Proceedings the Report of the Sub-Committee in the Live Stock Department presented by Captain Sherer.

"Agreed, that the Proceedings of the Sub-Committee are satisfactory, and that thanks are due to Mr. Davidson for the public spirit which he has exhibited in proffering to send his Ponies to the Show at his own expense, these animals being acknowledged to be of the best blood at present in Cachar.

"Read and appended to the Proceedings a letter from Captain Clarke, offering to procure for the Committee specimens of good Metuas and Hill Goats, and also of a cross breed between the Metua and the Cow, and asking what sum he might expend on their purchase.

"Resolved, that Captain Clarke be thanked for his offer, and be desired to purchase the best specimens going at the lowest possible price, but without limitation.

"Captain Sherer informed the Committee that he had received a private letter from Colonel McCulloch, in Munipoor, intimating his readiness to aid the Committee in procuring specimens both of animals and of produce.

"Resolved, that Colonel McCulloch be addressed and thanked, and that he be asked to procure the best pair of well bred and well matched Geldings to be had in Munipoor at the lowest possible price, but without limitation.

"Read and appended to the Proceedings the Report of the Sub-Committee in the Tea Department presented by Mr. Davidson.

"Read also and likewise appended a letter from Mr. A. Davidson, a Member of the Committee.

"Resolved, that these Reports are satisfactory; that there is no desire on the part of the Committee to prevent parties sending specimens of their produce direct to the Exhibition; that the purposes of the Committee and of the Exhibition will be equally well answered if they do so individually ; and that the object of the Committee is simply to facilitate the transmission of specimen to the Exhibition.

" Proposed by Mr. Davidson, and unanimously accorded to, that whereas the Circular sent round to the Tea Planters, agreeably to the Proceedings of the last Meeting, did not specify that the samples of Tea to be sent were to be guaranteed samples of at least twenty maunds of the same sort as ruled by the Prize List since published, that a further Circular be sent round to this effect by the Sub-Committee.

" Read the Report of the Sub-Committee in the Country Produce Department presented by Captain Stewart, which was agreed to be satisfactory.

" Resolved, that Captain Stewart be appointed Treasurer of the Committee.

" Resolved, that each subscribing Member do pay to Captain Stewart, without loss of time, the sum of Rupees 100 on account of the purposes of the Committee in a first instalment.

" The Meeting then adjourned."

Proviso.

Jurisdiction of the Court.

IX. Every Court of Small Causes constituted under this Act shall have cognizance of all such suits as are mentioned in the last preceding Section, if the defendant at the time of the commencement of the suit shall dwell, or personally work for gain or carry on business, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of such Court; or if the cause of action arose within the said local limits and the defendant, at the time of the commencement of the suit, shall by his servant or agent carry on business or work for gain within those limits. Service of any summons issued under this Act, on any servant or agent by whom the defendant may carry on business or work for gain, shall be deemed to be good service upon the defendant, provided that such agent or servant himself at the time of such service personally carries on the business or work for gain for the defendant, within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court from which the summons issues.

Suit may be entertained for specific performance of contract.

X. Any Court of Small Causes constituted under this Act may entertain and take cognizance of suits to enforce the specific performance of contracts, when the penalty or liquidated damages to which the defendant would have been liable, if the suit had been brought for the recovery of such penalty or liquidated damages, shall not exceed the amount to which the jurisdiction of the Court is limited.

What order may be given in suit for specific performance.

XI. A suit for the specific performance of a contract may be instituted whether the contract shall have been partially performed or not. If the contract be to perform a number of separate or successive acts, the Court may order the defendant specifically to perform any one or more of such acts without ordering him to specifically perform the entire contract, imposing such terms (if any) upon the plaintiff as shall seem to the Court to be just.

In certain cases an ex parte order may be made.

The Court may make an order for the specific performance of a contract or of any part of a contract in the absence of the defendant, and on the ex parte application of the plaintiff, whenever it shall be satisfied that the plaintiff is likely to be materially prejudiced if any delay take place in the making of such order, and that the application is made bonâ fide. In any case in which it shall make such an order ex parte, the Court shall impose on the plaintiff such terms as shall seem just.

Order how enforced.

XII. Any order made by the Court under the last preceding Section, if not immediately complied with, may be enforced by the imprisonment of the defendant, or the attachment of his property to such an extent as shall to the Court seem proper, or by both imprisonment and attachment. The imprisonment shall be subject to all the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to imprisonment.

Compensation may be awarded if application for specific performance is improperly made or an ex parte order improperly obtained.

XIII. If it shall appear to the Court that the order for specific performance was applied for on insufficient grounds, or if the plaintiff's suit is dismissed or judgment is given against him by default or otherwise, and it shall appear to the Court that there was no probable ground for instituting the suit, the Court may on the application of the defendant award against the plaintiff such sum, not exceeding the amount to which the jurisdiction of the Court is limited, as it may deem a reasonable compensation to the defendant for the expense or injury occasioned to him by the institution of the suit, or by the making an order for specific performance. An award of compensation shall bar any suit for damages in respect of the institution of the said suit or of any order made in it.

Suits within the jurisdiction of and cognizable by a Court of Small Causes, not to be heard by any other Court.

XIV. Wherever a Court of Small Causes is constituted under this Act, no suit cognizable by such Court shall be heard or determined in any other Court having any jurisdiction within the local limits of the jurisdiction of such Court of Small Causes. Provided that nothing in this Act shall be held to take away the jurisdiction which

Statement of Objects and Reasons.

The object of this Bill is to provide judicial machinery which may dispose of the petty Civil litigation of those parts of India to which it may be possible to extend it, without compelling the litigant to have recourse to an appeal, but, at the same time, without depriving him in any considerable degree of the securities for justice which are at present afforded by the appeal system.

The Bill proceeds on the assumption that the smaller litigation of the country may be separated from the larger, and on the principle now recognized in England and Scotland, that different judicial machinery may be applied to the smaller suits from that which is ordinarily employed in dealing with cases of which the importance is greater, and in which larger interests are at stake. It is essential to the system to which this Bill relates, on the one hand, that the decisions of the Judicial Officers appointed under it should be final, and, on the other hand, that the qualifications of those Officers should be such as to afford a guarantee for justice, equal or nearly equal to that which is now afforded by the opportunity for correcting mistakes furnished by the power of appeal.

The difficulty of finding such Judicial Officers in India, without taking away an undue number of qualified persons from other not less important duties, is no doubt the chief obstacle to the system provided by the Bill, and it is therefore probable that this system can only be introduced gradually. It is believed, however, that this difficulty has much diminished of late.

If the Bill is passed by the Council and receives the Governor-General's assent, it will probably become law at the same time as the Registration Bill which is still under consideration. The two measures cannot be considered apart from one another, since the securities provided by the Registration Bill are calculated to mitigate or remove the objections of those who think that undue advantages are given to fraud and surprise by any judicial system which disposes of suits in India by a single decision.

The basis of the system of the Bill is the Small Cause Court, but the arrangements contemplated will differ considerably from those now in existence. Whenever this measure is brought by the local Government into operation in any district, Small Cause Courts will be established at various points of that district, either singly or in groups. To each of these Courts, whether it be single or one of a group, will be attached an Officer called a Registrar, whose functions are described in the Sections of the Bill from XXXIII to XLI. He will be constantly in attendance at the Court, and will be its chief Ministerial Officer, acting generally under the directions of the Judge. It will be his duty to receive all plaints and documents, issue all notices, and to keep the files of the Court in order for the Judge. He is further empowered to reject plaints (subject to reference to the Judge), to receive and enter up judgments by confession, and to execute decrees. Moreover, it will be in the power of the local Government to invest any Registrar, of whose capacity it is assured, with jurisdiction in cases up to a certain small amount which at present is stated pro formâ in the Bill at twenty Rupees.

Over each Court, or over each group of Courts, a Judge will preside. In towns and densely populated neighbourhoods a single Court with a single Judge will probably be established by the Local Government. In districts less thickly peopled the Courts will be distributed in groups, to each of which a Judge will be assigned. The Local Government will make rules regulating the time and manner of his circuits. It is to be remarked that, when he arrives at each Court, he will probably be able to address himself at once to strictly Judicial business, all business of other descriptions having been disposed of by the Registrar. The nature of the Judge's jurisdiction and the mode of exercising it are defined, and the occasional reservation of cases for the opinion of the High Court is regulated exactly as in the Small Cause Court Acts now in force. The limit of jurisdiction is 500 Rupees, to be increased by the Local Government, in special cases, to 1,000 Rupees. In any suit for a sum exceeding 500 Rupees the High Court will have the power to order the Court to state a case and refer it for the decision of the High Court.

It not unfrequently happens in India that the business of the Civil Courts is subject to great and sudden augmentation, either periodically or at irregular intervals. To meet these contingencies, and to prevent the regular work of the Judge from being inconveniently disturbed by them when they occur, some provisions have been inserted in Sections XVI, XVII, and XVIII. Power is there given to the Local Government to appoint Judges Extraordinary, that is, it may "invest any person with the powers of a udge of a Court of Small Causes for a limited period or for specific periods in each year;" and persons so invested will aid in the work of a Small Cause Court, in conjunction with the ordinary Judge, under rules which the Local Government will prescribe. These Sections are chiefly intended to render available by the local Government the services of gentlemen practising at the Bars of the various Courts. It is found in England, that though it may be difficult to tempt Barristers in the enjoyment of large practice to accept permanent appointments, yet comparatively small inducements will lead them to undertake periodical duties, either as Recorders or as Judges in certain Local Civil Courts. Provision is, however, made in Section XVIII that no person shall be invested with these powers in any place in which he practises.

Sections X to XIII have been framed to meet complaints of certain practical grievances which have been addressed to the Government. It is believed that under the Code of Civil Procedure and under the general Law, the powers there mentioned might, without special provision in this Act, be exercised by a Small Cause Court. But to prevent all misapprehension it is in those Sections expressly provided that the Judge of any Court constituted under the intended Act may decree specific performance of a contract, whether the contract shall have been partially performed or not; that when a contract is to perform a number of separate or successive acts, he may order the defendant to perform any one or more of such acts without ordering the performance of the entire contract; and that under certain conditions he may make ex parte orders for specific performance, imposing on the applicant for the order such terms as will meet the exigencies of justice.

These powers being exercised under the Act without appeal ought only to be confided to a Judge of knowledge and capacity. And no doubt the difficulty of finding Judges of this description is the true limit to the operation of this measure. But, as has been before stated, it is believed that the number of persons fairly qualified by familiarity with law tends steadily, from various causes, to increase in India; and it is to be remarked, besides, that the younger Members of the Covenanted Civil Service coming to India at a more advanced age than formerly, and having previously devoted a greater share of their time to legal study, will probably supply reasonably qualified Judicial Officers at a comparatively early period of their service in the country. These points are, however, for the decision of the Local Governments.

The Judges are to be under the control of the highest Court of Appeal in each Province, and they may be removed at pleasure by the Local Governments. Power is given to the Local Government to direct a second Judge, Ordinary or Extraordinary, to sit together with the Judge of any particular Court, and this power might be advantageously used to ascertain the manner in which the business of that Court is conducted.

It was originally intended to include in the Bill all the procedure, extracted from the Code of Civil Procedure, which is applicable to Small Cause Courts. But it was found that the measure would thus be rendered inconveniently bulky. It is, accordingly, the intention of the Government to propose the re-enactment of the Civil Procedure Code, introducing into it certain modifications which, since it became law, have received legislative sanction. The Sections applicable to these Courts will be separately marked, and when extracted, will form a Manual of Small Cause Court Procedure.

This subject is submitted to the Council of the Governor-General for making Laws and Regulations, not simply for the sake of uniformity throughout India, but because it would appear that, under the High Courts' Act, and the Letters Patent of the various High Courts, the local Legislatures cannot effectually regulate the relation of Small Cause Courts, constituted under any new Act, to the highest Courts of Civil Appeal. No attempt is, however, made in this Bill to settle the relation which the system established under this Act is to bear to the judicial system in operation for the disposal of cases which, either from their amount or their nature, do not fall within the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Courts. That would appear to be a matter peculiarly within the province of the Local Governments. Inasmuch, however, as the information which had reached the Supreme Government leads it to believe that a very large proportion of the litigation of the country, even as much as 80 per cent, is within the limit of the jurisdiction of the Courts now proposed to be established, it would seem probable that, whenever this Act is extended to any District, the ordinary judicial machinery may be very considerably contracted.

Proceedings of the several Agricultural Exhibition Committees in the Burdwan Division.

From C. F. Montresor, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of Burdwan, to the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 32, dated the 7th September 1863.)

In continuation of my Abstract of the Proceedings, No. 23, dated 27th July last, of the Committee appointed in this Division in connection with the Agricultural Exhibition to be held at Alipore in January next, I have the honor to submit a further Report of the Proceedings during the month of August.

2. Beerbhoom.—At the third Meeting of the Beerbhoom Committee held on the 18th August it was resolved, firstly, to disabuse the public should the false rumours on the subject of the compulsory sale of animals and produce sent for exhibition reach Beerbhoom; and secondly, with with reference to the probability that free passes may be given by the Railway Company to Exhibitors for the carriage of animals and produce, that all Exhibitors are to be requested to produce before the Local Committee, at one of their Meetings in December and January, the animals and produce they intend sending, when Certificates will be given for such as are eligible for exhibition to their owners; and that others who are inclined to exhibit without such Certificate could do so at their expense without reference to the Committee.

* * * * * * *

4. The following are likely to be sent from Beerbhoom for exhibition:—

From Elambazar.—A Bull one year old; a pair of draught Cattle, Indigo, Arrowroot, Ghee, Tussur Silk.

By Baboo Keenaram Ghose.—Clean Cotton, Safflower, Atub Rice, and Tussur Cocoons.

By Baboo Tarachurn Mookerjee.—Wheat, Gram, and Shun.

By Baboo Sham Soonder.—Wheat, Mustard, Cotton, and Indigo.

By Mr. O. W. Malet.—Sheep, Fowls, Cotton, and Arrowroot.

By Baboo Benoderam Sein.—Poppy Seed and Mowah Flower.

By Mr. Jenkins.—Some specimens of Sonthal Implements of husbandry.

5. Hooghly.—In Hooghly a Meeting was held on the 4th August, when measures were adopted for the distribution of the Prize List.

6. The contribution from Hooghly, as far as can be ascertained at present, are likely to consist of the following:—Bulls, Cows, Fowls, Pigeons, Rice, Potatoes, Sweet Potatoes, Turmeric, Arrowroot, Ginger, Jute, Silk.

7. From a large and wealthy District such as Hooghly greater contributions might reasonably be expected; but I am informed that, owing to its suburban locality, the tendency of the influential inhabitants is to invest capital in Commercial rather than Agricultural undertakings.

8. Midnapore.—In Midnapore a Meeting was held on the 15th July, when it was proposed to add the name of the Rajah of Naraingurh to the Local Committee there, and the Bengalee copies of the Prize List were ordered to be distributed amongst the leading Native Zemindars.

9. The following, it is supposed by the Committee, will be sent for exhibition from Midnapore:—Of Live Stock—Buffaloes, especially those from the neighbourhood of Naraingurh, where they are frequently crossed by wild ones, Jungle Fowls, and Guinea Fowls.

10. Of Produce—Specimens of Sugar-cane and the Sugar extracted from them; Silk and Tussur Cocoons, with the Silk produced from these; specimens of Cotton of local growth, and some of the Mats which are manufactured with great skill in the District.

11. The following are promised to be sent :—

By Mr. Terry.—Specimens of Fowls and Agricultural Implements.

Baboo Prosunno Chunder Banerjea.—A Mat. This description of Mats were sent to the London Exhibition and obtained a Medal. It is doubtful whether these can be admitted under the head of Agricultural Produce.

12. The Rajah of Naraingurh, it was thought, would be willing to fatten and send a pair of Buffaloes from his part, and the Officiating Collector was asked by the Local Committee to address him on the subject.

13. I have pointed out to the Magistrate and Collector of Midnapore that articles sent to the Exhibition should be strictly confined to the classification in the Prize List, as manufactures would not be admitted, excepting such as Indigo and the like, which do not admit of the plant being sent in a raw state.

14. I have also informed him that animals should not be over-fattened, as they will be difficult to move about, and that it is not the object of the Committee to test the advantage of feeding, but the breed of Cattle.

15. Since the submission of my last Report I have heard nothing further from the Magistrate and Collector of Burdwan, and have this day issued a reminder.

16. In Howrah and Bancoorah Local Committees were appointed on the 28th July last and 5th ultimo respectively, but no report of their Proceedings have been submitted by the Magistrates of those Districts. The attention of the Local Officers has accordingly been drawn to the subject.

Distribution of Plants from the Botanic Gardens.

From T. ANDERSON, ESQ., M. D., Superintendent, Royal Botanic Gardens, to S. C. BAYLEY, ESQ., Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 52, dated the 18th August 1863.)

IN reply to your endorsement No. 1782, I have the honor to submit the following Report on the recommendation of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society to re-establish a modified system of distribution of Plants from the Botanic Gardens. I may mention that, though I am a Member of the Council of the Agri-Horticultural Society, I was not present at the Meeting at which the proposition now under report originated, as I was then absent from Calcutta on duty. I returned in time to attend the Meeting of the Society when the proposal was finally disposed of. I state this to account for the ignorance on the part of the other Members of the Council of the following facts with reference to the distribution of Plants from the Botanic Gardens. Had these been generally known, it is probable that the Council would not have considered it necessary to make this recommendation to the Government. Although the gratuitous distribution of plants to Residents in Calcutta has been discontinued by the Orders of Government since 1st April 1857,* still the greater activity in the system of exchanges with foreign Botanic Gardens, which has existed for the last few years, has resulted in the introduction of many rare plants, principally of botanical interest. The consequence of this has been that every year a considerable surplus stock of the rare plants of the Garden propagated for the purpose of exchange with other Scientific Institutions has remained in the Nurseries. These surplus plants, as shewn in my Annual Reports on the Botanic Gardens, have been freely distributed for the last three years to applicants in Calcutta to the extent of 3,455 plants in 1860 and 1861, 649 plants in the year 1861-62, and 1,577 plants in 1862-63. They were in most cases given to applicants whom, by personal acquaintance or otherwise, I knew to be interested in the progress of Horticulture. Some of these applicants had made small but valuable contribution of new and rare plants to the Botanic Gardens, but the greater number of plants given away were strictly gratuitously distributed. In addition to this, in November 1862 so many plants remained in the Nurseries occupying pots and not likely to be required for any of the purposes of the Garden, that I was induced to offer them for sale at fixed prices. Accordingly 800 plants, all of valuable and rare species, such as exotic palms, ornamental foliaged plants, and in one case the entire surplus stock of two highly ornamental Coniferæ, one of which has never to my knowledge borne seed in India before, were put aside for sale in a conspicuous and much frequented part of the Garden. The intended sale was advertized on six occasions in the Englishman Newspaper, and in the Exchange Gazette. After the lapse of a month, though the prices were in all cases the half and a third of those asked by Nurserymen in England for similar stock of ordinary Florists flowers, only three hundred were sold, and, strange to say, only five of the beautiful well-grown seedlings of the Podocarpus Chinensis were asked for. The price fixed for a single plant of this species was only 8 annas. As further proof of the moderate rate fixed for the plants, it is only necessary to state the case of Pinus Longifolia, for single plants of which 4 annas only were charged, while in the priced Catalogue of the Government Gardens at Otacamund for 1862-63 the charge for single plant of this same species is Rupees 1-2. The experiment ended in my making over to the Agri-Horticultural Society nearly the whole of the unsold stock in hopes that the Society might be able to effect their distribution. It is my intention to repeat the experiment of selling the surplus stock this year, and I shall duly report the result. The attempt was so complete a failure last year that I am desirous of trying it once more before I form any opinion about the causes. From what I heard in conversation with some of my friends the Mallees of Calcutta looked on it as an attempt to interfere with their now legitimate trade, and they in many cases dissuaded their Masters from purchasing by false statements about the greater cheapness of such plants in the bazar. I regret very much that I was not able to lay the result of this experimental sale before the Society. I am certain that any renewal of the perfectly gratuitous distribution of plants would do great harm to the incipient trade in plants that has commenced in Calcutta, and would be the reverse of the laudable attempt of Mr. Manuel and Mr. Cockburn to start Nurseries on the English plan. For the present I would recommend that the sale of plants, actually surplus Nursery stock, may be allowed for this year. I shall take care that the sale is duly advertized in the Papers. In conclusion, I think that greater stimulus would be given to the progress of Horticulture in India by a well directed and periodical distribution of the vast number of seeds annually produced in the Botanic Gardens. In the Botanic Gardens of Europe, such as the Jardin des Plantes, with which I keep up a constant system of exchange of seeds, a perfect plan of seed collection and periodic distribution have been kept up as one of the most important departments of the Institution. Seed Catalogues are published every year and distributed, and lists from those desirous to obtain seeds must be forwarded by a fixed day. After that day the entire collection of the previous six months is divided among the applicants and the surplus stock is destroyed, so as to secure the distribution of nothing but really fresh seeds. If such a system could be adopted here, and it might easily be done at a small expense, great advances, I am certain, would take place in the progress of Horticulture all over India, while the rising interests of Nurserymen and Native Mallees would not be interfered with. I am perfectly prepared to inaugurate such a system, and as forty-eight pages of the Catalogue of plants cultivated in the Botanic Gardens have been printed, I shall soon be able to compile from it an "Index seminum" of all seeds that might be procurable here. The entire system of seed collecting and distribution from this Garden is most unsatisfactory, and has been the cause of constant complaint for very many years.

* As per Notification dated 23rd March 1854.

From the HON'BLE A. EDEN, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Superintendent, Botanical Gardens,—(No. 419T., dated Bhaugulpore, the 31st August 1863.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 52, dated the 15th instant, reporting on the application of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society, that the distribution of plants from the Government Botanical Garden may be resumed, with the proviso that all plants supplied therefrom shall be charged for at a fixed price.

2. In reply I am to inform you that the plan followed by you last year, by which all surplus plants were put up for unreserved sale, has the Lieutenant-Governor's approval, and His Honor authorizes the continuance of the experiment for another year.

3. As regards the latter portion of your letter I am to request that you will submit a detailed scheme for the distribution of seeds on the plan adopted in the Jardin des Plantes.

Every person holding a license as a Recruiter of laborers shall wear a badge, having legibly inscribed on it, in the vernacular language of the District or Districts in which he is licensed to engage laborers, the name of the place to which he is licensed to engage laborers to proceed. No Recruiter shall engage or attempt to engage laborers in any District, or in the Towns of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, without having first exhibited his license to a Magistrate in such District or Town, and obtained the countersignature of such Magistrate thereupon. Upon so appearing, the Recruiter shall state to the Magistrate to what depôt he intends that the laborer shall proceed, and the Magistrte shall thereupon examine the laborer with reference to his engagement; and if it appears that he comprehends the nature of the engagement he has entered into, and that he is willing to fulfil the same, the Magistrate shall register the name of such laborer, and the depôt to which it is intended he shall proceed, in a book to be kept for the purpose, in such form as the Local Government shall prescribe: but if the Magistrate shall be of opinion that such person does not comprehend the nature of his engagement, or that he has been induced to enter into it by fraud or misrepresentation, he shall refuse to register the name of such person. SCHEDULE A.

Office of the Protector of Emigrants at the Port of

A. B. is hereby licensed under Act of 1863 of the Governor-General of India in Council to be a Recruiter for engaging persons to proceed to for the purpose of labouring for hire.

This license will be in force for one year only from this date.

Dated the day of

(Signed) C. D.,
Protector of Emigrants.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Emigration laws in force in India have for some time past been under the consideration of the Government of India. In preparing a measure for the amendment and systematization of those laws, it has been thought desirable to keep the following objects in view:—

1. The consolidation (with the necessary improvements) of the various Acts now in the Statute Book.
2. The repression of any abuses which may exist in the recruitment of laborers.
3. The protection of the laborers and the regulation of the Depôts.
4. The definition and description by express law of the duties of the Protector of Emigrants.
5. The removal of the discrepancies which exist between the system of Emigration to French Colonies, and the system under which emigration takes place to dependencies of the British Empire and certain other localities.
6. The removal, by well-considered general provisions, of the necessity for separate legislation in particular cases.

I. With a view to the consolidation of the law, all previous Statutes relating to Emigration (with the exception of Act XLVI of 1860 and Act VII of 1862, but including the Crimping Act,) are repealed. It is supposed that the provisions of the Penal Code, as to abduction or kidnapping and the somewhat severe penalties in this Bill provided to prevent involuntary emigration, will have the effect of rendering the Crimping Act superfluous.

II. The task of framing provisions for the effectual repression of abuses which exist, or which may possibly grow up in the recruitment of laborers, has been very greatly facilitated by the passing of the recent Bengal Act III of 1863. That Act appears to have been so carefully considered, and to be so well calculated to effect its object, that it has been thought desirable to follow it substantially in the part of the present measure now under consideration. The principal difference between the machinery of this Bill, and the system which it is intended to supersede, consists in the provision that every recruited laborer shall, instead of being forwarded at once to the Coast, be taken before a Magistrate for registration. Previously to registration, the Magistrate will interrogate the recruit as to his comprehension of the engagement and willingness to fulfil it. The recruit, if the examination should prove satisfactory, is then, under proper regulations, to be forwarded to the Depôt, and there to be at once inspected by the Medical Officer. The Recruiter is to be regularly licensed, and the latter Sections of the Bill provide, by penalties of fine and imprisonment, against unlicensed recruiting, against neglecting to take the recruit for examination before a Magistrate, and against forwarding the recruit to the Coast without registration. Further, in order to punish and prevent malpractices which are said to be not unknown in some parts of India, any person who may falsely represent himself to have Government authority for recruiting, or who may attempt to induce the Police to assist him, is rendered liable to imprisonment or fine.

III. For the protection of the Emigrant when he has reached the Coast, Depôts are to be licensed and to be liable to constant inspection. There is to be a Medical Officer for every place to which emigration is authorized. The Protector is to be present at the first examinatian of the laborer and at his embarkation.

If he is unfit to proceed on his voyage, the Emigration Agent of the Colony for which he was intended, must send him back to his District.

The Bill provides securities (consisting in the Magistrate's registration, the Emigration Agent's certificate, the list of the Protector, the list of the Captain of the Emigrant vessel, and the list of the Customs' Officer) against any other than registered Emigrants being embarked. It further provides for the survey and licensing of Emigrant Ships; for their being duly provisioned and supplied with Medical stores, boats, and other necessaries.

IV. The Bill for the first time gives a legal description and definition of the duties of a Protector of Emigrants. Although the Protector is relieved from some of his functions by the provisions for local registration in the Emigrant's District, it is assumed that his duties are still sufficiently numerous and important for it to be desirable that the Protector should be an Officer with no other avocations. These duties will embrace the general superintendence of the Emigrants from the time when they are brought down to the Port to the moment of embarkation. It should be repeated, however, that the Protector will no longer conduct the enquiry as to the free will of the Emigrant. The responsibility of that investigation is thrown by the Bill on the local Magistrate.

V. French Colonies have now advantages in their Acts on three chief points—the time during which their Ships may sail for the West Indies; the space required for Emigrants; and the proportion of women they are compelled to carry. The Bill proposes to assimilate the general law on the first two points to the French Acts, and gives power to the Governor-General in Council to fix the proportion of women. The question whether other Emigration Agents should be paid by fees as the French Agents may be paid is resolved in the negative.

VI. The advantage of providing a uniform and general system, which may be known to British Colonial Governments and to Foreign Powers as containing the sole conditions on which Emigration from India can be allowed, has been considered to justify a part of the measure which will prevent recurrence to separate special legislation adapted to particular Treaties, and will empower the Governor-General in Council to authorize emigration, but subject always to the proposed Act, to any new Colony or locality. The Bill continues the legality of emigration to those places to which it is now lawful.

No. 3111A.—The 14th September 1863.—The following Resolution in the Revenue Department, by His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in Council, No. 2716, dated the 14th ultimo, is published for general information :—

Appointments.—No. 2716.—Revenue Department.—Bombay Castle, the 14th August 1863.

Memorandum from the Under Secretary to the Government of India, No. 2438, dated 13th April 1863.

Forwarding an Extract from the Proceedings of that Government, in the Financial Department, No. 1280, dated 31st March preceding, according temporary sanction to the salaries aggregating to Rupees 1,600 per mensem, allowed by this Government to Dr. G. F. Forbes for holding the appointments noted in the margin.

Extra Assistant Collector and Magistrate with charge of the Revenue and Magisterial duties of Sudashewghur.
Extra Assistant Collector of Customs, Salt and Opium, and in that capacity Port Officer at Sudashewghur.
In charge of the Wood Depôt at Sudashewghur.
Superintendent of the Cotton Gin Factory at Dharwar.

Resolution.—The Government of India have intimated that they do not approve, as a permanent arrangement, of the proposals submitted by this Government for combining Dr. Forbes' duty as Superintendent of Sudashewghur with those of Superintendent of the Cotton Gin Factory at Dharwar, and have directed their separation after the expiration of six months.

2nd.—It has been ascertained that of the two duties Dr. Forbes would much prefer to retain those duties which are connected with the Cotton Gin Factory, even at the considerable sacrifice of pecuniary emolument.

3rd.—It is indeed clear that the manufacture of the improved gin, which is one of the few substantial improvements effectively introduced into native practice, and likely to exercise any extensive influence on the production of cotton in India, is not yet in a state to be safely left to the chance of its being taken up by private enterprise.

4*th*.—The value of one of these gins depends not on the general design only, nor even on the correct manufacture of the iron work, so much as on the accurate fitting together of the parts, and general finish of the completed machine.

5*th*.—But it has hitherto been found in practice impossible to secure this except at the Government Factory. His Excellency the Governor in Council is informed that workmen trained at the Dharwar Factory have been tempted away by offers of high wages, and employed by private parties to manufacture gins, which entirely fail in some of the many requisites of a good gin; yet so eager is the demand for them that sooner than wait their turn to be supplied at the Government Factory, the Ryots readily pay Rupees 600 or 700 for a spurious and comparatively inefficient imitation of a gin, which the Government Factory would supply at Rupees 3,000. The Government Factory now turns out eight gins per diem, and there were a few weeks ago upwards of one thousand applications on the books of the Factory, and fresh applications were being daily registered.

6*th*.—While the demand for gins is so pressing, and the means of supplying anything like a perfect machine are so entirely confined to the one establishment, it would be impossible for Government to give up the manufacture of gins without perceptibly diminishing the supply of the best cotton which is now exported from Western India.

7*th*.—There is, moreover, still much to be done in perfecting a gin suited to other varieties of Cotton, for it is a well ascertained fact that gins of the pattern now manufactured at Dharwar, although thoroughly well adapted for cleaning cottons of the New Orleans species as naturalised in the Dharwar Districts, are not suited for other varieties. Gins have in fact yet to be invented, which shall do for the Native Deccan Cotton, what Dr. Forbes' gin has done for the Dharwar American, and a different modification of the gin is needed for each variety of cotton. Such inventions are among the prime desiderata for extending the production and improving the quality of Indian Cotton.

8*th*.—It seems to His Excellency the Governor in Council not only right that Government should do their best to aid such inventions by sharing the expense of feeling the way by experiment towards the desired end, but more than probable that perseverance in experiment will lead to success

9*th*.—The Governor in Council knows of no one so likely as Dr. Forbes to hit on what is required, whether in adapting his own gins now in use, or in inventing something new; all that seems to be required is, that Government should afford him the means of applying his experience in the manufacture of gins, and his great mechanical ability and the mechanical resources of his factory to the new problem to which hitherto his attention has been little directed.

10*th*.—His Excellency the Governor in Council is therefore pleased to extend the sphere of Dr. Forbes' operations in instructing him to try whether he cannot, if left unfettered to make such experiments as occasion may suggest, do for the Native Deccan varieties of cotton and for the cotton of Berar and Guzerat what he has done for the American Cotton of Dharwar.

11*th*.—In the event of a successful result in cleaning the cotton of any one district, an important end will have been gained. Poona, Surat, and Ahmedabad all offer facilities for establishing factories for their manufacture within reach of the cultivator, such as Dr. Forbes could hardly have found at Dharwar when he commenced the experiments which have been so fruitful in result.

12*th*.—But Government would not restrict Dr. Forbes' attention to the one object of providing machinery for cleaning cotton. They would generally utilise his great experience in all matters connected with cotton, and see whether he could not achieve more success in introducing new varieties of cotton, and new modes of culture as well as cleaning.

13*th*.—The Governor in Council would not by any means despair of adequate useful result in this attempt, even if the person employed were less highly qualified than Dr. Forbes by his previous habits and experience.

14*th*.—The Dharwar new Orleans is the only new variety as yet successfully introduced.

14. The Dharwar New Orleans is the only new variety as yet successfully introduced as an acknowledged staple of native agriculture. Its growth can probably be much extended. It has recently been found to thrive in Mysore beyond what was till lately supposed to be the limit of the district suited to it, and doubtless it might be extended towards Bellary and elsewhere in regions the soil and climate of which assimilate to those of Dharwar. The great obstacle complained of by those who wish to try this and other varieties is the difficulty and delay in obtaining good and suitable seed. This would be to a great extent obviated by the appointment of an Officer, to whom all could apply with a certainty of having their applications attended to, and with some chance of being corrected if they asked for the wrong kind of seed; for besides New Orleans there are, as is well known, other varieties, such as the Peruvian, Sea Island, and Egyptian, which are doubtless all more or less suited to one or other of the various climates and soils of India, or capable by careful acclimatisation, or by crossing, of being naturalised in India.

15. Much, too, might probably be done for the improvement of indigenous cotton, and as great results may possibly be obtainable from an improved mode of its culture as from the introduction of the new varieties.

16. His Excellency the Governor in Council does not expect that Dr. Forbes or any other one man will be able to do much personally in conducting such experiments, but it is certain that advantage must result from having one Central Authority, to whom all can refer for advice or assistance, who knows what has been done, what has been fairly tried, and what has conclusively failed, who can make promising experiments more widely known, and ensure their repetition, as well as save amateur experimentalists the trouble and disappointment of going again over a track which has been repeatedly traversed before.

17. Even in the distribution of seeds and information Government constantly find the want of some one to give his exclusive attention to the matter. At present the public depend entirely on the volunteeer exertions of Merchants and commercial bodies generally interested in the cotton trade, and on Botanists, the Forest Department, &c., but Merchants have few opportunities and little leisure, and Botanists and Foresters, while often affording valuable aid, possess only a part of the knowledge or opportunity needed for successful agricultural experiment in cotton growing.

18. Government would much have preferred to have left the task of improving and extending the cotton supply to private enterprise. Two years, however, have now elapsed since a crisis, such as was calculated to bring forward such enterprise had it been forthcoming, arose, but little, as far as Government are aware, has been done by private enterprise, either here or in other Presidencies, in the way of improving either the staple of the cotton, or the machinery for cleaning it. Indeed, the first result of the crisis has been to render the grower and the native trader who supplies the Presidency market less particular than before as to the quality of their cotton. So ready has been the sale, and so high the price of inferior cotton, that there is even less immediate inducement than formerly to produce it good and clean.

19. But at any time, as regards private efforts to discover new varieties of cotton, or new methods of cleaning it, it must be borne in mind that there are obstacles to success in this country, such as greatly enhance the difficulties which private parties have to encounter. It is certain that the failures before any tangible result can be attained must be numerous, and the loss will necessarily tend to deter private experimentalists, who, moreover, if successful, hold a less advantageous position than Government for testing any success which might be atttained, and getting it recognized.

20. Nor will Dr. Forbes' employment in the manner above proposed in any way discourage private efforts in the same discretion. On the contrary it will, the Governor in Council considers, stimulate such efforts, and aid in a very important degree those who are inclined to devote time and trouble to experiments, but who, from want of leisure, of means, or of full information are so ill able to supply the place of those wealthy and well informed experimentalists to whom European agriculture owes so much.

21. It is a further argument against depending entirely on the slow operation of private enterprise and self-interests in this matter, that whatever can be done must be done speedily, opportunity now offers which, if not at once taken advantage of, may not be again presented for years to come, if at all.

22. The objection that "trials have been made and failed" if seriously raised cannot long be sustained. The experiments that have been made, if carefully analysed, are far from conclusive, and Government would not except from this judgment even the numerous and costly experiments conducted some years ago by the American Planters.

23. Some of the experiments most relied on as establishing a negative result were conducted by persons ignorant of the nature of the soil and climate on which they were to experiment, frequently with bad seed, or at the wrong time of the year, other experimentalists were ignorant of, or misunderstood by the people with whom they were dealing often too imperfectly acquainted with the proper mode of dealing with the plant it was desired to introduce, even in its own soil. Under such circumstances, it is surprising that any result at all should have been attained, and the successful introduction of the New Orleans variety of cotton is a result which of itself would compensate for a host of failures.

24. His Excellency the Governor in Council is therefore pleased to appoint Dr. Forbes a Commissioner, with instructions to devote his exclusive attention to questions regarding the improvement and extension of the cultivation of cotton, and the invention and manufacture of cotton cleaning Machinery. Government would not restrict his operations to any particular part of the Presidency, but leave him to visit any part of the area whence our supplies of cotton are drawn in which he thinks a favorable field for his inquiries is likely to be found.

25. Dr. Forbes should be directed to communicate freely on the subject of his duties with the Chamber of Commerce, and with all Associations and Individuals interested in the subject, and invite any suggestions which may occur to be offered to him for promoting the great object of improving the cotton of Western India, and increasing its supply.

26. It should be recommended to the Government of India that Dr. Forbes, whilst so employed, should draw the same salary as at present allowed for his combined duties of Superintendent of Sudashewghur and of the Dharwar Cotton Factory, viz., Rupees 1,600 per mensem.

27. Government would guard themselves against being supposed to expect too much from Dr. Forbes' employment. They are doubtless prepared for many failures, and for some unproductive expenditure, and His Excellency the Governor in Council will be content with a very moderate measure of success. But one success, such as the introduction of the New Orleans variety of cotton, as suited to two or three large districts, or the discovery of a cleaning Machine like Dr. Forbes' Gin, will, in the opinion of His Excellency the Governor in Council, more than re-pay any outlay in which this proposal will involve Government.

No. 1303A.—The 9th September 1863.—The following Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 2199, dated the 29th May 1863, is published for general information:—

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, dated 29th May 1863.

READ again Extract from the Proceedings of this Government in the Foreign Department (Finance), dated 7th October 1862, No. 1173, sanctioning the arrangement recommended by the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, by which the Central Provinces were to be debited with that proportion of the charges including cost of construction and repairs of buildings, of the entire Customs Department (excluding Delhi, Hansi, and Sirsa), which the collections of the Seonee and Saugor Divisions of Customs might annually bear to the entire collections of the several Divisions of Agra, Muttra, Jhansi, Saugor, and Seonee.

Read again Financial orders dated 23rd October 1862, directing the Deputy Auditors and Accountants-General, North-Western Provinces and Central Provinces, to report, in communication with each other, how the total grants for Customs in the two Budget Estimates for 1862-63, for those Provinces, should be apportioned to them, respectively, in accordance with the above decision.

Read again a letter from the Officiating Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General, North-Western Provinces, No. 4793, dated 10th January 1863, forwarding for consideration copy of a letter addressed by him to the Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General, Central Provinces, stating that of the total charges estimated for 1862-63, viz., Rupees 6,84,800 for the North-Western Provinces, and Central Provinces, Rupees 96,087, should, on the principle laid down above, be charged to the Central Provinces, and Rupees 5,88,713 to the North-Western Provinces.

Read again the letter addressed from this Department to the Officiating Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General, North-Western Provinces, No. 224A., dated 3rd February 1863, desiring him to specify the items which composed the lump sum of Rupees 6,84,800, stated to be the total estimated charge for the North-Western and Central Provinces, and to state whether the amount proposed to be debited to the Central Provinces had received the concurrence of the Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General of those Provinces; also pointing out that the figures given in his letter did not correspond with those entered in the Budget Estimates for 1862-63 where the Customs charges were shewn, as per margin, at Rupees 8,89,423, from which the Doulf. Saltpetre Establishment and the Ajmere Customs Establishment, amounting together to about Rupees 1,28,000, being deducted, the proportion should be calculated on the remainder after adding thereto the supplementary grant of Rupees 12,102, since allowed to the Central Provinces for the Customs Establishment.

Read a letter from the Officiating Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General, North-Western Provinces, No. 5410, dated 16th February 1863, furnishing details of the sum of Rupees 6,84,000, (the additional 800 Rupees having been a clerical error) and stating that the Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General of the Central Provinces has not informed him whether or not he concurred in the proportion of charges proposed to be debited to the Central Provinces, and that the figures given in the marginal memorandum of the above letter respecting the charges of the Central Provinces do not appear to be derived from the Saugor Budget furnished by his Office, that he was not aware of the necessity for excluding the charges of the Ajmere Customs House from the total of the North-Western Provinces, nor of any additional grants that should be added to total of the Central Provinces; observing also, that if it be deemed equitable to omit the cost of the Ajmere Customs House from the total estimated charges, while that of Rajpore (apparently a new Customs House in the Central Provinces) is included in that total, the collections of the Ajmere Customs House, Rupees 51,137, should also be deducted from the estimated aggregate receipts, and those of the Rajpore Customs House added to the total receipts of the Central Provinces.

RESOLUTION.—The Hon'ble the President in Council observes that the principle laid down in the orders of the Foreign Department, dated 7th October 1862, involves the settlement of so many complicated details of account, that while the accuracy of the result must be extremely doubtful there is certain to be always a great expenditure of valuable public time in arriving at what, after all, is only a statistical re-cast of a portion of the public accounts.

2. The English Rule, which was arrived at after full trial of the opposite system, is the only workable one that the Department which performs the service should provide for the expense of it in its Estimate as a final charge. In its application to this country, the rule would be that every administration should provide in its Estimate for the whole of the Establishments which it administers, explaining in the Administration Reports, or, if desired, by a note on the face of the Estimate that a portion of the charge is incurred on account of other Governments, and His Honor in Council accordingly directs that this rule be followed in the preparation of future Estimates and Accounts.

Ordered, that a copy of the above Resolution be sent to the Home and Foreign Departments; the Governments of Bengal, North-Western Provinces, Punjab, Madras and Bombay; the Chief Commissioners of Oude, Central Provinces, and British Burmah; the Resident at Hyderabad; the Auditor-General of India; the Accountant-General to the Government of India, and the Deputy Auditors and Accountants-General of Bengal, North-Western Provinces, (with instructions to give the fullest information to the Deputy Auditor and Accountant-General, Central Provinces, in order that the necessary particulars may be on record in the Central Provinces, for the purposes of the Administration Report) Punjab, Madras, Bombay, Central Provinces and Hyderabad.

No. 1360A.—The 16th September 1863.—The following Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, No. 3887, dated the 18th ultimo, is published for general information:—

No. 3887.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, dated 18th August 1863.

READ again paragraph 11 of a Despatch from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 129, dated 9th August 1861.

Read again Financial Orders, dated 25th September 1861.

Read again Financial Resolution, dated 19th August 1861, No. 10258.

Read again an Endorsement from the Home Department, dated 9th June 1863, No. 3661, and the orders passed thereon, dated 23rd idem.

RESOLUTION.—In sanctioning the payment of certain bills referred with the above mentioned Endorsement from the Home Department, amounting to Rupees 704-2-8, for Maps and Instruments obtained by the Superintendent of the Geological Survey from the Office of the Surveyor-General of of India, the attention of the Hon'ble the President in Council has been drawn to the existing rule of cash payments for the value of stores received by one Department of Government from another.

2. This rule, he observes, originated with a suggestion of the Accountant-General to the Government of Madras, and the Commissariat Department of that Presidency should cease to incur expense on account of supplies for the Civil Departments, and that all Civil Officers who received such supplies should obtain them in the market. The Government of Madras having adopted this suggestion, requested this Government to make arrangements for the supply of stores to the Civil Departments subordinate to this Government which obtained their supplies through the Madras Commissariat, and the Auditor-General of India was thereupon directed to issue orders to the Heads of all the Departments concerned, to the effect that, in future, stores should be procured from the market, or, if to the advantage of Government, through the Madras Commissariat on the usual Indents, but that, in either case, cash must be paid for the supplies.

3. Subsequently, at the suggestion of the Military Finance Department, this rule was made general for all India, without reference to the source through which supplies were procured, the object being that by compelling cash payments, which must necessarily be made by a Civil or Military Authority, the transaction must come directly under the review of the controlling Officer of the service to which it relates.

4. His Honor in Council further observes that, in accordance with the terms of paragraph 11 of the Despatch from the Secretary of State for India, No. 129 of 1861, dated 9th August, the charges for stores obtained from England appear as charges in the Indian Accounts and Estimates, under the heads of Account to which the expenses of the Departments and Officers indenting for them are debitable, but that on the issue of such stores by the indenting Officers and Departments, for the use of other Departments of the Public Service, the former, under existing rules, demand and receive cash payment for the value from the latter.

5. Again in respect to stores manufactured in this country, such as gun-powder manufactured in the Government Agencies under the control of the Military Department, and Maps, &c., prepared in the Office of the Surveyor-General of India, the cost of which appears in the first instance in the Public Accounts to the debit of the Departments concerned, His Honor in Council observes that on the issue of gun-powder by the Military Department for the use of the Police Department, and on the supply of Maps by the Surveyor-General to the several Public Departments and Officers requiring them, the latter are required to pay for them in cash under existing rules.

6. On a re-consideration of the whole subject, His Honor in Council observes that the system of inter-departmental cash payments above described entails much waste of public time and labor in the unnecessary issue of money from the public Treasuries, which, after passing through the hands of the Officers concerned, finds its way back into the Treasuries, and leads to a multiplication of transactions in the shape of departmental debits and credits, the adjustment of which is one cause of the delay in rendering the accounts and of the uncertainty whether the periodical Statements made of them can be accepted as final. The practice also involves double charges being made for Government stores in the Budget Estimates, and in the accounts founded on them, whereby the Estimates and accounts are confused, and the expenditure is made to appear greater than it is.

7. The real check against extravagant expenditure of Government stores is the efficient supervision of the Officer or Department with whom the responsibility rests of fixing or controlling the amount of the Indent. In the event, however, of any Indent appearing to contain items of an unusual, or of an unnecessarily expensive character, either as regards quantity or quality, it will be the duty of the Officer charged with the supply to call attention to it, and to await a final decision previously, to executing the order, unless it should be of an emergent character.

8. His Honor in Council therefore directs that the system of cash payments by one Department of Government to another for the value of stores already paid for by Government be discontinued, and that stores so transferred be charged, as final charges, in the Accounts of the supplying Department in the same manner as stores issued for the use of the supplying Department itself.

9. But when one Department purchases articles for another in the market, the Department which makes the Indent must provide in its Budget Estimate for the cost, and place the supplying Department in funds by "Transfer Receipts."

Ordered, that a copy of the above Resolution be sent to the Home, Foreign, Military, Public Works and Military Finance Departments; the several Local Governments and Administrations; the Auditor-General of India; the Accountant-General to the Government of India; the several Local Deputy Auditors and Accountants-General, and the Civil Pay-Masters, for information and guidance.

No. 3842.

FROM E. H. LUSHINGTON, ESQ.,

Secretary to the Government of India,

Financial Department,

TO THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Fort William, Council Chamber, the 15th August 1863.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT,

SIR,—In reply to your letter No. 5411, dated 10th July 1863, I am directed to state that a Military Officer in Civil employ, acting in a Civil appointment in other than the Police Department, is entitled to acting allowances according to the Covenanted Civil Absentee Rules, if he officiate for a Covenanted or Uncovenanted Civil Officer, and according to the Military Rules, if he officiate for another Military Officer in Civil employ. The ruling of the Secretary of State, contained in paragraphs 91 to 94 of a Despatch No. 2, dated 6th January 1859, published at page 569 of the Calcutta Gazette of that year, is applicable to Military Officers in Civil employ, when their acting allowances are governed by the Covenanted Civil Service Absentee Rules.

(Sd.) E. H. LUSHINGTON,

Secy. to the Govt. of India.

ORDERED, that copies of the above be forwarded to the Foreign, Home, Military, and Public Works Departments; Governments of the North-Western Provinces, Punjab, Madras, Bombay, and Eastern Settlements; Civil Pay-Masters, Bengal, North-Western Provinces, Punjab, Madras, and Bombay, and the Military Finance Department.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.—No. 363A.—Nynee Tal, the 10th September 1863.—The following Proclamation issued by the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, No. 502, dated the 14th ultimo, is published for general information :—

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT, POLITICAL.—No. 502.—Simla, the 11th August 1863.—Proclamation.—Instances in which the Council of Regency at Oodeypore has failed to administer justice, Civil and Criminal, having been brought to the notice of the Supreme Government, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General deems it expedient to adopt the measures hereafter detailed for the administration of justice in the Meywar State during the minority of the Maha Raja.

One glaring instance of failure is shewn in the case of Kotharee Kesrie Singh, this man has been proved to the satisfaction of the British Government to have embezzled upwards of twenty lakhs of money belonging to the Meywar State, which it was his bounden duty honestly and faithfully to have accounted for.

Instead of punishing such guilt, the Regency Council have endeavoured to justify the offender. The British Government has therefore found it necessary, in the interest of the Meywar State and the young Maha Rajah, to remove so corrupt a person from all share in the management of the country.

Another instance of failure is in the case of Mehta Ajeet Singh, son of Mehta Shere Singh, Executive Member of the Council of the Regency. Mehta Ajeet Singh was charged with the duty of taking measures for the suppression of dacoity, highway robbery, &c. He apprehended some men who were charged with murder, robbery, mutilation and cow killing. He beat two of them, Gowla Naik and Kupa Naik, till they confessed that they had committed robbery and eaten cow's flesh. Thereupon he ordered Gowla Naik to be tied to the leg of an Elephant and dragged through the Streets of the village of Poor. He then ordered him to be buried alive with his head above ground, in which state the man survived for two days. Kirpa Naik had his teeth extracted by order of Mehta Ajeet Singh, and died four days afterwards from the torture to which he was subjected.

Although the Political Agent warned the Regency Council that nothing should be done to the prisoners without a fair trial either by the Criminal Courts or the Council, the Regency justify Ajeet Singh's proceedings. The Political Agent also warned them that capital sentences could not be carried out without report to and sanction of Government.

Ajeet Singh came to Oodeypore, where he made confession to the Political Agent, who ordered that he should be kept at Oodeypore under heavy security pending enquiry. But through the connivance of Mehta Shere Singh and the Regency Council he was allowed to escape the same night.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General moved by the contemplation of this utter disregard of the principles of justice, deems it necessary to confer on the Political Agent for the time being the full powers of a Sessions Judge in Criminal cases, of Superintendent of Police and of Commissioner and Civil Judge in Revenue and Civil suits. Such powers to be exercised until the Maha Raja is pronounced of age and capable of undertaking the responsibility of the administration of the Meywar State.

The Local Courts at Oodeypore will be maintained, but all heinous offences must be committed for trial before the Court of the Political Agent, and in Civil suits, exceeding in value Rupees 1,000, an appeal from the decision of the Local Courts will lie to the Court of the Political Agent. The sentences and decisions of the Political Agent will ordinarily be final, except in cases of capital punishment, which will be submitted for the sanction of the Supreme Government through the Agent to the Governor General. His Excellency takes this opportunity of expressing the abhorrence which the British Government entertains of the atrocities committed in the name of justice by Mehta Ajeet Singh. Every well-wisher of the Meywar State is called upon to deny shelter to a man guilty of cruelties so wanton and unparalleled, and to use his utmost endeavours to effect the capture of Mehta Ajeet Singh and bring him to justice. The Chiefs of all the States in Rajpootana will be called upon to refuse him an asylum.

Government of Bengal.

Road repairs in Darjeeling.

From J. F MULLER, ESQ., Secretary to the Municipal Committee, Darjeeling, to the Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 20th August 1863.)

IN reply to your letter No. 6050 of date the 6th instant, I am directed by the President of the Municipal Commissioners to reply as follows :—

1. The old Hospital belonged to the Sappers and Miners and Prisoners: there was a miserable ward for charitable patients quite insufficient for their accommodation or the probable future wants of the place.

2. At the time the new Hospital was voted and built it was impossible to foresee that the Sappers were to be removed from Darjeeling, as has now been the case, whether temporarily or permanently we have not been informed; if permanently, the erection of the proposed new Jail, which will contain its own Hospital, will place at the disposal of the Government the old Hospital, for which there are several purposes to which it can with advantage be devoted.

With reference to paragraph 3, I have the honor to enclose the detailed Statement required, and also a copy of a scheme for the management of Road repairs, which I was directed by the Municipal Committee to draw up for their consideration and approval, and which was passed at the Meeting of the 9th March and ordered to be carried into execution on the 1st of April.

From J. F. MULLER, ESQ., Secretary to the Municipal Committee, Darjeeling, to H. C. WAKE, ESQ., C. B., President of the Municipal Committee, Darjeeling,—(dated the 21st February 1863.)

I HAVE the honor, as desired, to submit the following scheme for the future management of Road repairs for your consideration and approval.

The outlay on the Roads for the year 1861-62 was as follows :—

		Rs.	As.	P.
Station	...	16,712	5	0
Tuqoor	...	450	11	0
Giving a total of Rs.		23,471	1	0 per annum,

or Rupees 1,955-14-9, or Coolies 325, per mensem throughout the year.

I would beg leave to propose the following arrangements :—

That thirty Coolies, at Rupees 6; three Chupprassies, at Rupees 7; and three Sirdars, at Rupees 7 per mensem, be placed on the Punkabarry Road and located as follows :—

10 Coolies, 1 Sirdar, and 1 Chupprassy at						Sonadhur
10	„	1	„	„	1	„	Mahalderam.
10	„	1	„	„	1	„	Punkabarry.
Hope Town			...	6 Coolies and 1 Chupprassy.
Rungeet			...	10	„	„ 1 „	and 1 Sirdar.
Rungnoo			...	10	„	„ 1 „	„ 1 „
Leebong			...	8	„	„ 1 „
Tuqoor				8	„	„ 1 „

Station fifty Coolies, five Sirdars, and three Chupprassies, and two Orderly Chupprassies for taking my orders. My Baboo as Overseer with Rupees 30 (in addition to his Office allowance) to include Horse and Travelling Allowance. The cost of this Establishment will be as follows :—

			Rs.	Rs.	As	P.
Punkabarry Road ...	30 Coolies		180
	3 Chupprassies	...	21
	3 Sirdars	..	21
Hope Town	6 Coolies	...	36
	1 Chupprassy		7
Rungeet ...	10 Coolies	.	60
	1 Chupprassy		7
	1 Sirdar	.	7
Rungnoo ..	10 Coolies		60
	1 Chupprassy	...	7
	1 Sirdar		7
Leebong ...	8 Coolies	...	48
	1 Chupprassy		7
				55	0	0
	Carried over	...		468	0	0

		Brought forward ...	468	0 0
Tuqoor ...	8 Coolies ...	48
	1 Chupprassy ...	7
			55	0 0
Station ...	50 Coolies ...	300
	5 Sirdars ...	35
	5 Chupprassies ...	35
	1 Overseer ...	80
			450	0 0

or 11,076 Rupees per annum, being Rupees 12,395 less than the outlay last year, and therefore allowing, if necessary, an increase of the proposed Establishment to double.

To these men thus located I should have to point out to them severally their duties, I should then know what work to expect.

To the better working of this system I would respectfully observe that it might be left entirely discretionary with me (at all events will it be seen how the scheme works) to remove or fine any negligent persons, or else the President will be constantly pestered with complaints, which, in addition to causing him considerable annoyance, will greatly tend to lower my authority among the men, and thus be totally subversive of that firmness so essential to the carrying out of a system so greatly opposed to that indolence and negligence which has hitherto characterized Cooly labour on the roads.

From the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Secretary to the Municipal Committee of Darjeeling, —(dated Bhaugulpore, the 8th September 1863.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated the 20th ultimo; and in reply to state that the Lieutenant-Governor approves of the scheme therein reported to have been adopted by the Municipal Committee of Darjeeling for the future management of the Road repairs.

Cinchona Plants in the Nursery at Darjeeling.

From Thomas Anderson, Esq., M. D., Superintendent, Botanic Gardens, to the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(dated the 5th September 1863.)

I have the honor to forward a Statement of the number of Cinchona plants in the Nursery at Darjeeling on the 23rd August. This Return shews that there has been an increase since the 15th June of 1,910 plants of the best species of Cinchona, the only ones propagated. The propagation of these plants is much below what would have been accomplished had I been able to supply pots in sufficient quantity. Although I despatched several thousand pots from Calcutta in the first fortnight of July, none reached Darjeeling until the 27th August. The result of this delay has been that no cuttings could be "potted off," and none made until the arrival of these pots. Still no damage has been caused by the delay and the only loss that has occurred is the passing away of two months of the most favorable season of the year for propagation, while the plants intended for propagation were covered with vigorous shoots, each of which might now have been a well rooted plant.

Return of Cinchona Plants in the Government Nursery at Darjeeling on the 23rd August 1863.

4. The foregoing classification comprises a detail of all articles admissible into the Exhibition, but the Central Committee will be prepared to admit any other specimens of either machinery, implements or products should such come within the scope of the Exhibition and the limited space allow it. It will be observed that the classification comprises several articles not named in the Prize List, but arrangements will be made for awarding prizes to the most deserving specimens.

5. All articles tendered for contribution to the Exhibition must first be submitted to the Local Committee, who will select therefrom such specimens as, in their judgment, commend themselves either by superiority of breed, particular adoption of machinery or implements, or excellence of quality. Of these Returns in the annexed Form will have to be forwarded to the Central Committee, who, with particular regard to the space at their disposal, will decide which of the contributions thus tendered can be received into the Exhibition.

6. The Returns must correspond exactly with the classification above detailed, and it is desirable that separate Returns should be sent for each Class, each Section, and each Series.

7. To save as much trouble as possible the Local Committees or any of the Members will, before forwarding any Returns to the Central Committee, have to satisfy themselves on the following points, viz.:—

(a.) That each specimen of live stock intended for exhibition is the bonâ fide property of the Exhibitor, or bred on his Estate.

(b.) That each specimen of machinery intended for exhibition is the bonâ fide property of the Exhibitor.

(c.) That each specimen of produce is the bonâ fide sample of the quantity prescribed in the Prize Lists, and that it has been produced in the District whence contributed either by the Exhibitor himself, or on his Estate.

8. The fact of any article being entered on such Returns the Central Committee will consider as a proof that the above conditions have been complied with.

9. All specimens of produce tendered by private contributors, and being the bonâ fide sample of the quantities prescribed by the Prize Rules, must remain in the possession of the Local Committees until the approval or otherwise of the Central Committee is received.

10. With reference to the transmission of the various contributions to Calcutta, it appears to the Central Committee that such will consist of three principal classes, viz.:—

(b.) Articles contributed by private parties and to be sold off to the highest bidder on their account.

(c.) Articles contributed by private parties either for sale at fixed prices, or not intended for sale at all.

The cost of transmission of the first will be defrayed entirely by the Central Committee. The second will likewise be transmitted at the expense of the Central Committee, but the sum so expended will be deducted from the proceeds of sale; and, with regard to the last, Local Committees can only undertake their transmission at the expense of the owner. All samples of produce can, however, under any circumstances, only be forwarded through the Local Committees.

11. To enable the Central Committee to determine what space can be allotted to each Local Committee, it is desirable that all Returns should reach Calcutta by the 30th of November at latest.
